Two postal clerks were shot to death in a robbery of a post office. The assailant was a former postal worker at that office who robbed it knowing the poor security at this location. Two customers were also killed and one customer was critically wounded in the incident.

Five construction workers were killed (including one who died 3 years later) and 21 other were injured in the collapse of a parking deck under construction. Five stories of the top deck collapsed during a concrete pour as the framework was insufficient to support the structural load.

Two crew members of a fishing boat (including a 16-year old) drowned after a collision with another vessel. Victims were aboard a 65-foot scallop boat when it collided with a barge, causing their boat to sink. The other two crew members survived the incident.
