Gina Rosar	Has the Commission come up with the standards for the Workplace Impairment Recognition Expert ("WIRE") certification? If so, where can employers get training? Will the state be offering the training or will outside companies? If outside companies will be providing the training, will they be licensed by the commission to do so? How will employers know if the company they've chose meets the standards of the Commission?
Gina Rosar	When will the State and this Commission provide the guidelines for "WIRE" Workplace Impairment Recognition Expert? I've been asking this same question for months now and not one Public Meeting has addressed it. There are many companies offering training for a fee. How are we supposed to know which company is offering training that will meet the guidelines for the State if the State and this commission do not publish those requirements.
Susan Kuc	My son David L. Kuc and my Daughter Eliza B. Kuc are medical patients. I am Eliza's caregiver. When I attempted to register as David's caretaker it would not Allow me to register. I contacted your office and was told that I could not be a caregiver for two people. I asked why I could not be a caregiver for two people and I did not get an answer. Both my daughter And son do not drive (blind). I have to drive them to purchase medically, causing a strain on me. Is there any way to be registered for both? Thank you.
