

13:69F-14.10 Hold'em poker; procedures for dealing of cards;
completion of each round of play

(a) - (j) (No change.)

(k) Notwithstanding (j) above and subject to providing conspicuous notice to all players at a hold 'em poker table, a casino licensee may offer a variation in which at least two players shall split the pot as follows:

1. If, at any time prior to a showdown, only two players remain in a round of play, the round of play shall end and the two remaining players shall split the pot equally; or

2. If a round of play proceeds to a showdown, the winners of the pot shall be the players with the two highest ranking five card high poker hands.

i. Two or more players who have the highest ranked five card hands (i.e., equally ranked) shall split the pot equally.

ii. In the case of one player who has the highest ranking five card hand and two or more other players who have the second highest ranking five card hand (i.e., equally ranked), the player with the highest ranking hand shall be awarded 50% of the pot and the players with the second highest ranking hand shall each be awarded a pro rata share of the other 50%.
