WHEN TO USE IT

Any child placed for adoption by CP&P has the right to be psychologically tested at no expense to the adoptive parent(s) prior to the finalization of the adoption. Use CP&P Form 14-234, Waiver for Psychological Examination, during the Pre-Consent Interview, if the adoptive parent is satisfied with the child's development and chooses to waive the psychological examination of the child.

HOW TO USE IT

- Staff from the Local Office prepare this letter using the on-line template in the computerized Forms Manual (11-20), and bring it to the Pre-Consent Interview.
- At the Pre-Consent Interview, the Worker and his or her Supervisor discuss with the adoptive parent(s) whether to request a psychological evaluation of the child at the Division's expense or to waive the right to this evaluation. See CP&P-V-A-1-1300, Pre-Consent Interview with Resource Parent.

If the adoptive parent(s) decides to waive the psychological examination, he or she signs and dates the CP&P Form 14-234. The child's Worker also signs and dates the form.

- Include the completed, signed CP&P Form 14-234, as part of the Adoption Consent package, which is submitted to the Local Office Manager within 60 days of the child becoming legally free for adoption. See CP&P-V-A-1-1300, Submitting the Adoption Consent Package.
