

Quote from Rosalie Weiser-Klein:

“My beloved father Jacob, a businessman in Berlin, was born in Krakow in 1898. As he was Polish, he was transported to the Plaszon labor camp, Krakow, and burned alive in a mass grave in 1943.”