Description: This bridge was constructed circa 1926 and carried the Central Railroad of New Jersey over Avenue A. The bridge consists of two thru-plate girder structures and two deck-plate girder structures constructed of steel. The bridge complex formerly had ten tracks on four separate substructures mounted on two concrete abutments. Only one track remains. The bridge is part of the Central Railroad of New Jersey Mainline Corridor Historic District. This district received a SHPO opinion on 6/1/91, and its boundaries were revised on 2/17/95.
