

Red foxes live in many New Jersey state parks. Hacklebarney State Park provides the perfect habitat for them. They live to live in areas that have open fields as well as woods.