State Comptroller follow-up review finds Atlantic City making progress in response to 2010 audit

Atlantic City officials have made progress in strengthening government operations since a 2010 Office of the State Comptroller (OSC) audit but more improvements must be made to bring the city into full compliance with the audit's recommendations, according to an OSC follow-up report released today.

The report found Atlantic City officials have implemented 27 of the 40 recommendations from the initial audit and partially implemented 12 others. One recommendation has not yet been implemented. The initial audit, released in January 2010, identified widespread weaknesses in the City's financial management practices and internal control structure.

"We are pleased that City officials have taken positive steps to get their fiscal house in order, but there is still more work to be done," State Comptroller Matthew Boxer said. "We will continue to monitor the City's operations until all of our audit recommendations have been fully implemented."
