

WASTE

TIPS

Go paperless or switch to double sided printing

Perform a waste audit to identify ways to reduce waste

Install recycling bins and educational signs about what can be recycled

Purchase reusable printer cartridges and vegetable-based inks

Compost or donate food waste

Offer a discount to shoppers who bring their own shopping bag

McCaffrey's of Princeton composts or donates the majority of the food waste generated in the market. All food waste generated by the perishable food departments including fruits, vegetables and proteins is collected and sent to an organics' composting business. Over a year, McCaffrey's reduces its food waste by 44,220 lbs. and saves $1,540. Learn More

Hobbymasters, an Arts & Crafts Store in Red Bank, NJ, reuses packing material from incoming deliveries on outgoing shipments. Businesses and residents in town also drop-off materials, including boxes, packing peanuts, and air bubbles. On average, this practice has resulted in the reduction of 200 lbs. of waste and saved Hobbymasters on average about $2,000 every year. Learn More

EXPLORE

NJDEP Recycling
recycle.nj.gov

NJ WasteWise Business Network
www.nj.gov/dep/dshw/recycling/wastewise/brbn03.htm

