

Four Monitoring Case Studies from Watershed Institute Grants

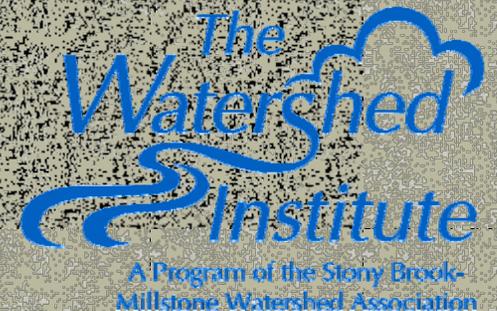

New Jersey Water Monitoring Summit

December 1, 2011

Alyse Greenberg

Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association

The Watershed Institute

Session Overview

- Introduction to the Watershed Institute and the Watershed Institute Grant Program
- Great Swamp Watershed Association Case Study
- New Jersey Invasive Species Strike Team Case Study
- South Jersey Land & Water Trust Case Study
- Musconetcong Watershed Association Case Study

The Watershed Institute

- A program of Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association
- Formed in 2000 to provide resources and support to all NJ watershed groups
- Workshops, tailored guidance, idea-sharing meetings, listserv, website, publications, small grant program

Watershed Institute Grant Program

- Initiated in 2003
- Funded by Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation (since 2003) and New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection's Volunteer Monitoring Program (since 2007)
- Provides support for organizational health and watershed management projects
- Has funded a total of 99 projects, totaling $773,705.32 in funds

Watershed Institute Grant Program

■ Monitoring Grantees

- Flat Rock Brook Nature Association (2010)
- Great Swamp Watershed Association (2008 & 2010)
- Musconetcong Watershed Association (2007 & 2009)
- Pequannock River Coalition (2009 & 2010)
- Pompeston Creek Watershed Association (2007)
- Rancocas Conservancy (2010)
- Raritan Headwaters Association (2011)
- South Branch Watershed Association (2007 & 2008)
- South Jersey Land & Water Trust (2010)
- Upper Raritan Watershed Association/NJISST (2010)

Watershed Institute Grant Program

For more information:

Alyse Greenberg

Program Coordinator, The Watershed Institute

31 Titus Mill Road, Pennington, NJ 08534

609-737-3735 x27

agreenberg@thewatershed.org

www.thewatershedinstitute.org

Case Studies

Now, on to the case studies!

