RESPONSE: The Council and DEP recognize that the commenters are opposed to killing bears because they are either philosophically opposed to the killing of animals in general or are for various reasons specifically opposed to a bear hunting season in New Jersey. However, the Council and DEP have concluded that the CBBMP should include a regulated black bear hunt as part of a comprehensive approach to black bear management.

As discussed in Section H. of the CBBMP, DFW bear population monitoring has shown growth and range expansion of the State's black bear population, which has produced high levels of negative human/bear interactions, despite DFW's expanded non-lethal management initiatives. Thus, the CBBMP finds that the bear population should be reduced and stabilized at a level commensurate with available habitat and consistent with reducing risk to public safety and property, and no other proven method of population control is available.. Regulated hunting seasons in 2003 and 2005 demonstrated bears could be harvested safely. Thus, the Council and DEP support regulated hunting as a safe and effective management tool to provide recreation and to control the State's black bear population in a cost-effective manner and support the reestablishment of a regulated black bear hunting season which is similar to the 2003 and 2005 hunting seasons and includes Bear Management Zones (BMZs) to direct hunting pressure as appropriate. The Council and DEP also support the development of a long-term structure for bear hunting seasons to reduce and then stabilize the bear population at a level compatible with the availability and quality of habitat, which is consistent with public safety and residential and agricultural concerns.

The Council and DEP also note that the Council is authorized by N.J.S.A. 13:1B-28 et seq. to manage wildlife throughout the State of New Jersey as a renewable resource and to maximize the benefits derived from this resource, including the taking of game and furbearers, while minimizing the negative impacts on wildlife populations. The Council promulgates amendments to the Game Code to meet its responsibilities by adjusting seasons, bag limits and methods of take on the basis of scientific information. In 2005, the New Jersey Supreme Court (U.S. Sportsman's Alliance Foundation v. New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, 182 N.J. 461 (2005)) explained that the CBBMP must take into consideration the management tools available to management of the State's black bear population. The Council and DEP have examined the management of black bears in other states and notes that the 29 states with viable bear populations use hunting as the means to control their black bear populations. No alternative method is used. The Council and DEP further recognize that regulated hunting is a legitimate and effective means to control and manage the bear population, can slow the rate of population growth, and can reduce associated problems (i.e., vehicle collisions, home entries, livestock kills, pet kills, property damage and agricultural damage) in a cost effective manner. Thus, it is an important component of the CBBMP.

The Council and DEP also acknowledge the importance of an integrated wildlife management approach for the State's black bear population, which is consistent with the black bear management efforts that DFW has undertaken for many years. That is why the CBBMP reflects an integrated wildlife management plan, incorporating the following components: education; control of human-derived food; research and analysis of the State's black bear population; analysis of the State's available black bear habitat; cooperative research with other states, academic institutions, and other entities engaged in research on black bear management; control of bears that threaten human safety, agricultural crops, or property, or nuisance bears, by lethal and non-lethal means; habitat protection; and bear population management. The Council and DEP note that many of the commenters opposed to a black bear hunt support other aspects of the CBBMP, often suggesting that an expansion of non-lethal population control efforts would eliminate the need for a black bear hunt. As the CBBMP explains, however, an integrated approach to black bear management should utilize available, practicable methods for the management of the State's black bear population, while taking into account the best scientific information and the fiscal and personnel resources of State and local agencies. Thus, as detailed in the CBBMP, based on DFW's extensive experience with black bear management, as well as the fiscal and other constraints present, the Council and DEP have concluded that the State's comprehensive approach to black bear management should include a regulated hunt.

One commenter wanted to know the outcome of Bill Anderson's donation to the New Jersey park system (2244).

One commenter stated that the New Jersey DFW's Bureau of Law Enforcement (BLE) has failed to enforce the black bear feeding ban and cites the small number of violations which were written, given the law enforcement budget devoted to bear related activities and believed that persons reporting bears feeding on their garbage or bird feeders should be written summons for unintentional feeding of bears (2244).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP disagree that better garbage control alone would resolve human/bear conflicts, although the Council and DEP have included garbage control as part of the CBBMP. DEP has had several meetings with garbage haulers, municipalities and private communities to discuss the issue of providing bear resistant garbage cans and dumpsters to the general public. Both haulers and communities have indicated that technological and economical constraints make implementing these devices very difficult. In 2004, the DFW received 282 complaints of bears getting into garbage as opposed to 503 garbage complaints in 2003; DFW received 288 garbage complaints in 2006 compared to the 358 garbage complaints in 2005. The decrease in garbage related complaints from 2003 to 2004 and again from 2005 to 2006 is in part due to increased enforcement of the Intentional Feeding Law and the harvest of nuisance bears during the 2003 and 2005 bear hunting seasons. The Council and the DFW supported the State law enacted in November 2002 that bans the intentional feeding of black bears and provides for a $1,000 fine. The DFW's BLE investigates bear feeding complaints and issues warnings and citations when warranted. The DFW has long recommended that trash be controlled so that it is not available to bears. For example, trash should not be put out for disposal until the morning of pickup and should be stored at other times in areas not accessible to bears.

Council and DEP recognize that bear-resistant garbage containers can be successful at keeping bears out of garbage, but they do not stop the bears from remaining in the area and utilizing containers that are not bear-resistant. The benefits and limitations of garbage management are discussed in detail in the CBBMP at section B. Control of Human Derived Food (p.6). Bear-resistant containers also do not decrease or stabilize the bear population. The State and federal park systems in bear country have implemented bear-resistant garbage cans and dumpsters at their facilities. Bear resistant garbage cans and food storage containers were installed at several state parks in Northern New Jersey as part of a substantial donation from Mr. Bill Anderson. These food storage containers and garbage cans have been effective in mitigating some nuisance bear behavior within the park system. Even though these bear-resistant garbage cans and dumpsters have been effective at minimizing garbage related incidents within the parks, they have not reduced the number of bears in the area nor have they eliminated nuisance bear behavior within the parks or recreational areas.

The DFW has been working cooperatively with the Division of Parks and Forestry (DPF) to develop educational programs and regulations that preclude bear feeding, maintaining clean picnic and camp sites and keeping food inaccessible to bears in State parks and forests (see, for example, N.J.A.C. 7:2-2.7 and 7:2-6.1). The Council and DEP believe that enforcement of State and local ordinances banning the feeding of bears should help reduce human/bear conflicts. However, human/bear conflicts are increasing as the bear population grows and expands its range into new and inadequate habitats, including urban and suburban areas. Black bears are attacking and killing livestock and pets, damaging agricultural crops, damaging and entering homes and directly threatening humans. Black bears are also involved in increasing numbers of collisions with motor vehicles. The feeding ban does nothing to control the black bear population.

Council and DEP respectfully disagree with the statement that DFW's BLE has failed to enforce the black bear feeding ban. The law enforcement effort regarding this feeding ban is discussed in Section B. of the CBBMP, Control of Human-Derived Food. The CBBMP acknowledges the difficulty in enforcing this law and recommends that the law be amended to clarify when un-intentional feeding of bears warrants a fine. The Council and DEP note that intensive sweeps of neighborhoods in bear country shows that 98 percent of households inspected are complying with this statute and are making a genuine effort to prevent bears from feeding on household garbage and other human derived food sources. The Council and DEP disagree with the comment that anyone who reports to DFW that a bear has gained access to their garbage or bird feeder should be issued a summons. DFW educates these callers on how to prevent future occurrences. The BLE has received 155 complaints from citizens reporting violations of the bear feeding ban since its adoption in 2003. Individuals suspected of feeding bears must first be given a written warning before a summons can be issued for repeat offenses. Upon investigation of these complaints, 32 written warnings and 9 summons were issued. DFW's experience is that most people respond to the educational discussion with the conservation officer and that only a small number of people ignore the written warning, thus conservation officers have only had to issue a minimal number of summonses for repeat offenses. Additionally, the commenter wrongly assumes that the law enforcement bear budget was strictly used for enforcement of the feeding ban. As the CBBMP indicates, DFW conservation officers were involved with investigating incidents involving the illegal shooting of bears, assisting the DFW's Wildlife Control Unit (WCU) with bear nuisance complaints, and training over 950 police officers on the protocol for response to problem bears.

6. COMMENT: Commenters stated that they wished that DFW would implement more non-lethal techniques to control the bear problem, as opposed to lethal control (6, 7,

RESPONSE: As stated in the CBBMP (pps. 7-8), the Council and DEP recognize the importance of a multi-faceted approach to black bear management which includes the use of non-lethal techniques. The Council and DEP recognize that the use of non-lethal techniques is widely accepted to mitigate nuisance behavior in black bears, especially within communities and park environments and the CBBMP recommends its continued use when appropriate. The DFW and properly trained law enforcement agencies will continue to use less than lethal rubber projectiles, pyrotechnics and specially trained dogs as a means of aversive conditioning to mitigate nuisance bear behavior. However, non-lethal techniques are not effective at controlling a growing black bear population. DFW has determined, as have other state and federal agencies and institutions, that aversive conditioning can deter a bear from returning to the treatment location, but treated bears continue nuisance activity at other locations and, in some cases, return to the original location after a period of time. Aversive conditioning reduced but did not eliminate foraging by nuisance bears in human-developed areas. DFW research has determined that aversive conditioning has limited short-term effectiveness, does not eliminate nuisance behavior in bears and does nothing to reduce or stabilize the bear population.

7. COMMENT: Commenters opposed the black bear hunting season and indicated that the black bear season would not solve damage/nuisance problems or conflicts caused by bears, referencing a document “Correlation of reduction in nuisance black bear complaints with implementation of (a) a hunt vs. (b) a non-violent program” written by Dr. Edward Tavss of Rutgers University in 2007 (7, 8, 9, 12, 13, 34, 56, 62, 74, 79, 91, 95, 106, 116, 123, 148, 186, 216, 217, 249, 256, 261, 262, 320, 349, 350, 356, 357, 373, 386, 401, 407, 412, 420, 447, 449, 451, 455, 456, 465, 504, 533, 545, 576, 596, 607, 643, 644, 646, 655, 669, 696, 761, 777, 779, 845, 851, 858, 876, 932, 933, 957, 976, 997, 1009, 1013, 1054, 1055, 1071, 1076, 1098, 1100, 1107, 1109, 1143, 1145, 1146, 1148, 1158, 1169, 1176, 1178, 1205, 1207, 1215, 1243, 1244, 1251, 1306, 1313, 1320, 1323, 1328, 1344, 1357, 1381, 1392, 1393, 1395, 1424, 1429, 1430, 1436, 1442, 1443, 1448, 1450, 1457, 1458, 1462, 1466, 1487, 1497, 1513, 1514, 1544, 1573, 1626, 1634, 1637, 1641, 1652, 1665, 1679, 1723, 1762, 1765, 1770, 1792, 1794, 1800, 1813, 1863, 1883, 1890, 1907, 1909, 1955, 1962, 1981, 1986, 2000, 2048, 2058, 2072, 2091, 2098, 2115, 2142, 2166, 2183, 2197, 2224, 2246, 2266, 2282, 2327, 2332, 2334, 2368, 2383, 2475, 2492, 2504, 2507, 2508, 2512, 2513, 2517, 2520, 2524, 2525, 2542, 2544, 2550, 2589, 2601, 2602, 2612, 2628, 2629, 2632, 2633, 2653, 2666, 2686, 2693, 2716, 2723, 2739, 2742, 2744, 2758, 2765, 2775, 2776, 2782, 2800, 2805, 2826, 2827, 2840, 2846, 2858, 2860, 2861, 2879, 2897, 2902, 2906, 2910, 2915, 2925, 2927, 2962, 2963, 2976,

8. COMMENT: One commenter referenced the Tavss report and submitted an analysis by a recognized bear expert which refuted the correlations, statistics and conclusion in the Tavss report (325).

RESPONSE TO COMMENTS 7 AND 8: Hunting has been proven to be an effective method to reduce negative human/bear interactions. Ten percent of the tagged bears in the 2003 and 2005 harvests were known nuisance bears; an additional ten percent were bears tagged at nuisance sites or in urban situations. Because 70 percent of the harvested bears were untagged, this 20 percent of nuisance bears in the harvest likely represents a minimum number of nuisance bears that were harvested in the 2003 and 2005 hunting seasons.

The Black Bear Management Handbook (Black Bear Conservation Committee, 1996. Black bear management handbook for Louisiana, Mississippi, southern Arkansas and east Texas. BBCC, Baton Rouge, LA. 28 pp.), a broad-based cooperative effort by representatives from State and Federal agencies, private conservation groups, the forestry, agricultural organizations and the academic community, states that hunting is commonly recommended as a damage control tool because it reduces bear populations and associated problems to acceptable levels and elicits human-avoiding behavior. According to a report commissioned by the International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies (IAFWA, 2005. Potential Costs of Losing Hunting and Trapping as Wildlife Management Methods, 444 North Capitol Street, NW Suite 725, Washington, DC. 55 pp., http://www.fishwildlife.org/pdfs/Costs_of_Losing_HuntingandTrapping_US-Canada.pdf), in areas without hunting, (e.g., national parks and jurisdictions which ban hunting), bears can lose their wariness of people, resulting in unfortunate encounters and negative human/bear interactions. Based on tag returns, nuisance bears such as daytime-active, food-conditioned, human-habituated bears were harvested in the 2003 and 2005 New Jersey seasons. The home range of bears in New Jersey average about two square miles for females and about 60 square miles for males. Daily movements confirmed by radio-telemetry reveal that black bears can travel between three and 15 miles in circuitous or linear routes throughout their home range. Bears living in close proximity to people also travel through woodlands and forested wetlands surrounding and adjacent to human developed areas. Many of these adjacent areas are open to hunting. Therefore, it is anticipated that these problem bears will be available for harvest by hunters. It is acknowledged that bears not causing damage will also be harvested. The reduced densities of bears that will result from the harvest of non-problem bears will slow the emigration of bears from suitable habitat into non-suitable habitat, thereby further reducing bear associated problems. Damage and nuisance calls to DFW decreased by 40 percent and Category I reports to DFW decreased by 37 percent in 2004, after the 2003 season; damage and nuisance calls to DFW decreased by 13 percent and Category I reports to DFW decreased by 7 percent in 2006, after the 2005 season.

In regard to the Tavss report, which concluded that the hunting approach had no effect in reducing the human complaints/conflicts but, the non-violent approach was “markedly effective in reducing human complaints/conflicts,” the Council and DEP have determined that the Tavss report ignored the various factors which may influence the relationship between management options and human/bear interactions. Further, the Council and DEP found the report did not consider the effects on nuisance complaints of natural food availability, human population increases, differences in human habitat/wildlife habitat interfaces and management protocols in populated areas such as New Jersey versus national parks. Also, the report discounted data that did not fit Dr. Tavss' theory, such as the decrease in bear complaints after the 2003 and 2005 bear hunting seasons in New Jersey and the reduction in bear complaints in northeastern Pennsylvania after implementation of extended bear hunting in 2002. Council and DEP note that bear complaints in New Jersey had been rising since the 1990's and the Council and DEP believe this trend would have continued if the DFW had not implemented the integrated black bear management strategy in 2001, which utilized all the tools such as DFW's bear education program, training local police for bear response, lethal control on Category I bears, and the short term population reduction from the 2003 and 2005 black bear hunting seasons. The Council and DEP believe that the high complaint numbers of 2008 and 2009 are not "statistical outliers" but reflect the actual increased negative human/bear interactions which have occurred in New Jersey since the termination of the hunting season.

Biologists across the Eastern North American continent have documented an increase in bear populations concurrent with an increase in the human population, which, along with other factors such as food availability, can account for an increase in bear complaints. States with increasing bear populations have also experienced an increase in human/bear conflict. In an effort to reduce human-bear conflicts, many states have liberalized regulations, harvesting more bears, thereby decreasing nuisance bear complaints. The Tavss report mentions Virginia harvests and complaints up to 1998, but fails to continue the analysis. Biologists from Virginia reported that, after a record bear harvest in 2003, the number of bear complaints decreased from over 600 to less than 200 in 2004. Regarding the northeastern region of Pennsylvania, this area had high bear densities, high human densities, and a very high numbers of conflicts. Starting in the fall of 2002, bear hunting seasons in the northeast Pennsylvania region were extended to include the first week of Pennsylvania's deer rifle season with the goal of increasing bear harvest and reducing bear densities. Human/bear conflicts that had increased 95 percent between 1998 and 2002, before extended hunting seasons were put in place, declined 70 percent between 2002 and 2005, after extended bear seasons were implemented. A similar result has been seen in New Jersey where it was documented that damage and nuisance calls to DFW decreased by 40 percent in 2004, after the 2003 season; and damage and nuisance calls to DFW decreased by 13 percent in 2006, after the 2005 season. Regarding Minnesota, according to Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) documents, policy changes by the Minnesota DNR, where agents more readily destroy a nuisance bear and DNR refers complainants to the United States Department of Agriculture Wildlife Services, have resulted in a decrease in complaint calls to DNR. These policies have greatly reduced the amount of time DNR personnel spend dealing with bear complaints relative to the 1990's. Also, harvests in Minnesota went from 1,915 in 2002 to 3,290 in 2006, and have averaged over 3,100 bears per year from 2003 to 2009. The Council and DEP believe these examples all support the premise that a regulated harvest, in conjunction with other bear management tools, can lead to a reduction in bear complaints.

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP disagree that black bear education alone would resolve human/bear conflicts, but has stressed that education is one of the components of the CBBMP. An extensive black bear education effort has been conducted by the DFW since 1997 as part of its integrated bear management strategy. A primary message is “Do Not Feed Bears,” either intentionally or non-intentionally. The DEP and DFW regularly issue news releases alerting the public to safety issues regarding New Jersey's growing black bear population and providing bear information and bear-proofing techniques. The DFW's Web Page (www.njfishandwildlife.com) provides information regarding: bear biology and natural history; tips to better manage trash; a brochure highlighting ways to prevent and minimize problems with bears; sources of bear-proof trash cans; brochures for those camping, hiking or fishing in bear country; how to report bear sightings; and, links to additional information. DEP and DFW have issued video public service announcements on the DEP web page and through news outlets to provide information about black bears to help residents minimize bear problems around their homes and to help visitors while recreating in bear country.

As stated in the CBBMP, the DFW has produced and distributed over 3 million pieces of bear education material to the general public, including 295,000 park, campground and outdoor recreation brochures, 206,000 Garbage Bag Tags (plastic signs) with bear-proofing tips, 50,000 signs for use in parks and campgrounds, 35,000 waste hauler bill inserts, 350,000 “Do Not Feed the Bears” bookmarks and 45,000 “Do Not Feed the Bears” bumper stickers. Additional educational pieces distributed include: 566,000 residential household brochures, 40,000 educational coloring books and 110,000 educational book covers for distribution through schools, 200,000 educational bookmarks for distribution through libraries and 350,000 camper behavior in bear country cards for distribution in campgrounds. Radio public service announcements (PSA) are aired for the bear activity seasons in spring, summer and fall. A television PSA has been created to provide information on how to bear-proof homes and yards and to help prevent bears from becoming problems. DFW biologists and public information specialists also presented more than 120 programs to over 15,000 people, including school groups, camp groups, service organizations, clubs, boy and girl scouts, police and municipal meetings.

The DFW contracted and assisted in the production of the documentary Bear Country, New Jersey. The film explains the natural and historic perspective on the black bear in the Garden State and follows DFW biologists through their yearly cycle of black bear research. Approximately 200 copies of the film were distributed to schools, environmental education centers statewide and other state's fish and wildlife agencies. It has been broadcast numerous times on PBS affiliates around the country and internationally.

Through a partnership with the DPF, the DFW distributed educational material and an eight-minute campground video that illustrates the do's and don'ts while camping in black bear country. The video includes instructions on proper food storage and campsite maintenance, and general information on black bear behavior.

The DEP sends annual letters to all New Jersey mayors regarding the DFW's black bear response protocols and bear response training opportunities for law enforcement. More than 75,000 households received information about landowner precautions to minimize negative encounters with bears through the municipal partnership. The DEP continues to address media-related inquiries and interviews regarding bears, as well as participating in numerous municipal meetings concerning bears, including discussing public safety issues, urging residents to properly "bear-proof" their surroundings and providing information on living with an expanding bear population. Finally, the DFW uses each telephone call from a citizen reporting a bear sighting or complaint as an opportunity to educate residents in and visitors to bear country about how to avoid negative encounters with bears.

Even with the DEP and DFW's extensive public education programs and citizen advocacy groups conducting bear education programs, human/bear conflicts in New Jersey continue at high numbers. Although public education is important, education alone will not solve all the problems associated with an expanding bear population and does nothing to control the population.

COMMENT: Commenters opposed the hunting component of the CBBMP and stated that black bear season was a trophy hunt (7, 9, 12, 13, 20, 22, 34, 56, 70, 71, 74, 85, 95, 101, 106, 123, 137, 147, 148, 163, 178, 186, 207, 216, 217, 246, 249, 261, 276, 296, 320, 329, 340, 349, 350, 356, 357, 377, 380, 392, 395, 398, 401, 420, 433, 443, 455, 456, 457, 465, 494, 522, 528, 531, 533, 545, 546, 585, 622, 644, 669, 683, 686, 692, 693, 721, 761, 801, 821, 830, 845, 848, 849, 851, 858, 866, 868, 870, 871, 872, 899, 922, 925, 932, 933, 937, 948, 963, 970, 975, 976, 980, 985, 986, 994, 1010, 1013, 1027, 1054, 1055, 1057, 1058, 1067, 1071, 1076, 1097, 1098, 1107, 1147, 1150, 1151, 1158, 1176, 1178, 1205, 1211, 1215, 1218, 1243, 1244, 1266, 1267, 1277, 1278, 1286, 1296, 1306, 1309, 1323, 1326, 1338, 1344, 1353, 1368, 1381, 1390, 1392, 1393, 1395, 1408, 1417, 1429, 1430, 1439, 1442, 1448, 1457, 1458, 1487, 1513, 1514, 1518, 1520, 1573, 1590, 1607, 1620, 1625, 1634, 1637, 1642, 1652, 1667, 1709, 1711, 1765, 1784, 1789, 1792, 1794, 1808, 1813, 1863, 1873, 1901, 1906, 1909, 1917, 1926, 1927, 1955, 1966, 1981, 1987, 1991, 2014, 2033, 2038, 2047, 2048, 2056, 2057, 2060, 2064, 2072, 2075, 2083, 2084, 2090, 2091, 2101, 2114, 2115, 2132, 2135, 2142, 2153, 2162, 2178, 2189, 2197, 2201, 2224, 2225, 2226, 2249, 2250, 2259, 2271, 2282, 2289, 2335, 2383, 2414, 2421, 2459, 2480, 2498, 2504, 2507, 2508, 2512, 2513, 2521, 2524, 2535, 2542, 2595, 2599, 2626, 2628, 2675, 2678, 2684, 2686, 2693, 2716, 2717, 2723, 2728, 2737, 2744, 2750, 2758, 2785, 2797, 2809, 2818, 2820, 2825, 2837, 2838, 2858, 2863, 2872, 2902, 2908, 2910, 2911, 2940, 2944, 2956, 2964, 2971, 2998, 2999, 3000, 3022, 3023, 3025, 3027, 3035, 3037, 3038, 3047, 3059, 3060, 3071, 3113, 3143, 3154, 3155, 3160, 3161, 3162).

RESPONSE: Although the commenters did not define a trophy hunt, in general bear hunting terms, a trophy hunt would target large adult bears. The season was not designed to be a “trophy hunt.” The black bear hunting season allows for the harvest of bears of either-sex and any age, which will slow the rate of black bear population growth and provide data on black bear age, sex and physical condition. The harvest of tagged bears in the population will also provide information on movement and survival rates, and will provide important information for estimating the population. The sex and age structure of the 2003 and 2005 harvests matched that of bears captured during research and control activities. Seventy percent of the harvested bears were untagged, similar to the numbers that DFW personnel handle in research activities. In 2003 a total of 328 bears were taken by 5,450 permit holders; in 2005 a total of 298 bears were taken by 4,434 permit holders. For the 2003 harvest, 209 were females and 119 were males; in 2005, 174 were females and 124 were males. Twenty-six percent of the 2003 harvest was young of the year (cubs), 24 percent were yearlings and 50 percent were adults. Because the 2003 hunting season removed adult breeding females from the population, then the 2004 hunting season was canceled, the makeup of the harvest from the 2005 season was different than the 2003 season with 15 percent of the 2005 harvest being young of the year (cubs), 36 percent yearlings and 48 percent adults. The 2003 and 2005 bear seasons each produced a harvest that was representative of the bear population at the time.

11. COMMENT: Commenters opposed the hunting season but encouraged the DFW to create Bear Smart Communities (7, 12, 13, 17, 34, 74, 79, 80, 92, 95, 106, 123, 127, 131, 175, 183, 184, 186, 198, 220, 237, 263, 276, 282, 300, 339, 340, 351, 356, 357, 361, 363, 411, 420, 426, 431, 434, 445, 446, 465, 490, 499, 512, 533, 558, 570, 597, 613, 619, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 646, 651, 696, 710, 761, 803, 805, 845, 858, 871, 872, 876, 924, 935, 938, 953, 957, 963, 994, 997, 1032, 1045, 1054, 1069, 1076, 1115, 1146, 1154, 1155, 1165, 1176, 1210, 1215, 1234, 1244, 1246, 1277, 1295, 1309, 1323, 1325, 1330, 1343, 1353, 1357, 1371, 1483, 1487, 1528, 1558, 1590, 1597, 1598, 1607, 1620, 1634, 1635, 1637, 1638, 1697, 1724, 1770, 1780, 1786, 1813, 1820, 1837, 1848, 1866, 1868, 1883, 1886, 1890, 1900, 1909, 1927, 1928, 1962, 1969, 1977, 1985, 1986, 1987, 2002, 2009, 2010, 2032, 2057, 2059, 2072, 2087, 2115, 2132, 2142, 2178, 2182, 2187, 2190, 2197, 2218, 2219, 2246, 2275, 2282, 2294, 2300, 2354, 2355, 2377, 2382, 2383, 2480, 2485, 2493, 2504, 2507, 2509, 2535, 2537, 2567, 2588, 2598, 2640, 2660, 2673, 2686, 2716, 2717, 2723, 2732, 2738, 2739, 2749, 2755, 2771, 2780, 2782, 2802, 2827, 2836, 2876, 2952, 2955, 2956, 2958, 2998, 3027, 3083, 3111, 3114, 3124, 3135, 3143, 3154, 3155, 3160, 3162).

RESPONSE: Bear Smart Communities are communities which take a proactive approach to managing human/bear conflicts, including identifying and reducing non-natural and natural bear attractants, educating the public, managing waste, implementing and enforcing by-laws and planning the community. The Council and DEP believe that the DFW has been effective at creating neighborhoods and communities where residents are aware of bears and methods to reduce negative bear interactions, without actually enrolling these communities as Bear Smart or Bear Wise communities, as was accomplished in Whistler, British Columbia and Elliot Lake, Ontario, Canada and Wintergreen, Virginia. The DFW has gone to great lengths to educate as many communities as possible through distribution of literature, educational programs and face-to-face meetings with community leaders to ensure people are doing everything possible to minimize human/bear conflict within their perspective communities (see response to comment 9 above). In 2009 the DFW, in cooperation with East Stroudsburg University (ESU) and Bear Trust International, completed a research project in Great Gorge Village, Vernon, New Jersey which demonstrated the efficacy of bear-resistant dumpsters. The DFW has repeatedly worked with local garbage haulers, residents and local businesses to address then mitigate many nuisance bear situations.

12. COMMENT: Commenters opposed the black bear hunting season and stated that human/bear interaction problems were the result of man altered habitat and human encroachment on undeveloped land, and that protection of habitat would eliminate human/bear problems (78, 83, 99, 122, 144, 166, 199, 202, 211, 213, 214, 223, 315, 348, 359, 360, 452, 493, 531, 539, 542, 566, 593, 602, 617, 701, 858, 865, 870, 889, 911, 928, 934, 977, 988, 1009, 1010, 1117, 1127, 1188, 1199, 1236, 1260, 1296, 1362, 1385, 1397, 1409, 1418, 1430, 1451, 1471, 1499, 1515, 1521, 1532, 1548, 1564, 1600, 1611, 1613, 1647, 1654, 1675, 1730, 1731, 1747, 1772, 1788, 1797, 1799, 1821, 1855, 1856, 1885, 1903, 1936, 1961, 2104, 2119, 2160, 2161, 2164, 2222, 2257, 2265, 2296, 2313, 2316, 2324, 2342, 2364, 2405, 2421, 2458, 2467, 2500, 2507, 2566, 2615, 2637, 2683, 2699, RESPONSE: The Council and DEP recognize that habitat modification and loss, and human encroachment on open space are factors associated with negative human/bear interactions; as stated in the CBBMP (Section G. Habitat Protection, p. 21). The Council and DEP also note that the growing bear population and resulting high bear density contributes to negative human/bear interactions both in prime bear habitat and to those areas where dispersing bears are setting up new home ranges. Even if all remaining undeveloped land in private ownership could be purchased and preserved, human/bear conflicts would continue.

13. COMMENT: Commenters opposed the hunting season and indicated that non-lethal aversive conditioning by police and animal control personnel will resolve nuisance bear behavior (6, 7, 13, 14, 17, 29, 34, 41, 45, 59, 74, 79, 80, 91, 92, 95, 104, 106, 109, 112, 114, 123, 127, 131, 138, 148, 162, 164, 166, 170, 174, 175, 183, 184, 188, 191, 197, 198, 199, 216, 220, 237, 256, 262, 263, 272, 282, 299, 303, 308, 309, 320, 327, 339, 349, 350, 351, 355, 356, 357, 361, 363, 378, 384, 390, 401, 407, 411, 420, 423, 426, 431, 433, 434, 445, 446, 451, 461, 465, 472, 480, 504, 512, 517, 533, 545, 570, 576, 584, 587, 597, 609, 613, 617, 619, 632, 637, 644, 646, 651, 659, 668, 669, 674, 680, 690, 693, 694, 696, 708, 710, 720, 761, 766, 777, 779, 801, 803, 805, 808, 814, 825, 845, 849, 851, 852, 853, 871, 872, 876, 900, 924, 929, 932, 935, 938, 947, 953, 954, 957, 959, 962, 976, 988, 994, 997, 1001, 1002, 1012, 1017, 1019, 1032, 1045, 1055, 1062, 1065, 1069, 1075, 1076, 1077, 1097, 1098, 1105, 1106, 1107, 1145, 1146, 1151, 1154, 1155, 1165, 1170, 1171,

One commenter stated that in response to an Open Public Records Act (OPRA) request for “all documents relating to resources dedicated to the humane conditioning of bears,” the DEP referred the requestor to the “Rutgers study” which the commenter believed implied that the DEP had no additional information available on the use of aversive conditioning, nor had the DEP employed this strategy at any time (2628).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP disagree that aversive conditioning alone would resolve human/black bear conflicts, but the Council and DEP have specified that non-lethal control, including aversive conditioning, is an important component of the CBBMP. DFW and ESU conducted an evaluation of aversive conditioning techniques and found that rubber buckshot and dogs used to deter bears from returning to the spot of nuisance activity have limited short-term effectiveness. DFW has determined, as have other state and federal agencies and institutions, that aversive conditioning can deter a bear from returning to the treatment location, but treated bears continue nuisance activity at other locations and, in some cases, at the same location. Aversive conditioning reduced but did not eliminate foraging by nuisance bears in human-developed areas.

Aversive conditioning is currently used by DFW to attempt to reduce or eliminate some nuisance bear behavior. In regards to the commenter’s OPRA request for the Rutgers study, the DFW referred the commenter to the study author because DFW did not have the data which the commenter requested. The Council and DEP note that DFW personnel have used aversive conditioning 200 times in the last 5 years. Law Enforcement Officers trained by DFW have used aversive conditioning 547 times in the last 5 years. The Council and DEP recommend in the CBBMP (Section F, Bear Control: Lethal and Non-Lethal, p. 17) that DFW continue to use this tool as part of its integrated black bear management strategy.

14. COMMENT: Commenters opposed the hunting season component of the CBBMP because it would endanger the black bear population; some specifically state that too many females or cubs would be killed (44, 63, 65, 66, 71, 78, 148, 232, 240, 261, 280, 335, 377, 401, 480, 539, 545, 559, 585, 656, 683, 744, 792, 851, 869, 932, 933, 1021, 1098, 1106, 1109, 1142, 1145, 1158, 1160, 1161, 1205, 1211, 1243, 1320, 1326, 1344, 1381, 1388, 1396, 1430, 1450, 1465, 1484, 1513, 1564, 1573, 1611, 1652, 1679, 1765, 1816, 1873, 1908, 1966, 1981, 2022, 2071, 2088, 2089, 2090, 2181, 2189, 2224, 2393, 2512, 2589, 2628, 2646, 2678, 2693, 2728, 2729, 2758, 2826, 2910, 2926, 3038, 3076, 3149, 3161).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP disagree that the hunting season as provided for in the CBBMP and NJAC 7:25-5.6 will endanger the New Jersey black bear population. According to a 1987 U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Biological Report, entitled “Habitat Suitability Index Models: Black Bear, Upper Great Lakes Region”, Dr. Lynn Rogers reported that “Well managed, sustained yield hunting has not been shown to jeopardize black bear populations.” (Rogers, L.L. and A.W. Allen. 1987. Habitat suitability index models: Black Bear, Upper Great Lakes Region. U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Biological Report 82 (10.144). 54 pp.) For the 2003 harvest, 209 were females and 119 were males; in 2005, 174 were females and 124 were males. The 2003 and 2005 bear seasons each produced a harvest that was representative of the population at that time, as described in Comment 10. The sex and age structure of the harvest matched that of bears captured during DFW research and bear control activities. The harvest of females was proportional to their representation in the population at that time

Twenty-six percent of the 2003 harvest was young of the year (cubs), 24 percent were yearlings and 50 percent were adults. Because of the effects of the 2003 hunting season and the cancellation of the 2004 hunting season, 15 percent of the 2005 harvest was young of the year (cubs), 36 percent were yearlings and 48 percent were adults. The 2003 and 2005 bear seasons each produced a harvest that was representative of the population at the time. Harvesting young of the year (cubs) in the same proportion to their representation in the population does not threaten the black bear population at this time. A further mechanism provided in N.J.A.C. 7.25-5.6 authorizes the Director of the DFW, after consultation with the Council, to stop the bear season if it is determined the number of bears being harvested exceeds that year's management goals. The Council and DEP believe that the CBBMP and the Game Code provide protections that assure that the black bear population is not jeopardized.

15. COMMENT: Commenters opposed the CBBMP indicating that hunting posed a threat to human safety (112, 306, 371, 419, 441, 883, 923, 956, 960, 1001, 1150, 1291, 1305, 1326, 1364, 1380, 1386, 1388, 1460, 1540, 1549, 1640, 1657, 1693, 1738, 1839, 1884, 1899, 1979, 2017, 2042, 2106, 2301, 2332, 2353, 2393, 2522, 2583, 2584, 2717, 2720, 2759, 2772, 2773, 2774, 2777, 2801, 2857, 2954, 2976, 3092, 3161).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP disagree and note that there were no hunting accidents during the 2003 or 2005 bear hunting seasons. Over the last 10 years, New Jersey hunters averaged 11.5 hunting incidents with injury per year, while spending about 3,000,000 hunting days a field each year. These incidents were typically limited to a hunter shot and injured by a hunting partner. The low number of incidents is attributed to mandatory hunter education and the use of fluorescent hunter orange. Every hunter, regardless of age, must successfully complete the hunter education course in order to purchase his or her first hunting license. Hunter education courses require that the prospective hunter complete a course of home study (which requires that students view a video, study a booklet and answer questions in a workbook), attend a field session. Before the license can be issued, every graduate must show safe and responsible firearms handling and pass the written examination. In the last 10 years, hunters in hunting incidents injured only one non-hunter. A non-hunter injured by a hunter is a rare occurrence. Hunters involved in irresponsible behavior, such as property damage, are issued summonses and fined pursuant to N.J.S.A. 23:7-3, According to accident statistics from the National Safety Council, hunting has fewer injuries per 100,000 participating than football, baseball, cycling, volleyball, swimming, golf, tennis, fishing, bowling, badminton, billiards and ping pong.

Additionally, N.J.A.C. 7.25-5.6 requires that properly licensed firearm hunters attend and successfully complete a mandatory black bear hunting seminar in order to qualify for obtaining a permit. The seminars include instruction that is specific to hunting black bears in New Jersey, including applicable rules and regulations, black bear hunting fundamentals, and safety.

16. COMMENT: Commenters opposed the black bear hunting season and indicated that the use of birth control, immuno-contraception, sterilization and neutering are viable non-lethal alternatives to a hunting season as a method of controlling the black bear population (155, 178, 395, 545, 740, 796, 851, 958, 1012, 1212, 1213, 1219, 1265,

17. COMMENT: Commenters indicated that they were against the use of immuno-contraception as a method of population control (4, 6, 36, 43, 47, 61, 75, 76, 84, 129, 142, 152, 153, 167, 209, 210, 218, 231, 233, 234, 242, 243, 251, 259, 278, 279, 294, 312, 352, 381, 382, 383, 388, 389, 397, 417, 418, 428, 448, 453, 466, 473, 474, 475, 476, 478, 481, 505, 510, 513, 552, 571, 598, 599, 629, 670, 673, 716, 725, 746, 747, 755, 756, 758, 760, 763, 764, 797, 800, 828, 840, 854, 877, 886, 906, 941, 942, 943, 944, 990, 991, 1000, 1041, 1070, 1084, 1088, 1094, 1096, 1099, 1102, 1118, 1139, 1174, 1179, 1237, 1270, 1294, 1331, 1332, 1333, 1334, 1335, 1358, 1359, 1360, 1361, 1365, 1370, 1399, 1411, 1438, 1452, 1469, 1470, 1498, 1510, 1526, 1538, 1557, 1561, 1562, 1567, 1592, 1599, 1605, 1606, 1622, 1633, 1656, 1664, 1666, 1668, 1690, 1691, 1695, 1707, 1744, 1749, 1750, 1755, 1773, 1776, 1829, 1834, 1835, 1850, 1853, 1870, 1887, 1898, 1913, 1920, 1929, 1939, 1943, 1945, 1953, 1954, 2016, 2025, 2034, 2035, 2078, 2079, 2099, 2103, 2107, 2137, 2138, 2139, 2154, 2163, 2165, 2193, 2206, 2209, 2233, 2235, 2238, 2239, 2260, 2272, 2287, 2290, 2305, 2306, 2317, 2318, 2319, 2329, 2336, 2363, 2371, 2384, 2388, 2422, 2423, 2424, 2479, 2501, 2539, 2547, 2553, 2554, 2555, 2556, 2563, 2570, 2572, 2627, 2638, 2655, 2688, 2694, 2705, 2706, 2740, 2766, 2798, 2814, 2822, 2830, 2831, 2833, 2834, 2848, 2874, 2889, 2891, 2899, 2907, 2916, 2931, 2932, 2946, 2947, 2965, 2997, 3003, 3030, 3036, 3050, 3051, 3073, 3074, 3079, 3080, 3097, 3133, 3137).

RESPONSE TO COMMENTS 16 and 17: The Council and DEP have determined that non-lethal birth control is not a viable method for controlling the black bear population. DEP's Division of Science and Research commissioned a literature review of fertility control on bears and other wildlife, which concluded that fertility control is very unlikely to be a feasible means of managing the black bear population in New Jersey due to the costs involved with field capture and the inability to capture enough bears to effect population control, even if a licensed fertility agent existed for bears. To date, sterilization, neutering and contraception have not been developed or tested to be feasible and/or effective tools for reducing wild, free ranging populations of any bear species. Surgical sterilization is permanent, expensive and poses concern for the individual animal during field surgery and recovery. Immuno-contraceptive vaccines, such as PZP, have not been proven in wild black bear populations. The Council and DEP believe that hunting remains the best and most cost effective management option for controlling the black bear population.

18. COMMENT: Commenters stated that baiting while hunting should be disallowed, as it draws bears into residential neighborhoods, makes them associate people with food, and creates nuisance bears (66, 71, 148, 323, 386, 396, 461, 545, 933, 1010, 1109, 1205, 1266, 1320, 1344, 1428, 1430, 1506, 1518, 1571, 1573, 1765, 1852, 1981, 2088, 2090, 2181, 2224, 2402, 2404, 2525, 2661, 2693, 2754, 2758, 2910, 2925, 2985, 2986).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP disagree and have determined that hunters' use of bait in all the states and provinces where legal for bear hunting has not drawn bears into residential neighborhoods, made those bears associate people with food nor created nuisance bears because of the use of bait. Hunting from an elevated position or in a man-made structure (blind) within 300 feet of bait while pursuing bears in New Jersey is prohibited by Statute (N.J.S.A. 23:4-24.2), although hunting from the ground in the open while using bait is legal. The Council and DEP believe that the statutory prohibition of hunting from an elevated stand or blind within 300 feet of bait diminishes the success of hunting utilizing bait and affords the hunter little, if any, advantage.

19. COMMENT: Commenters questioned the validity of the black bear population estimates and complaint data (63, 89, 207, 403, 545, 575, 821, 1501, 1679, 1946, 1974, 2042, 2189, 2241, 2278, 2301, 2410, 2483, 2512, 2525, 2579, 2628, 2646, 2678, 2758, 2840, 2975, 2985, 2986, 2993, 3139) and one commenter stated that there are not too many bears (683).

RESPONSE: The DFW has conducted bear population monitoring showing bear population growth and range expansion. The DFW has conducted intensive and extensive research on bears since 1980 and the data represent a solid, long term and extremely valuable database. Based on the intensive population monitoring that DFW has conducted over the past 30 years, the Council and DEP have concluded that the New Jersey bear population is a robust and viable population that has maintained a high reproductive and survival rate. This finding is in concert with population parameters reported for other viable populations in the mid-Atlantic region. DFW personnel continue to monitor bears using radio telemetry to acquire information on reproduction, survival, mortality, home range size and habitat use. The DFW has also employed population monitoring by determining individual identity using DNA analysis. The DFW has used cooperating university statisticians to generate population size estimates; DFW's population estimates and projections were reviewed and supported by wildlife biologists familiar with bear population estimation as well as by university wildlife professors. These experts confirmed the validity of the methodology used by the DFW in reaching its population estimates. These experts include recognized biologists and statisticians from Penn State University, Rutgers University, University of Georgia and Colorado State University; the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, state wildlife agencies and private organizations. All of these experts have recommended improvements in modeling techniques and data collection and several have pointed out the difficulties of collecting sufficient samples in BMZs 2 and 4. Additionally, they have pointed out the problems of handling data collected during the intermittent bear hunting seasons for population estimates, the most commonly used method by state wildlife agencies. The DFW recognizes these issues and continues to work with statisticians to improve the bear population models. Most recently, East Stroudsburg University used black bear DNA genetic data to estimate the 2009 population size of black bears in a portion of New Jersey, to evaluate population structure and to determine landscape-genetic relationships. The results are consistent with earlier studies which showed an expanding bear population. Regarding the bear complaint data, the Black Bear Rating and Response Criteria (BBRRC) was established using protocols developed by bear experts across the continent. DFW personnel receive reports about black bear complaints through the DEP's New Jersey Environmental Data Management System (NJEMS) as a "Communication Center Notification Report" and log these reports into a computer database. DFW personnel make attempts to interview the complainants for all Category I complaints, conduct on-site inspections and verify the details of the incident. The record of these reports is on file with the DEP Communication Center and the database tracking the complaints is archived at the Clinton Wildlife Management Area office.

20. COMMENT: Commenters contended that a black bear hunt was not necessary because black bears had not reached their biological carrying capacity (2678, 3161).

RESPONSE: Biological carrying capacity can generally be defined as the maximum number of animals an environment can support without damage to the environment and while maintaining the animals in a healthy and vigorous condition. The Council and DEP recognize that no state agency manages any wildlife species for biological carrying capacity. Managing a species for biological carrying capacity would be irresponsible to the species as well as the environment in which they live. The Council and DEP disagree that a black bear hunt should be contingent solely upon bears reaching their biological carrying capacity. Instead, the CBBMP's goals for black bear management reflect the legislative mandate of the DEP and the Council pursuant to N.J.S.A. 13:1B-28 et seq. and the mission and goals of DEP and DFW. The Legislature mandated that the Council has the responsibility of protecting and conserving game birds, mammals and fish and providing an adequate supply for recreational and commercial harvest. The mission of DFW is to protect and manage the state's fish and wildlife to maximize their long-term biological, recreational and economic values for all New Jerseyans. Thus, the black bear population management goals of the CBBMP consider the cultural carrying capacity, which is the number of bears that can co-exist compatibly with the local human population in a given area in concert with the biological carrying capacity of the land to support bears, just as it does for all wildlife species under the jurisdiction of the Council and DFW. DFW's management of wildlife based on cultural carrying capacity has been upheld by the New Jersey judiciary.

21. COMMENT: Commenters opposed the black bear hunting season and stated that black bears are not a serious threat or dangerous to humans (317, 821, 855, 1055, 1151, 1514, 1676, 1682, 1769, 2014).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP disagree with the commenters that black bears are not a threat or dangerous to humans. Black bears have been documented to attack, injure, kill and consume humans. New Jersey's 1997 Black Bear Management Plan, quoted Dr. Steven Herrero, who documented that from 1969 to 1997 black bears have killed an average of one person a year in North America. A minimum of 61 people have been killed by black bears in North America since 1900; at least 18 people have been killed since 2000, which is about two people per year. Between 2005 and 2009, ten people were killed by black bears in North America, four in the United States. In 2005, there were multiple black bear attacks on humans in North America, including one each in New Jersey, Colorado, Minnesota, North Carolina, and Pennsylvania and eight in Canada (three fatal, in the Northwest Territories, Manitoba and Ontario). In 2006, a fatal black bear attack occurred in Tennessee, while two non-fatal black bear attacks occurred in Canada, and one non-fatal attack in both Utah and New Jersey. In 2007, there were fatal black bear attacks in Minnesota, Utah and British Columbia. In 2008, a fatal black bear attack occurred in Quebec and non-fatal attacks in Tennessee and New Jersey. In 2009, there were fatal black bear attacks in Colorado and Quebec, and non-fatal attacks in Alberta and New Jersey. Thus far in 2010, black bears have attacked humans in Colorado, Maine, Michigan, Montana, New Jersey, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Washington with two attacks in New Mexico.

Although factors such as food shortages and drought may affect the number of bear complaints, the number of complaints and the amount of damage caused by bears has increased steadily with the bear population increase. The DFW's WCU received 953 Category I and II complaint calls in 2001, compared to the 1,753 Category I and II complaint calls in 2009. The complaint calls do not include the over 1,000 calls each year that residents place to local police departments which have been trained in bear control by the DFW, nor do they include the Category III calls such as sightings or bears at bird feeders. The 2009 calls included, but were not limited to, 34 home entries, 36 attempted home entries, 57 large livestock kills, 29 pet rabbit kills, 11 dog attacks, 134 incidents of property damage, 35 incidents of aggressive behavior toward humans and one bear attack on a human. There was a dramatic decrease in the number of severe complaints filed in 2004 as compared to 2003 and again in 2006 as compared to 2005, indicating that the 2003 and 2005 bear hunting seasons were indeed successful in lessening human/bear conflicts through bear population reduction and aversive conditioning through hunting. From January 1 through September 20 of this year, there have been 1,779 nuisance and damage complaints involving black bears. During the January 1 through September 20, 2010 period, the number of Category I incidents, which include attacks or threats to humans, livestock and pet attacks, and property damage exceeding $500, numbered 201.

22. COMMENT: Commenters opposed bears being relocated and accused the DFW of moving bears to “South Jersey” for the purpose of promoting fear and supporting bear hunting (337, 339, 399, 536, 647, 830). One commenter suggested moving bears to Southern New Jersey as a method of mitigating bear nuisance behavior (2677).

RESPONSE: The DFW does capture and remove bears that enter urban and suburban areas and relocates them to the nearest publicly owned, suitable habitat. The DFW has not moved bears to Southern New Jersey for the reasons explained in the CBBMP (Sections C, D.,G., H.), stating that relocation is not a viable option for population control or mitigation of nuisance behavior by bears.

23: COMMENT: Commenters opposed the hunting component of the CBBMP and stated that black bear meat was not good to eat (744, 980, 1574, 2584, 3023).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP respectfully disagree; hunters do eat bear meat. Ninety-six percent of successful hunters surveyed in the past New Jersey bear hunting seasons stated that they would consume the bear meat.

24. COMMENT: Commenters stated that hunters would wound bears (548, 1126, 1305, 1640, 1907).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP does recognize that there is a chance of bears being wounded just as there is with all hunted species. A wounded bear does not pose any significant threat to the public. Hunters make every effort not to wound any species while hunting because the hunter desires to take the intended game animal into possession.

There were no reported incidents of wounded bears causing problems during the 2003 or 2005 bear hunting seasons.

25. COMMENT: Commenters stated that DFW should create bear sanctuaries where bears would be protected from hunting (86, 1328, 1486, 2104, 2337, 2924). One commenter suggested to put aside some State-owned park land and create a Bear Reserve where the alleged "nuisance bears" can be kept (1267).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP believe that it is not feasible, neither logistically nor economically, to place bears in sanctuaries. Black bear sanctuaries are primarily used as a form of spatial hunter harvest control, i.e. areas to provide protection from overharvest, provide a core population of breeding females, and provide surplus bears for harvest. The Council and DEP believe that it is not necessary to provide sanctuaries because the hunting season is designed to protect the bear population from overharvest by its timing and the in-season closure mechanism and Council and DEP do not desire to produce surplus bears. Also, there is a significant amount of private and public land that is not open to hunting of any kind which is occupied by black bears at the present time. These areas serve as de facto sanctuaries within the State. The Council and DEP have determined that it is not good policy to place nuisance bears in State-owned parkland. These areas would have to be vast in size and secured such that the bears could not leave these areas. Research has documented that translocated bears will attempt to return to their original home range. Also, placing nuisance bears in a reserve will not alleviate the problem of controlling the bear population. Several hundred bears must be removed from the population annually to stabilize or reduce the population.

26. COMMENT: Commenters stated that youth hunters should not be able to hunt black bears (1266, 2499).

RESPONSE: Youth hunters that have fulfilled the hunter education requirements and attended the mandatory bear training seminar are allowed to participate in the bear season, just as they can participate in all other New Jersey hunting seasons. Youth hunters participated in the 2003 and 2005 bear hunting seasons without incident.

27. COMMENT: One commenter stated that the DFW was required to complete a more extensive environmental review, regarding the impact of a hunt on the black bear population of the State and region. The commenter also stated that the DFW provided no information about the direct or indirect impact of the hunt on cultural resources, endangered or threatened species and their habitats, or other environmentally critical areas; and, claimed the rule was an emergency action and subject to additional administrative requirements (3088).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP complied with all applicable requirements in promulgating these rule amendments. The black bear hunting season was purposely scheduled to occur concurrently with the six-day firearm buck season, a season which results in more hunters afield than any other time of year. The Council and DEP is unaware of any direct or indirect impact on cultural resources, or any harm to environmentally critical areas, endangered, threatened species or their habitats resulting from this season. Data from the 2003 and 2005 bear seasons indicated that the number of hunters did not increase as a result of scheduling the bear season at this time of year, and no negative impacts were noted.

28. COMMENT: One commenter believed the CBBMP was improperly proposed, stating that the Council did not comply with Executive Order (EO) Number 2 because advance notice of the rule was not given and the public was not given an opportunity to comment on a draft rule prior to proposal (3088).

RESPONSE: DEP and the Council disagree with the comment that the adoption process did not comply with EO 2. The Council and DEP have been working since 2005 on the development of the CBBMP. In 2005, a CBBMP was drafted by DFW personnel, with input from the Council's Black Bear Policy Committee, incorporating an integrated approach to black bear management based on the DFW's decades of experience with black bear management. The fundamental components of the 2010 CBBMP are the same of the CBBMP first drafted in 2005: i.e., education, control of human-derived food, research, bear control, habitat analysis and protection, and bear population management. Earlier drafts of the CBBMP which is being incorporated into the DFW Game Code rules (NJAC 7:25-5.6) as an appendix at this time, specifically the 2005 and 2007 versions, were made available on the DFW webpage and public comment was solicited.

Additionally, bear management and the status of the CBBMP have been discussed at the monthly Council meetings which are open to the public. Bear management and bear policy issues have, from time to time, been the subject of public comment received at the monthly meetings. The agenda for the March 9, 2010 Council meeting was posted on the DFW website and included the draft CBBMP. The agenda was widely reported by the media. At the meeting, a presentation by DFW was given regarding the status of bears in New Jersey as well as recent research efforts which the Council incorporated into the draft CBBMP. Prior to discussion by the Council, the public was given time to comment. Therefore the Council and DEP are satisfied that the requirements of EO 2 were met.

29. COMMENT: One commenter believes that the proposed CBBMP did not include an economic analysis (3088).

RESPONSE: The economic analysis is contained in the section of the proposal entitled "Economic Impact."

30. COMMENT: Commenters stated that bear populations are self-regulating and that a hunt is not necessary (1173, 1754, 1833, 1923, 2610, 2724, 3061).

RESPONSE: New Jersey's black bear population continues to increase and expand, and reports of black bear sightings have been received from all counties. Both Pennsylvania and New York report captures and mortalities of bears which were originally tagged in New Jersey. Reproductive rates have been documented to be among the highest in North America. The black bear population already exceeds the "cultural carrying capacity," or the level that a significant number of farmers and home owners will tolerate, in much of northwestern New Jersey. Young black bears are also dispersing into suburban and urban areas which are not suitable for bears because of the high human population density and resulting lack of open space and suitable bear habitat. Allowing the black bear population to continue to increase to a level where the reproductive rate may decline would be irresponsible and would increase nuisance complaints and threaten public safety. No scientific literature was presented in support of the commenters' position that black bears self-regulate as a population control mechanism.

31. COMMENT: One commenter objected to the use of taxpayer funds for a bear hunt (1012). One commenter disagreed with the economic analysis that the bear hunt would generate approximately 1 millions dollars to the New Jersey general economy (11). Other commenters suggested that the primary reason for the hunting season was to raise revenue for the DFW (117, 612, 1529, 2111 ,2582).

RESPONSE: The DFW will not utilize general taxpayer funds to pay for the 2010 bear hunting season because the DFW did not receive General Treasury funds for bear management in Fiscal Year 2011. The DFW will administer the bear hunting season related activities by redirecting available staff and resources within the DFW. Funds used to cover the cost of the hunting season will come from the Hunters' and Anglers' Fund, which is derived from the sale of hunting, fishing and trapping licenses and permits and Federal Excise Tax revenue (Federal Aid to Wildlife Restoration grant), which is derived from the sale of firearms, ammunition and archery equipment. No general treasury funds will be used for the implementation of the 2010 hunting season by DFW, but the costs incurred by other agencies, which may rely on General Treasury funds to administer bear hunting should be minimal. The costs for land management agencies, such as DPF, for the bear hunting season will not show substantial increases because the Council scheduled the bear hunting season to be concurrent with the Six-Day Firearm Buck Hunting Season, a time when the maximum number of hunters are afield and bear hunting will occur on lands which are already open for deer hunting.

NOTE: THIS IS A COURTESY COPY OF THIS RULE ADOPTION. THE OFFICIAL VERSION WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THE NOVEMBER 15 NEW JERSEY REGISTER. SHOULD THERE BE ANY DISCREPANCIES BETWEEN THIS TEXT AND THE OFFICIAL VERSION OF THE ADOPTION, THE OFFICIAL VERSION WILL GOVERN.

The Council and DEP believe that postponing efforts to control the bear population will result in increased costs for the abatement of nuisance and damage incidents and removing bears from suburban and urban areas and will place increased risk onto the public and property. Based on experience with special area deer hunts on Federal Refuges, and State and County Parks, the costs associated with a black bear season will decrease if the hunt is conducted annually. The estimated benefit of 1 million dollars to the New Jersey economy was derived from hunter surveys taken during the 2003 and 2005 bear hunting seasons. DFW queried successful bear hunters about their expenditures in preparation for and while participating in the bear hunting season. Council supports legislation that would establish a fee of $28 for a bear permit (CBBMP Section H. Recommendation 7.).

32. COMMENT: One commenter opposed the black bear hunting season and advocated euthanizing individual bears only when other non-lethal alternatives do not work (1116).

RESPONSE: Euthanizing Category I bears is a component of the existing black bear control policy. A total of 27 Category I bears were euthanized in 2009. Through September 20 of 2010, 27 Category I bears were killed by DFW personnel, police officers and landowners. Although euthanizing Category I bears is necessary for public safety and for the protection of livestock, pets and property, not all Category I bears are captured and euthanized. The number of Category I bears euthanized each year is small and does not contribute significantly to the objective of controlling the bear population.

Several hundred bears must be removed from the population annually to stabilize or reduce the population.

33. COMMENT: Commenters questioned the habitat designation and BMZ's and stated that the DFW should re-evaluate the BMZs using the most recent land use/ land cover data. It was suggested that a portion of BMZ 7 be included into BMZ 6 (2244, 2337).

RESPONSE: The DFW used the 2002 land use/land cover data, which is the most current version. The Council and DEP have recommended that DFW continue to evaluate bear habitat use and available habitat analysis, and that DFW make the appropriate revisions to the BMZs as necessary. Regarding the suggestion of including a portion of BMZ 7 located in Salem County into BMZ 6, the Council and DEP disagree. The DFW has specifically reviewed this suggestion and has found the area to be deficient in suitable upland habitat to support a viable bear population.

34. COMMENT: One commenter stated that the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area (DWGNRA) should be considered its own BMZ and that this area should be allowed a higher density of bears for the enjoyment of the general public (754).

RESPONSE: The DWGNRA is located in BMZ 1, adjacent to several human populated municipalities and lake communities in Warren and Sussex Counties. Radio telemetry data from bears which reside in that area show that the bears regularly traverse between the DWGNRA and the surrounding areas. A higher density of bears in the DWGNRA would increase human/bear conflict in the communities around the DWGNRA. The Council and DEP also recognize that DWGNRA administers land in Pennsylvania and have determined that the Pennsylvania Game Commission does not have a separate bear management strategy for the DWGNRA different than the management in the surrounding Wildlife Management Unit. For these reasons the Council and DEP did not separate the DWGNRA as a separate BMZ.

35. COMMENT: One commenter claimed that the Council has not determined the need for the implementation of a black bear hunt on the basis of scientific investigation and research, as mandated by New Jersey statute and also stated that DFW did not support its claims that hunting should increase the effectiveness of non-lethal techniques (2628).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP relied on the volume of reported literature and scientific investigation and research reported in the 2005 and 2007 CBBMPs, which have been available on the DFW webpage. The DFW has published annual Federal Aid Performance Reports and Status Reports for the Northeast Black Bear Technical Committee and filed annual scientific investigators reports with the US National Park Service. As an example, the 2005 CBBMP stated, "After conducting a review of the scientific literature, Conover (2001) determined that hunting reduces wildlife damage by reinforcing an animal's fear of humans and causing animals to avoid areas where they might come into contact with humans. Conover also stated that hunting should increase the effectiveness of non-lethal techniques because the animals learn to associate humans with negative consequences," (Conover, M.R. 2001. Effect of hunting and trapping on wildlife damage. Wildlife Society Bulletin 29(2):521-532). The Council and DEP have established that the DFW has produced scientific investigation and research sufficient to implement the black bear hunting season as one tool in the comprehensive management strategy for bears and has met the mandate of the statutes.

36. COMMENT: One commenter stated that the implementation of Trap, Neuter and Release feral cat colonies (TNR) in bear habitat would increase nuisance bear behavior and elevate bear human conflicts resulting from the subsidized feeding of these cats (231).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP believe that the creation of TNR colonies may increase nuisance bear behavior and therefore, human/bear conflict incidents. But the Council and DEP note that the issue of feral cats and TNR colonies represent a broad wildlife issue beyond the scope of this policy. The Council and the Endangered Species Advisory Committee have signed a joint resolution expressing their concern regarding the negative effects that feral cats and TNR colonies have on native wildlife, and have formed a joint committee to investigate this problem and make recommendations to the DEP on how to deal with this issue.

37. COMMENT: One commenter expressed concern that poaching of bears for their gall bladders or other body parts would be more common during these troubling economic times (555).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP disagree that poaching will have any effect on New Jersey's black bear population. The poaching of bears for their gall bladders and selling them for economic gain has not been a significant problem since Maine legalized the sale of gall bladders. Currently there is no evidence of any poaching activity for the sale of gall bladders or other body parts in New Jersey. All known forms of bear mortality, both legal and illegal are considered when modeling the New Jersey bear population abundance estimates.

38. COMMENT: One commenter questioned why more depredation permits were issued in 2006 than in 2005 (2244).

RESPONSE: It is not uncommon to have more depredation permits issued during years where there is very poor mast (acorns, beechnuts, etc.) crop production, as was the case in 2006. During years of poor mast production bears, as well as other wildlife species, will focus on agricultural crops to supplement their diets. Even though more permits were issued during 2006 than in 2005 only one bear was euthanized during each of these years. Additionally, through the educational efforts of the DFW, the New Jersey Department of Agriculture, and the New Jersey Farm Bureau, farmers have become more aware of the availability of depredation permits to control black bear related agricultural damage, resulting in an increase in the number of permits requested by farmers.

39. COMMENT: Commenters stated that they do not agree with the Category System used to classify black bear behavior as established in the BBRR Policy (2244, 2579, 2879) and one commenter questioned the literature cited that indicated non-lethal aversive conditioning of bears does not abate their nuisance behavior (2579).

RESPONSE: The BBRRC was derived after examining behavioral rating systems for black bear behavior used successfully by other states. Based on the experience of DFW personnel and the knowledge of other professionals in the field of black bear management, DFW classified bear behavior into three categories based on the severity of the behavior. Bears threatening the safety of New Jersey residents, their property, pets, livestock or economic livelihood are deemed the greatest risk to the general public and classified as exhibiting Category I behavior. The rating and response criteria used to identify potentially dangerous bears is not unlike that of any other wildlife species that poses a threat or causes damage to agriculture crops or property. Bear biologists from across the eastern seaboard agree that certain learned bear behavior such as home entries, killing of livestock and beehive damage cannot be changed and the only way to stop an animal from continuing this type of behavior is to euthanize the animal. The Council and DEP disagree with the comment that aversive conditioning can permanently alter nuisance behavior in bears. Bears exhibiting nuisance behavior are classified as a Category II. The experience gained from the research cited, as well as the results of DFW cooperative research with ESU evaluating aversive conditioning of bears indicate that bears will temporarily avoid the area where conditioned but continue to exhibit nuisance behavior at other locations. Nevertheless the Council and DEP recognize that aversive conditioning is useful to temporarily abate a problem at a particular location, and recommends continued research in this area (Section F. Bear Control: Lethal and Nonlethal, p. 17).

40. COMMENT: One commenter wished to know why no bears were killed during the 2003 and 2005 seasons in Hunterdon County (2244).

RESPONSE: Only the portion of Hunterdon County located north of Route 78 is in a BMZ open to hunting (BMZ 4). There is very little public property located in this BMZ and the bear densities are lower than the other BMZs open to bear hunting resulting in less hunter pressure. Due to the expanding bear population, it is anticipated that bears will be harvested in Hunterdon County in 2010.

41. COMMENT: Commenters stated that the DFW should receive state funding to continue non-lethal management techniques and black bear education programs (2579, 2879).

RESPONSE: The Council and DEP agree that non-lethal management efforts benefit all citizens and hunters alone should not bear the cost of this program (Section F. Recommendation 11., p. 20).

42. COMMENT: One commenter indicated that there was a lack of density, reproductive and cooperative research data listed in the CBBMP (2579).

RESPONSE: The CBBMP is a policy document and was not intended to be a detailed discussion of the over 30 year bear research effort by DFW. However, the broad implications of this research effort which indicated that the New Jersey bear population is a healthy, robust and expanding population are mentioned through out the CBBMP. The DFW in cooperation with East Stroudsburg University has conducted a significant amount of research pertaining to bear behavior and the general health of New Jersey's black bear population. Supporting scientific literature regarding New Jersey's black bear population used to establish the CBBMP is listed in the Literature Cited (Section VI, p. 30) and whenever possible the full text of the studies cited were posted on the DFW website.

43. COMMENT: One commenter stated that a poll conducted by the Humane Society of the United States indicated that the general public is not in favor of a bear hunting season (2579).

RESPONSE: The referenced poll and methodology were not submitted as part of the comment so it is not possible to verify its authenticity or reliability. Nevertheless, the Council and DEP based the CBBMP on sound scientific research as mandated by New Jersey statutes and the direction of the New Jersey Supreme Court to consider the best management tools available (Sections I. Introduction, p.6 and II., Decision Making, p. 7).

44. COMMENT: Commenters objected to the makeup of the Fish and Game Council (947, 2985).

RESPONSE: The Council was established by the Legislature in 1945; and the Council's current makeup of 11 members was established in 1979. The makeup and authority of Council were upheld by the New Jersey Supreme Court in 1976 (Humane Society of the U.S. vs. NJ State Fish and Game Council, 70 N.J. 565 (1976), appeal dismissed 429 U.S. 1032, 50 L.Ed. 2d 744.) and more recently the Appellate Division in 2002 (Mercer Cty. Deer Alliance vs. NJDEP, 349 NJ Super. 440). The Governor, with advice and consent of the Senate, appoints each member. Three members of the Council are farmers, recommended by the Agricultural Convention; six members are sportsmen, recommended by the State Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs; one member is a public member knowledgeable in land use management and soil conservation practices, and the final member is the Chairperson of the Endangered and Nongame Advisory Committee (N.J.S.A 13:1B-24).

Comments Beyond the Scope of the Proposal

45. COMMENT: One commenter submitted a letter to EPA regarding his concerns regarding lead contamination in the environment but did not address the CBBMP (1290).

46. COMMENT: One commenter opposed the issuance of 2 bear hunting permits (480).

Federal Standards Statement

Executive Order No. 27 (1994) and N.J.S.A. 52:14B-1 et seq. (as amended by P.L. 1995, c.65) requires State agencies that adopt, readopt or amend State regulations that exceed any Federal standards or requirements to include in the rulemaking document a Federal standards analysis.

The United States Fish and Wildlife Service regulates hunting in National Wildlife Refuge areas in New Jersey pursuant to National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act, 16, U.S.C. §668dd (1966), and regulations (50 CFR 32.49). The adopted CBBMP does not contain any standards or requirements that exceed federal regulations involving National Wildlife Refuge areas.
