Because screw the code guy. My lumber is better than Lowe's any day

Mr. Miller is not a subscriber to an American Lumber Standard Committee Accredited Agency and therefore this stamp cannot be considered an accredited American Lumber Standard Committee grade stamp. In addition, there is no indication of species or moisture content of a product stamped with such a stamp. There is no corresponding ALSC system design values attributable to lumber stamped with this stamp. This stamp should not be represented as evidence of structural design values, species identification, phytosanitary compliance, or moisture content under the ALSC system.
