

Richelle Wormley was appointed Assistant Commissioner for Compliance and Enforcement on April 30, 2018. Her career spans more than 28 years in the air pollution arena. Prior to becoming Director of Air Enforcement, she was the manager of the Air Compliance and Enforcement Southern Office, responsible for coordinating the day-to-day enforcement activities related to the air statutes and regulations.

In addition to enforcement, she has also worked in the Division of Air Quality Permitting Program as a supervisor with the Bureau of Operating Permits during its early years. Here, she was responsible for overseeing the issuance of Title V permits. She was also with the Bureau of Technical Services, overseeing and reviewing work performed by air test consultants both in the field and through the review of consultant test reports.
