The Shellfish Growing Water Classification rules describe the procedures for the establishment of areas where the harvest of shellfish for use as food is restricted or prohibited because pollution or other conditions may make the shellfish dangerous to health. See N.J.S.A. 58:24-1 et seq.

The rules delineate those waters classified as prohibited, special restricted, seasonally approved, and seasonal special restricted, and establish special permit programs to allow the limited take or harvest of shellfish under specified conditions from waters otherwise classified as restricted or prohibited. The rules also establish the procedures for emergency closures or harvest suspensions due to unpermitted discharges or the presence of marine biotoxins or naturally occurring harmful algal blooms.
