

The Navesink Lightstation once held the bright beacons that guided hundreds of sailors into the New York Harbor. The 'Twin Lights' have been out of service since 1949, but have been a New Jersey State Historic Site since 1962.