INTRODUCTION

This directory lists New Jersey private schools approved to provide special education programs to public school students in accordance with New Jersey Administrative Code 6A:14 Subchapter 7. The Individualized Education Program (IEP) team for a student with educational disability can consider placement in special classes, separate schooling or other removal from the student's regular class only when the nature or severity of the educational disability is such that education in the student's regular class with the use of appropriate supplementary aids and services cannot be achieved satisfactorily.

The directory also identifies schools that are licensed by the Department of Human Services (DHS) to provide residential programs. DHS is responsible for licensing and monitoring of all residential child care facilities in New Jersey. For answers to questions regarding licensing criteria or the current status of a license of a particular residential facility, please contact the Department of Human Services at (609) 292-8255.

The In-State Approved Private Schools for the Disabled Directory is updated on the Web site of the New Jersey Department of Education as changes occur.

Program Description

Garden Academy serves individuals with autism ages 3-21. Educational programs are individualized for each student according to their individualized educational programs (IEP) to address specific deficits in the areas of communication, socialization and adaptive behaviors. The curriculum emphasize language acquisition, social interaction, self-help skills, pre-academic and academic skills, play skills and the decrease of maladaptive behaviors. All aspects of the program at Garden Academy are derived from the principles of Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA). Pedagogical technologies employed include, but are not limited to, discrete trial instruction, incidental teaching, video and audio modeling, shaping, scripting and script fading procedures and peer modeling. Generalization procedures are implemented as part of the program to ensure maintenance of skills across people and environments. We also provide hands-on, clinical training to staff professionals on an ongoing basis to ensure the best possible outcomes for each student. In addition, Garden Academy provides training support to parents and other family members so that skills learned in school can be generalized to the home and community. Garden Academy also recognizes the need for students to be in the least restrictive environment in which they can learn. When appropriate, we provide transitional support to our students throughout their educational careers.

Program Description

Opened in 2005, Horizon High School educates children with multiple developmental disabilities ages 13 - 21. Educational and therapeutic programs are specifically tailored to meet the personal needs of each student according to an individualized education plan (IEP) developed with the child, the family, the school district and the school's experienced faculty. The curriculum stresses functional learning – increasing life skills and enhancing a child's ability to gain as much independence as possible to provide a foundation for future growth and success. Educators and therapists concentrate on this principle through emphasis on self-determination, independence, and communication.

Programming includes low student to teacher ratios, transitional services and guidance, student choice of elective courses, extended school year program, after school program, extracurricular activities, and life skills training at various work sites in the community, a school store and throughout the school. Speech, physical and occupational therapies are incorporated into the classroom setting providing for an integrated educational and therapeutic curriculum. Services include specialized adaptive equipment and augmentative communication devices, on-site Aquatic therapy, sensory integration, feeding and oral motor therapy and oversight and administering of medications. Students benefit from the presence of on-site nurses and frequent medical, dental, vision and durable medical equipment clinics and social services provided by a licensed school social worker. Nutritious hot lunches are prepared daily on-site.

Oakwood School was founded by Dr. Arthur J. Newman and Dr. Robert E. White, in 1980. Oakwood School's intimate setting of 46 students and 18 staff members is ideal for educating our population of ADHD and learning disabled adolescents. Instruction is based on New Jersey Core Curriculum Content Standards. A state-of-the-art computer laboratory advances the student's acquisition of technology skills. By maintaining a 3 to 1 student teacher ratio, with 12 certified teachers of the disabled and a variety of support staff, the student is better able to achieve academic success and to develop appropriate social skills and self esteem.

Program Description

The School for Children opened in 1976 on the campus of Monmouth University. The school is committed to providing an integrated curriculum for students with multiple disabilities and autism whose educational needs require a specialized school setting. The School offers educational services to students, ages 3 through 21, in curricular areas that include academics, communication and social skills, job sampling, and life skills. The School employs a functional academic approach to learning that actively supports the student in decision-making. Classroom curriculum is developed for social studies, science and family life goals and specialists teach art, music, and physical education to each classroom. The School is dedicated to students becoming fully expressed, contributing and productive member of their families and communities. The School works collaboratively with the Child Study Team and the parents to develop an individual educational plan, reflecting the students' affective, cognitive, language and motor needs. The School provides related services including occupational therapy, physical therapy, speech and language therapy, transitional services, and health services within a collaborative teaching model. Therapists work in the classroom as part of the teaching team to enhance generalization of skills. Staff meets weekly to review individual student gains and classroom goals.

Program Description

The mission of the Institute is to prepare preschoolers and school aged students for enrollment in traditional schools or productive work and community participation. The Institute uses the principles and methods of behavior analysis as a basis for instruction and treatment. Staff provide individualized data-based services. Institute teachers also provide instruction and support in students' homes and communities to give parents the help they need to promote the display of relevant skills at home and in public. The Institute's preschool program offers an extended school year option, during the summer months, to promote language and social skills development and academic readiness. The extended school year program provides academic instruction and continues the language and social-skills programming established during the school year. The Institute's school-to-work transition plan includes the development of strategies and activities to promote the attainment of appropriate measurable postsecondary goals. We provide students with pre-vocational training, career education and job readiness experiences; and the range of independent living skills necessary to become productive citizens at school, at home, at work and in the community. Currently, the Institute provides a 1:1 student-staff ratio and a 1:5 staff trainer to teacher ratio that permit highly individualized instruction, student-centered treatment and ongoing curriculum modification.

Program Description

First Children School's goal is to promote the social, emotional, cognitive, language and physical development of each student. Occupational, physical and speech therapies are delivered individually and in small groups. A developmental pediatrician observes students in the classroom and, with the teacher, regularly reviews students' overall status, and suggests strategies to be used in the classroom setting and at home. A pediatric physiatrist assesses pupils' motoric progress and recommends intervention, where indicated. Older students participate in social skills groups led by educational psychologists. The social worker and psychologist conduct periodic sibling groups and monthly parent meetings.

Program Description

Accredited by Middle States Commission of Schools, The Jardine Academy, Cranford Campus offers a comprehensive educational program for students ages 10-21 with severe developmental disabilities, who may also have special medical needs. Through a functional curriculum, teachers and therapists teach the skills necessary for functional independence. Students are taught how to communicate with others, how to eat, drink and dress themselves. Equally important, they are taught how to live, work and play in the community. The specialized nursing staff provides the critical support that many of our students need to participate in the community based program. A minimum staff ration of 1:3 is maintained in each class to assure an optimal learning environment. The goal of The Jardine Academy is to help students acquire skills that will improve the quality of their lives and that of their families.
