2012 HIGHLIGHTS

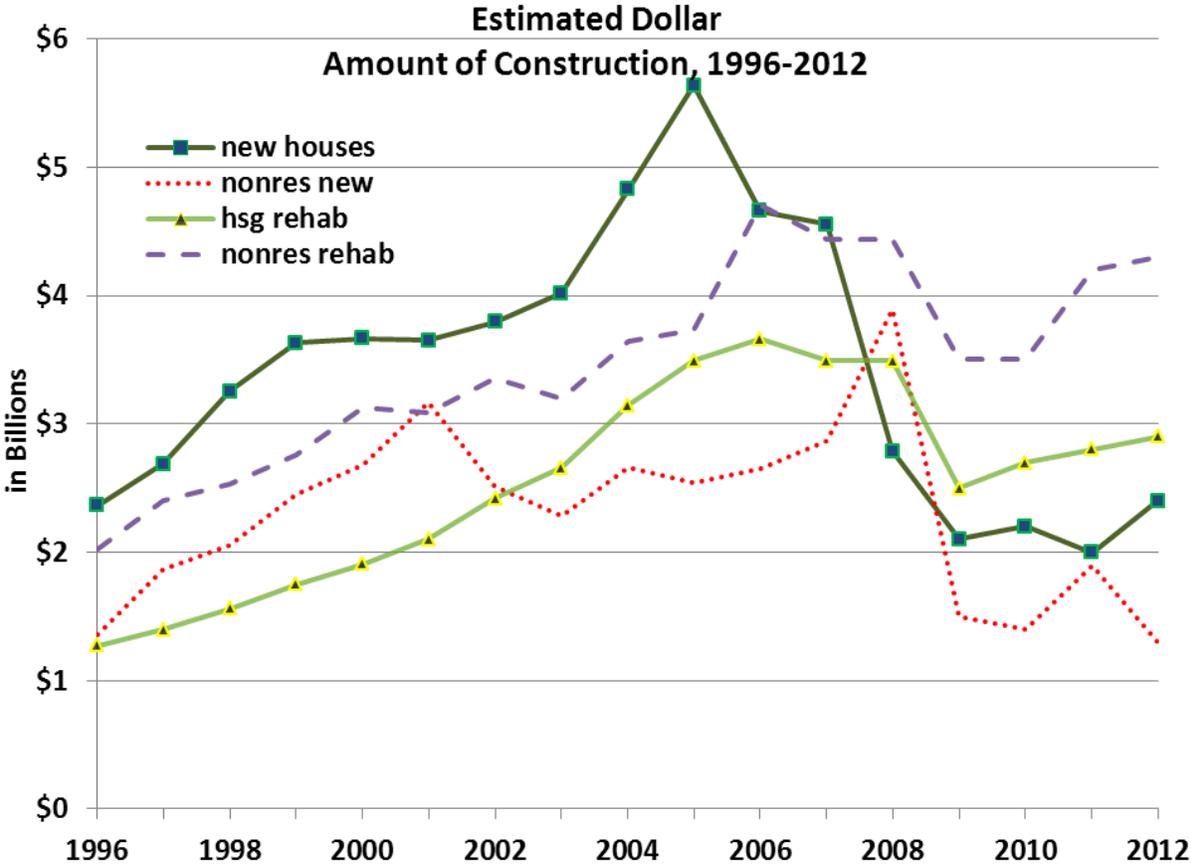

- The dollar amount of work authorized by building permits in 2012 was $10.942 billion. This was about the same as last year. Since prices rose by about 2 percent, construction activity in constant dollars declined by that amount compared to 2011.
- Other major indicators showed improvement. New homes increased by nearly 3,400 dwellings (28.5 percent).
- New office space is up by nearly 2.5 million square feet; this was 50.5 percent more than year.
- There was a 24.3 percent increase in new retail space.

- New home construction accounted for 22 cents of every dollar of authorized work. New offices, shops, schools, and other nonresidential buildings made up less than 12 cents.
- Additions and alterations to existing buildings comprised nearly 67 cents of every dollar of authorized work. Home improvements accounted for 27 cents, while tenant fit ups, repairs, and additions to existing commercial buildings totaled nearly 40 cents.

- The dollar amount of work authorized for new houses was $2.405 billion. This was 17.9 percent more than last year, one of the sharpest increases in over six years.
- Home repairs and additions accounted for $2.945 billion. This was 5.5 percent more than in 2011 and consistent with gains in recent years.
- Commercial rehab work totaled $4.239 billion in 2012. This was 1.9 percent more than last year.
- New commercial construction declined sharply in 2012. This was the only major sector to do so. The dollar amount was $1.263 billion, which was 32 percent less than last year.
- As a region, North Jersey had the most work and new houses. The estimated cost of construction authorized by building permits was $4.972 billion. This dollar amount was 45.4 percent of the entire State.

- North Jersey had 7,409 authorized housing units in 2012; this was 48.5 percent of the State total. Twelve of the top twenty municipalities were in northern counties.
- Central Jersey had $3.745 billion of construction in 2012, accounting for 34.2 percent all the activity in New Jersey. This region also had 34.3 percent of all the new housing authorized in 2012.
- More than half of the new office space authorized for construction was in Central Jersey. Several large, mixed-use developments of both office and retail space in Edison and South Brunswick, both in Middlesex County, accounted for much of this.
- Central Jersey had 46.7 percent of all new retail space in 2012.
- South Jersey had $1.914 billion of construction in 2012; this was 17.5 percent of all authorized work in the State. Atlantic City had the most activity in the region, $101.9 million. Most of this (87.5 percent) was for commercial renovations by existing hotels and casinos.

- One category of building permits, “State Buildings,” includes permits to New Jersey State agencies and their instrumentalities. Some of the big developments in 2012 were for dormitories and academic buildings for public colleges and universities and other other capital improvements by agencies like New Jersey Transit and the South Jersey Transportation Authority.
- The estimated cost of construction for State Buildings was $312 million. This was another strong year. Some of the bigger developments were a new medical school for Rowan University, expansion of the Atlantic City International Airport, building improvements by Rutgers University, and a new academic building for the business, public administration, and design schools at Kean University.

Top Municipalities

- Jersey City had the most construction in 2012. The City’s building department authorized $391 million of work. Much of this was for new dwellings. Jersey City had 690 authorized housing units in 2012, second only to Fort Lee (Bergen County) with 820.
- Newark in Essex County had $276.5 million of construction. New dwellings accounted for $87.1 million. The City authorized 266 new housing units, ranking 14th among municipalities. Other big projects were a new office building for Panasonic Electronics and new dormitory and classroom buildings for the Newark campus of Rutgers University and the New Jersey Institute of Technology.

- Hanover Township in Morris County had $149.8 million of construction. Most of this was from a renovation of an existing office campus for Bayer Pharmaceuticals. The site was once used by Bell Laboratories and Lucent Technologies.
- Edison Township in Middlesex County had $147.9 million of work. Much of this was for office and warehouse development.
- Brick Township in Ocean County had $129.9 million in 2012. School, hospital, and retail additions were among the big developments.
- A new hotel, new warehouses, and renovations at the Jersey Gardens shopping mall were the big projects in the City of Elizabeth, Union County, which had $129 million of construction in 2012.

New Housing

- Several housing trends are evident. One is an increase in attached, rental housing. This is best seen in Fort Lee Borough, Bergen County, which had 820 authorized units in 2012, more than any other municipality. Nearly all of this was from multifamily apartments. The biggest project was a 47-story building with 451 units. Another high-rise broke ground in 2011; but the 194 rental units were reported in a permit update in 2012.

Multi-Family & Mixed-Use Housing as a Percentage of All Authorized Housing, 1996-2012

- The trend in Fort Lee was seen in other areas, albeit on a smaller scale. More than half of the new houses authorized in 2012 were in multifamily and mixed-use buildings. This was the first time in recent history that that single-family houses accounted for less than half of the new dwellings in New Jersey.
- In 1996, over 15 percent of all new housing units authorized for construction were in buildings with other residential units (multifamily housing) or in mixed-use buildings with office, retail, and other nonresidential uses. In 2012, it was 56.1 percent.
- Another trend is a relatively high level of new homes being built in New Jersey's two largest cities, Newark and Jersey City. This tendency began in 2001. Since then, Jersey City and Newark have been among the top twenty municipalities with the most new housing. Jersey City has ranked either first or second in 11 of the past 12 years.

New Home Prices

- The price of a new house increased by 2.5 percent in 2012. This is based on the 7,165 new houses that were sold and began enrollment in a new home warranty program that year.
- Not every house gets a new home warranty. Rental units are excluded. Homeowners who act as their own general contractors and build their own houses also do not need a new home warranty.
- Half of these houses cost more than $399,900. The median sales price of the 6,839 new houses sold and starting enrollment in a warranty program in 2011 was $390,000.
- Essex and Bergen Counties had the most expensive new houses in 2012. This was true in 2011, too. Half of the 227 new houses in Essex County that started enrollment in a new home warranty program in 2012 cost more than $629,000. The median sales price of the 491 new houses in Bergen County was $583,306.

N.J. Department of Community Affairs, 5/7/13

THE NEW JERSEY CONSTRUCTION REPORTER contains statistics on construction activity in New Jersey. Information in the report comes from construction officials who administer the State Uniform Construction Code (UCC) (N.J.A.C. 5:23-1 et seq.) in New Jersey's 566 municipalities.

Each month, construction officials send to the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs (DCA) reports on the permits and certificates they issue. Permits authorize the start of construction and cover four types of activity: (1) New construction permits authorize the start of a new structure. (2) Permits for additions refer to work that will add space (volume and square feet) to an existing building. (3) Alterations also involve existing structures, but the work authorized will not add space. Typically, construction officials issue permits for alterations when the work is subject to one or more of the UCC's major subcodes (building, electrical, plumbing, fire protection). (4) Demolition permits authorize the removal of a building or some other structure. The CONSTRUCTION REPORTER identifies only those demolitions that will result in the loss of housing.

In addition to permits, the CONSTRUCTION REPORTER has information on the certificates issued by construction officials. While permits authorize the start of construction, certificates are issued for work completed and ready for occupancy. Each month, the CONSTRUCTION REPORTER will report on the number of housing units and the amount of office and retail space authorized for construction, along with the number of housing units and the amount of office and retail space completed.

Data Comparability

The CONSTRUCTION REPORTER contains information on authorized housing units that is tabulated two different ways. The DCA tabulates Tables 1 through 3 and Tables 8 through 13 based on the use of buildings, defined in "groups" by New Jersey's UCC. Exhibit B on page 3 summarizes these groups.

Tables 4, 5, and 6 show authorized housing units as defined and tabulated by the United States Census Bureau. The New Jersey Department of Labor and Workforce Development prepares these tables for publication in the CONSTRUCTION REPORTER. Exhibit C on page 4 describes the housing definitions used by the Census Bureau.

The DCA series and the Census Bureau series on authorized housing units differ two important ways. First, the DCA series includes housing units created as a result of permits issued to alter or make additions to existing structures. The Census Bureau counts only those housing units authorized from permits issued for new construction.

Second, the Census Bureau imputes data for localities that fail to submit monthly reports on time. An asterisk in the Census column of data appearing in the Municipal Summary Data table at the back of the CONSTRUCTION REPORTER indicates those towns with imputed data. The Census Bureau bases these imputations on historic trends. The DCA series shows information for only those towns that submitted monthly reports. If a municipality failed to submit a monthly report on time, "No report" appears in the appropriate columns in the Municipal Summary Data table.

Additional Terms

A number of other terms appear in the tables throughout the CONSTRUCTION REPORTER. Exhibit A on page 2 defines additional construction permit and certificate terms.

Exhibit A

| Summary of Building Permit and Certificate Terms | |
|---|--|
| Addition | Permit type issued for construction work that adds space (volume and square feet) to an existing structure. |
| Alteration | Permit type involving one or more subcodes (building, electrical, fire protection, and plumbing). The work is authorized for an existing structure and does not add new space. |
| Certificate | A document issued by a construction official indicating completion of work for which a permit was issued. |
| Dollar Amount of Construction | Estimated cost of work, as reported by the permit applicant to the construction official. |
| Demolition | Permit type authorizing the demolition of an existing structure. |
| Housing Units Certified | A rental or for-sale unit completed and certified by the construction official for conforming to the standards in the New Jersey UCC. |
| Housing Units Authorized by Building Permits | A rental or for-sale dwelling unit authorized by a construction permit. See Exhibits B and C for explanations of the different definitions of housing structures. The Table 1 series and Tables 2 and 3 show housing units as classified by the residential use groups defined in Exhibit B. Tables 4, 5, and 6 identify authorized housing as defined by the U.S. Census Bureau. (See Exhibit C.) |

Exhibit C

Residential Structures (U.S. Census Bureau Definitions)

Tables 4, 5, and 6 show authorized housing units based on the structure types defined below by the U.S. Census Bureau. The number of units shown in these tables refers to those authorized by building permits issued for new construction only.

Single-Family Houses

Include all detached one-family houses and all attached one-family houses separated by a wall that extends from ground to roof with no common heating system or inter-structural public utilities. Include prefabricated, sectionalized, panelized, and modular homes that are manufactured partially off site, but are transported and assembled at the construction site.

Two-Family Buildings

Include all buildings with two housing units that may be above one another or side by side. If built side by side, the structures (1) do not have a wall that extends from ground to roof; or (2) share a heating system; or (3) have inter-structural public utilities, such as water supply and sewage disposal.

Three- and Four-Family Buildings

Include all buildings with three or four housing units. If built side by side, the structures (1) do not have a wall that extends from ground to roof; or (2) share a heating system; or (3) have inter-structural public utilities, such as water supply and sewage disposal.

Five-or-More-Family Buildings

Include all buildings with five or more housing units. If built side by side, the structures (1) do not have a wall that extends from ground to roof; or (2) share a heating system; or (3) have inter-structural public utilities, such as water supply and sewage disposal.

Private Housing Units

Housing owned by a private company or individual during the period of construction. This includes all housing built by nonprofit organizations and "turnkey" housing; for example, housing that will be sold to a local public housing authority when completed.

Public Housing Units

Housing owned by a governmental body during the period of construction.
