

The New Jersey Human Relations Council

proudly presents our

Annual Leadership Conference

FREE!

AND JUSTICE FOR ALL...

Restoring Our Faith in Police & Community Relations

Wednesday, November 16, 2016 -- 8:30 AM to 1 PM

Union, New Jersey -- Kean University STEM Building

1087 Morris Avenue, Union, New Jersey -- located across the street from Kean University's main campus.
Set your GPS Directions to the Liberty Hall Museum, 1003 Morris Avenue, Union

Sponsored by the New Jersey Human Relations Council at no charge to attendees.

REGISTER TODAY! www.njhrc.org

This conference is for

- ◆ law enforcement
- ◆ prosecutors
- ◆ judiciary
- ◆ social workers
- ◆ students of criminal justice
- ◆ social justice advocates
- ◆ community members
- ◆ anyone interested in human relations
- ◆ anyone interested in building police/community relations in New Jersey.

Our nation has been shaken by a series of highly publicized incidents that have fractured the trust within our communities, and between police and community, whether it is a citizen's or officer's life that is tragically lost.

We will look to:

- Identify the barriers to trust between police and various communities
- Identify best practices for effective, safe, and cooperative police-citizen encounters
- Encourage increased transparency and accountability using new technology and data
- Make New Jersey a community that embraces equality and justice for all.

To assist in our dialogue, the conference will feature two panels with dynamic and knowledgeable presenters representing the community and law enforcement.

Featured Conference Presenter:

A special presentation by Dr. Paula Rodriguez Rust, Spectrum Diversity LLC on understanding the LGBTQ community, especially the challenges of transgendered and transitioning people in a male/female world.

During the program, we will also be honoring the NJHRC's notable 2016 Unity Award Recipients.