

Children Without A Recurrence of Maltreatment Within 6 Months of a Previous Incident

Source: U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Children and Families (ACF), Children's Bureau (Outcome 1.1)

In Federal Fiscal Year 2012, 94.9% of the children in New Jersey who had a previous incident of maltreatment did not experience another episode within the following 6 months. This placed New Jersey at the median of performance among 49 other states, D.C., and Puerto Rico.

Similarly, New Jersey was also at the median point of 94.8% based on the national data available for 52 jurisdictions in 2011.

Children Without a Recurrence

Note: This map shows 2012 data, and the darker color indicates higher performance. No data is available for Idaho.