Section I – General Information

A. Purpose:

The New Jersey Department of Children and Families’ (DCF), Division of Family and Community Partnerships announce the availability of $500,000 in funding for the purpose of developing a culturally competent, strength-based neighborhood Family Success Center (FSC) in Atlantic City, NJ that offers convenient access to the information, support and resources that families need. The funding seeks to establish a FSC with a secondary (Satellite) location also within the bounds of Atlantic City.

One funding award will be granted to develop a community-based initiative that will strengthen individual and family functioning and empower people to acquire the knowledge, skills and resources they need to succeed and to provide an optimal environment for their children’s development. The Family Success Centers (also known as the “Center”) must be flexible and responsive to the specific needs determined by the families and individuals who live in the neighborhood. The Centers must provide some services directly and may also collaborate with other agencies to provide additional services on site or, where necessary, arrange access to off-site resources. Parent leadership is an essential component of the FSC model.

B. Background:

The Department is charged with serving and safeguarding the most vulnerable children and families in the State and ensuring that service delivery is directed towards their safety, protection, permanency and well-being.

To this end, DCF has funding to support the development of a Family Success Center in Atlantic City. Family Success Centers are community-based, family-centered, neighborhood gathering places where any community resident can go for family support, information and services.

The purpose of the Family Success Center is to:

- Enrich the lives of children by strengthening families and neighborhoods;
- Develop networks of family strengthening services to prevent child abuse and neglect and promote optimal child, youth, family, and community development;
- Provide integrated, locally-based services that are family focused and culturally responsive;
- Reduce isolation and strengthen connections within families, between families and to the community; and
- Redefine public spaces within the community as family friendly, safe and non-stigmatizing.

Family Success Centers are expected to provide:

- Welcoming Environments: Centers are safe, warm and welcoming places in the community where any family can come, not only in times of need, but as a part of day-to-day life. Center locations will vary by neighborhood. What all Centers have in common is a welcoming, homelike setting that reflects the local community.
- Meaningful Community Involvement and Shared Responsibility: Community residents and families take responsibility for the Center along with the Center staff. The expectation is for parents, caregivers and community members to have input and participate in its Center design, governance, programming, facilitation of activities and overall Center development.
- Integrated Supports and Services: Centers work collaboratively with community partners to bring together local resources and services for an accessible and responsive service system. In addition, each Center must collaborate with local agencies implementing evidence-based programs ensuring participants have access to services with a proven track record for positive outcomes.
- Respectful Participant Relationships: The Center design and service delivery affirm the rich ethnic and cultural diversity that characterize the community. Centers ensure that families receive non-intrusive supports and connections respecting participant integrity and functioning.¹

C. Services to be Funded:

The FSC model is designed to serve communities and meet the needs of their families; it's important to note that family and community are broadly defined in this RFP. The term "family" includes the diversity of family structures, including birth families; foster, kinship and adoptive families; extended families; families with adults who are single, unmarried couples, married, divorced, remarried, in a civil union or domestic partnership. The term “community” refers to a neighborhood, municipality, or region.

Overview of Service Model

Through collaboration with local partners, Family Success Centers are able to provide an accessible, seamless network of coordinated services including professional and para-professional services, voluntary supports and community resources. Parents and other community residents also serve as resources, mentors and decision-makers through the program’s explicit efforts to engage families in mutual assistance opportunities. Throughout their work, the Family Success Centers utilize a non-clinical, strength-based approach.

Successful applicants to this RFP will develop a service model that aligns with the following:

Family Support Practice

Family Success Centers should be the creation of their own neighborhoods, designed to address the challenges and preferences of local individuals.

The family support approach focuses on helping parents identify and develop their own strengths, rather than relying exclusively on services designed and delivered by professional problem-solvers.² It is not a case management model but a model that supports families to become their own problem solvers.

The program approach, which reflects the family support principles and premises, defines family support as “normative - addressing issues faced by all families with young children; preventive - not designed to address specific problems or replace more intensive professional services; and a mutually respectful partnership between family and staff.”³

The Principles of Family Support Practice are as follows:

1. Staff and families work together in relationships based on equality and respect.
2. Staff enhances families’ capacity to support growth and development of all family members.
3. Families are resources to their own members, other families, programs and communities.

² Guidelines for family support practice. (1996)

³ Kagan, S. L., and Weissbourd, B. (1994) Toward a new normative system of family support in S.L. Kagan and B. Weissbourd (Eds.), Putting families first: America’s family support movement and the challenge of change (p.473-490).

4. Programs affirm and strengthen families' cultural, racial, and linguistic identities and enhance their ability to function in a multicultural society.
5. Programs are embedded in their communities and contribute to the community building process.
6. Programs advocate with families for services and systems that are fair, responsive and accountable to families.
7. Staff works with families to employ formal and informal resources to support family development.
8. Programs are flexible and continually responsive to emerging family and community issues.
9. Family support principles are modeled in all activities, including planning, governance and administration.

NJ Standards for Prevention Programs: Building Success through Family Support

Developed in 2003 and revised in 2014 by the New Jersey Task Force on Child Abuse and Neglect in collaboration with DCF Division of Family and Community Partnerships, applicants are expected to embrace the practice and administrative standards set forth in this document.

<http://nj.gov/dcf/news/reportsnewsletters/taskforce/Standards.for.Prevention.Programs.pdf>

Strengthening Families Protective Factors

The Protective Factors, which are described in New Jersey Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Plan 2014-2017 should be incorporated into all community and family services. Protective Factors are tools that families and communities draw upon to help increase the health and well-being of children and families.

The New Jersey Child Abuse & Neglect Prevention Plan 2014-2017 can be found at:

<http://www.state.nj.us/dcf/news/reportsnewsletters/taskforce/SupportingStrengtheningFamiliesandCommunitiesinNew%20Jersey.pdf>

Target Population

The awarded FSC must serve a minimum of 500 registered participants annually. It is expected that the FSC will welcome and serve ALL individuals and families who come to the Center and the Satellite. No individuals and/or families should be turned away from services.

Cultural Competency

Policies and programs must affirm and strengthen cultural identity and be culturally sensitive and culturally competent to the full diversity of New Jersey families in structure, cultural values or life stage. Policies and programs must be flexible and tailored to the unique needs of families and must be provided with sufficient time and intensity to achieve and maintain positive outcomes over time for diverse families.

The provider shall identify and develop, as needed, accessible culturally responsive services and supports. These shall include, but are not limited to, employing staff who reflect the diversity of the community they serve and affiliations with informal or natural helping networks such as language services, neighborhood and civic associations, faith based organizations, and recreational programs determined to be appropriate.

Location & Accessibility

Program accessibility and location is critical. The Center should:

- Preferably be a stand-alone structure housed in a home-like setting that embodies the look and feel of the community at large. If it is not a stand-alone, the Center must have its own separate entrance. The Center cannot be located within the larger lead agency.
- Be separately delineated from the lead agency, and not referenced as a “program” of the agency. The lead agency must allow the FSC to create its own identity.
- Have a dedicated phone line, voice mail, and internet connection.
- Have hours of operation to meet the needs of the community including evening and/or weekend hours.

A comprehensive list can be located on the FCP website:

<http://www.nj.gov/dcf/families/dhcp/DFCPDirectory.pdf>

Family Success Center Advisory Board

Studies indicate the most successful child abuse prevention initiatives are community-led and community-driven. Giving local residents a majority voice ensures that the Center’s operations and programming are meaningful, accessible and effective for the community in which the Center resides.

The community and its families shared responsibility is accomplished through an Advisory Board, whose role will be to advise and recommend. They will not govern with legal accountability. The grantee agency and the FSC Advisory Board must have written guidelines that detail the roles and responsibilities of each. The grantee agency will recruit Advisory Board members to reflect the diverse makeup of the community they serve. The Advisory Board members must be parents and/or community residents. Anyone affiliated with an agency that will serve families, on-site at the Center

- Serving as ambassadors building bridges into the community
- Surveying the need to enhance existing activities

- Recommending programs/activities to be offered at the Center

Lobbying Activities and/or any Political Activity is prohibited.

Lobbying means any act, whether written, verbal, or non-verbal, that seeks to influence legislation, regulation or governmental processes, or any communication with or securing information from governmental officers. Please refer to Department Policy DCF.4.03-2007 at: http://www.state.nj.us/dcf/policy_manuals/CON-I-A-4-4.03.2007_issuance.shtml

All Advisory Board members will be encouraged to attend Board Development training and the trainings described above.

Outcome Evaluation

The Center will participate in an evaluation process led by DCF. It is expected that Center staff will participate in evaluation training and technical assistance sponsored by DCF. Two times each year, Center staff will also be expected to administer a survey to every individual who comes to the Center within a one week time period. This survey will measure Protective Factors outcomes, among other indicators. Protective Factor outcomes include:

1. Participants are successfully linked to formal and informal concrete supports.
2. Participants increase social connections.
3. Participants demonstrate increased resilience.
4. Parents demonstrate improved parenting skills.
5. Parents report increased nurturing and attachment in relationships with their children.

The Center will be required to participate in other evaluation activities as requested. For example, this may include pre- and post-tests for group activities. Center staff is encouraged to collect additional outcome evaluation data as capacity permits.

Continuous Quality Improvement – Creating a Culture of Quality

DCF utilizes Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI) to identify and analyze strengths and areas needing improvement, and then to evaluate, implement, learn from, and revise solutions designed to improve the quality of services. It is expected that the awarded Center will engage in ongoing CQI to ensure programs are systematically and intentionally increasing positive outcomes for individuals and families they serve.

Center staff will be required to submit monthly reports of demographic and service data as part of the Continuous Quality Improvement process.

All applicants are advised that any software purchased in connection with the proposed project must receive prior approval by the New Jersey Office of Information Technology.

Applicants are also advised that any data collected or maintained through the implementation of the proposed program shall remain the property of DCF.
