Project Firstline: NJ College Tour

What is Project Firstline?

Project Firstline is a national initiative designed to provide trainings and additional education and tools regarding infection prevention and control practices to frontline healthcare workers. The goal is to provide foundational knowledge of infection prevention and control measures and emphasize the importance of implementing these protocols throughout the workday to ensure best practice in healthcare settings.

Project Firstline: College Tour Initiative

The goal is to help healthcare workers start their careers with the infection control knowledge and realities of practice they need to keep themselves and their patients safe. This initiative is part of Project Firstline, CDC's innovative infection control training collaborative, and is designed to reach the future healthcare and allied health workforce.
