

The Roszel Scholarship

In honor of Jacques and Cyndee Roszel's Commitment to Agricultural Education

When Jacques and Cyndee Roszel came to teach Agricultural Education at Allentown High School little did they know how many lives they would touch. Teaching at Allentown High School for 64 combined years, Jacques and Cyndee have truly made a positive difference in the lives of over 5000 students.

Jacques and Cyndee's devotion to the agricultural education profession has been exemplified by their commitment to student success. The agricultural education program has been in existence at Allentown High School since 1938, but for many years only included production agriculture classes for males. In 1974, with the support of the Advisory Committee, Jacques and Cyndee began the work of converting the traditional program into a modern Ag Education format. With classes such as Animal Science, Plant Science, Equine Science and Environmental Science, Allentown was one of the first agricultural education programs in the state and region to change to this innovative layout.

The teaching methods of Jacques and Cyndee have emphasized student responsibility and confidence by providing students with both knowledge and hands on experience. Jacques and Cyndee's students have been taught through real world experience by participation in debates, hands-on demonstrations, and various projects. Through the basic principles of experiential learning, many former students of Jacques and Cyndee have been highly successful and influential in the agricultural industry. Because of the learning approach, the achievements of the Allentown FFA Chapter are numerous, including over 100 first place finishes in State Career Development Events. With the guidance of the Roszels, more than 85 of Allentown's FFA members have attained the State FFA Degree, over 15 members have received their American Degree, and greater than 40 members have served as state FFA officers.

Jacques and Cyndee's commitment to agricultural education has been demonstrated through their active participation in many local, state and national organizations, committees and functions. The Roszels have been prominent members of the National Association of Agricultural Educators, New Jersey Agricultural Education Association, the Vocational Education Association of New Jersey, and life members of the National FFA Alumni Association. Jacques and Cyndee have been on the NJAEA executive board for more than 45 combined years and have both served terms as the NJAEA executive board president.

Jacques and Cyndee have received many awards, recognitions and honors for their accomplishments, including the Honorary American FFA Degree. As outstanding agricultural educators, Jacques and Cyndee have been an inspiration to their students and all those around them. To recognize them for their outstanding commitment to Agricultural Education, the New Jersey Agricultural Education Association is proud to partner with the New Jersey FFA Foundation, Inc. to honor Jacques and Cyndee Roszel with The Roszel Scholarship.
