Background research will consult the follow sources as part of the Historic Context. These sources are considered a starting point for research and not considered an exhaustive list.

- Early Industrialization, Urbanization, and Agricultural Development A.D. 1775- A.D. 1860; Immigration and Agricultural, Industrial, Commercial and Urban Expansion A.D. 1850 - A. D. 1920 (available at the NJHPO)
- Metropolitan New Jersey A.D. 1910 – A.D. 1945 (available at the NJHPO)
- Special Resource Study, Great Falls Historic District, Paterson, New Jersey, November 2006, developed by NPS
- archival research at the Passaic County Historical Society
- Joseph Stancliffe Davis’ essay on the Society for Establishing Useful Manufactures (Passaic County Historical Society)
- John R. Nelson’s essay, “Alexander Hamilton and American Manufacturing: A Reexamination” (Passaic County Historical Society)
- The “Gledhill Collection,” the Passaic County Historical Society’s collection of the S.U.M. papers.
- State and Federal census records
- Historic American Engineering Record Report
- National Historic Landmark District nomination
- Passaic County deeds (to supplement information obtained from historic maps and HAER documentation) to define original S.U.M. lots and the subdivisions of the lots that took place over time, as well as to clarify legal aspects of site organization. Lot lines will be traced onto a site plan to guide/validate the organization of the site’s redevelopment throughout time. Boundary lines of parcels and lots, as well as portions of the lots that were bought or leased from the S.U.M. and others, are critical for a valid historical interpretation of the site.
- S.U.M. records, deeds, tax assessments and other local land records, including specifics of the lease or purchase agreements made between the proprietors of mill lots and the S.U.M. for hydropower delivery and records of disputes between those sharing the mill lots and the S.U.M. power sources (these may be S.U.M. records or in the records of the Chancery Court)
- Surrogates Office records, court records and testimony

- newspapers, government-commission reports, photographs, prints, films, private papers, interviews, and patent and copyright records
- Resources of Paterson History: An Annotated Bibliography at the Paterson Free Library.
- “S.U.M. Charters, Laws, Certificates, and Contracts 1791-1905”
- “Papers of the S.U.M. 1791-1946”
- Brocket’s 1976 The Silk Industry in America (Chapter XX, “Paterson, the Lyons of America”)
- Schnurrmann’s 1942 “Selected Bibliography of Source and Reference Material Relative to the S.U.M.”
- “Early History -- The Society of Establishing Useful Manufactures” in Scientific American, 1859
- 1791-1923 Records of the Patent Office (Record Group 241) at the National Archives
- the Hamilton Papers, etc.
- Works Progress Administration abstracts of the S.U.M papers
- Interviews with: Ed Smyk, Passaic County Historian; Russell Fries; Arthur Rosen; Patricia Condell (HCI); and Nick Sunday
