1. Training Requirement on the Safe Return Program

All State Police and local law enforcement personnel shall receive instruction on the Safe Return Program. The Alzheimer's Association Safe Return Program is a nationwide identification, support and enrollment program working at the community level which assists in the safe return of individuals with Alzheimer's or a related dementia who wander and become lost. When a memory-impaired person wanders away from home or an institution and the 800 number is called, the safe return operator will work with the missing person's care giver and police to gather critical information. If necessary, an area representative of Safe Return can issue an Alert at any time of day to numerous agencies, including hospitals and shelters. Safe Return enables the police officer to easily identify a person with Alzheimer's disease, and contact their caregiver. It also includes a photo database and important information which enables the police to better respond to the missing person report.

The required instruction shall include the following information:

- (1) methods for identifying persons with Alzheimer's Disease and related disorders;
- (2) techniques on communicating with persons with Alzheimer's Disease and related disorders;
- (3) procedures for caring for persons with Alzheimer's Disease and related disorders who become lost and disoriented; and
- (4) the procedures the Safe Return Program uses in locating lost individuals with Alzheimer's Disease and related disorders.
