

Institutional Profile Report
2011

Richard L. McCormick, President

September 16, 2011

Citizens of New Jersey:

With pride in our faculty, staff, and students, I am pleased to present the 2011 Institutional Profile Report for Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey. This document fulfills our obligation to work each year through the State of New Jersey to report timely, accurate, and informative data about our educational and administrative operations.

Rutgers takes seriously its mission of instruction, research, and service to the citizens of New Jersey and is committed to a culture of assessment and continuing improvement. Founded in 1766, Rutgers has emerged as a leading public research university and the state's only public comprehensive institution of higher education. Our membership in the prestigious Association of American Universities, our faculty's groundbreaking research on global human challenges, the many awards earned by our faculty and students, and the innovative changes in undergraduate education that have taken shape on our campuses attest to Rutgers' leadership among its peers.

The enclosed Institutional Profile Report provides important information about Rutgers. We welcome this opportunity to demonstrate the university's efforts on behalf of New Jersey and its citizens.

Sincerely yours,

Richard L. McCormick

DEFINITIONS

Branch Campus -A location of an institution that is geographically apart and independent of the main campus of the institution. The location is independent if the location: offers courses in educational programs leading to a degree, certificate, or other recognized educational credential; has its own faculty and administrative or supervisory organization; and has its own budgetary and hiring authority.

Additional Location -A location, other than a branch campus, that is geographically apart from the main campus and at which the institution offers at least 50 percent of an educational program. ANYA ("Approved but Not Yet Active") indicates that the location is included within the scope of accreditation but has not yet begun to offer courses. This designation is removed after the Commission receives notification that courses have begun at this location.

Other Instructional Sites -A location, other than a branch campus or additional location, at which the institution offers one or more courses for credit.

Distance Education Programs -Yes or No indicates whether or not the institution has been approved to offer one or more degree or certificate/diploma programs for which students could meet 50% or more of their requirements by taking distance education courses.

EXPLANATION OF COMMISSION ACTIONS

An institution's accreditation continues unless it is explicitly suspended or removed. In addition to reviewing the institution's accreditation status at least every 5 years, actions are taken for substantive changes (such as a new degree or geographic site, or a change of ownership) or when other events occur that require review for continued compliance. Any type of report or visit required by the Commission is reviewed and voted on by the Commission after it is completed.

In increasing order of seriousness, a report by an institution to the Commission may be accepted, acknowledged, or rejected.

Levels of Actions:

Grant or Re-Affirm Accreditation without follow-up

Defer a decision on initial accreditation: The institution shows promise but the evaluation team has identified issues of concern and recommends that the institution be given a specified time period to address those concerns.

Postpone a decision on (reaffirmation of) accreditation: The Commission has determined that there is insufficient information to substantiate institutional compliance with one or more standards.

Continue accreditation: A delay of up to one year may be granted to ensure a current and accurate representation of the institution or in the event of circumstances beyond the institution's control (natural disaster, U.S. State Department travel warnings, etc.)

Recommendations to be addressed in the next Periodic Review Report: Suggestions for improvement are given, but no follow-up is needed for compliance.

Supplemental Information Report: This is required when a decision is postponed and are intended only to allow the institution to provide further information, not to give the institution time to formulate plans or initiate remedial action.

Progress report: The Commission needs assurance that the institution is carrying out activities that were planned or were being implemented at the time of a report or on-site visit.

Monitoring report: There is a potential for the institution to become non-compliant with MSCHE standards; issues are more complex or more numerous; or issues require a substantive, detailed report. A visit may or may not be required.

Warning: The Commission acts to Warn an institution that its accreditation may be in jeopardy when the institution is not in compliance with one or more Commission standards and a follow-up report, called a monitoring report, is required to demonstrate that the institution has made appropriate improvements to bring itself into compliance. Warning indicates that the Commission believes that, although the institution is out of compliance, the institution has the capacity to make appropriate improvements within a reasonable period of time and the institution has the capacity to sustain itself in the long term.

Probation: The Commission places an institution on Probation when, in the Commission's judgment, the institution is not in compliance with one or more Commission standards and that the non-compliance is sufficiently serious, extensive, or acute that it raises concern about one or more of the following:

1. the adequacy of the education provided by the institution;
2. the institution's capacity to make appropriate improvements in a timely fashion; or
3. the institution's capacity to sustain itself in the long term.

Probation is often, but need not always be, preceded by an action of Warning or Postponement. If the Commission had previously postponed a decision or placed the institution on Warning, the Commission may place the institution on Probation if it determines that the institution has failed to address satisfactorily the Commission's concerns in the prior action of postponement or warning regarding compliance with Commission standards. This action is accompanied by a request for a monitoring report, and a special visit follows. Probation may, but need not always, precede an action of Show Cause.

Suspend accreditation: Accreditation has been Continued for one year and an appropriate evaluation is not possible. This is a procedural action that would result in Removal of Accreditation if accreditation cannot be reaffirmed within the period of suspension.

Show cause why the institution's accreditation should not be removed: The institution is required to present its case for accreditation by means of a substantive report and/or an on-site evaluation. A "Public Disclosure Statement" is issued by the Commission.

Remove accreditation. If the institution appeals this action, its accreditation remains in effect until the appeal is completed.

Other actions are described in the Commission policy, "Range of Commission Actions on Accreditation."

Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey

General Background

Chartered in 1766 as Queen's College, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, is the eighth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. It has a unique history: from its inception as one of the nation's nine colonial colleges, Rutgers grew to become the land-grant college of New Jersey in 1864, and to assume full university status in 1924. Legislative acts of 1945 and 1956 designating it "The State University of New Jersey" qualified it as the youngest of the nation's major public research universities. The University of Newark merged with Rutgers in 1946, and the College of South Jersey in Camden joined in 1950. All of the university's property and educational facilities are imparted with a public trust for higher education of the people of the State.

In the short span of several decades, Rutgers transformed from a disparate collection of schools, geographically dispersed and operating largely independently, into the ranks of the most prestigious educational institutions. That advancement was recognized in 1989 when Rutgers was invited to join the Association of American Universities (AAU). Dedicated to a threefold mission, Rutgers is equally committed to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and public service. Driving all of Rutgers' activities is the defining characteristic of a premier research university: the continuous and vigorous creation of intellectual capital—the new discoveries and insights that drive the advancement of human knowledge and contribute to the improvement of the human condition. The very same intellectual and physical resources that distinguish Rutgers as a comprehensive research university that creates and advances knowledge enable it to provide the kind of education that best prepares its undergraduates to participate in and contribute to today's intricate and fast-changing, knowledge-intensive world.

University Mission

As New Jersey's sole comprehensive public research university, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, has the threefold mission of:

- providing for the instructional needs of New Jersey's citizens through its undergraduate, graduate, and continuing education programs;
- conducting the cutting-edge research that contributes to the medical, environmental, social, and cultural well-being of the state, as well as aiding the economy and the state's businesses and industries; and
- performing public service in support of the needs of the citizens of the state and its local, county, and state governments.

Each component of the university's mission reinforces and supports the other two. For example, research creates the new knowledge so necessary to support quality instruction and innovative public service. The mission of the university is accomplished through its three regional campuses (Camden, Newark, and New Brunswick) and the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, which complement and support each other, permitting the most effective use of state resources.

University Campuses and Academic Structure

New Brunswick is the birthplace of Rutgers and is home to the university's largest campus. The New Brunswick Campus actually comprises five smaller campuses, each reflecting the university's historical evolution: the College Avenue Campus in New Brunswick (74 acres)—the site of Rutgers College, as original Queen's College was renamed in 1825; the Cook Campus in New Brunswick and North Brunswick (753 acres)—originally the site of the experimental farm of the land-grant Rutgers Scientific School, later Cook College, and now the School of Environmental and Biological Sciences; the Douglass Campus in New Brunswick (150 acres)—site of the New Jersey College for Women, later renamed Douglass College; and across the Raritan River, the Busch Campus in Piscataway (771 acres)—site of many science facilities; and the Livingston Campus in Piscataway and Edison (935 acres)—site of Livingston College, founded in 1969 as a shared learning community committed to academic innovation and excellence. In March 2006, the university approved the restructuring of undergraduate education in New Brunswick resulting in the merger of the university's four liberal arts colleges of Douglass, Livingston, Rutgers, and University College into a single "School of Arts and Sciences."

Tracing its origins to 1908, Rutgers–Newark today is housed on 38 acres in the downtown area of Newark, New Jersey's largest city. It is the northernmost campus of Rutgers, located just 20 minutes from New York City. The Camden Campus (29 acres) is located in the heart of the Camden Waterfront and metropolitan Philadelphia region. It began in the 1920s as an amalgam of the College of South Jersey and the South Jersey Law School.

In total, the university operates research and instructional facilities on 5,973 acres in 13 counties and 28 municipalities. As of July 2011, university degrees are awarded by 28 schools and colleges. In New Brunswick, 13 colleges and schools offered degrees; in Newark, eight colleges and schools offered degrees; in both Newark and New Brunswick, the Rutgers Business School: Graduate Programs–Newark and New Brunswick offered degrees; and in Camden, six colleges and schools offered degrees.

In June 2008, the Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE) reaffirmed the university's accreditation without conditions. Certain programs at the university are also accredited by professional accreditation associations. Among these include the AACSB International–The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business; the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, Inc. (ABET); and the Association of American Law Schools and American Bar Association.

Enrollment in Remediation Courses, Fall 2010

All newly admitted first-year students will take Rutgers University's placement tests. Transfer students entering Rutgers without an equivalent English writing course or math course will also be required to take placement tests. The placement tests are designed to provide information about students' individual skills in the English language and in mathematics. The test results will be used to place students in the courses and sections appropriate to their level of preparation.

Members of the National Academies

Election to membership in the National Academies is one of the highest honors a scientist can attain. These four prestigious bodies—the National Academy of Sciences, the National Academy of Engineering, the Institute of Medicine, and the National Research Council—bring together the nation's top experts to advise the federal government on critical issues.

Rutgers faculty who are currently members of the National Academies are:

National Academy of Sciences

Future Scientists

Sid the Science Kid, the popular PBS television program, would not be the same without Rutgers professor Rochel Gelman. Elected to the National Academy of Sciences in 2006, Gelman is an expert on creating environments that foster interest in math and science. Her approach, which builds on children's natural curiosity to introduce scientific methods of inquiry, has made Sid a major hit among the preschool set. Learn more.

Faculty Honors

Rutgers faculty are internationally recognized for the work they do to create new knowledge, generate innovative ideas, and prepare the next generation of leaders.

They have won the National Medals of Science and Technology, Guggenheim Fellowships, MacArthur "Genius" Awards, and Fulbright Scholarships, and been named Professor of the Year.

They have been elected to the most prestigious scholarly societies: the National Academy of Sciences, National Academy of Engineering, Institute of Medicine, American Academy of Arts and Sciences, American Academy of Arts and Letters, and American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Recent Recognition

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

The academy, one of the nation's most prestigious honorary societies, has elected Gregory Moore and Thomas Banks as members. Both are physics professors in the School of Arts and Sciences specializing in string theory.

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF ARTS AND LETTERS

Mark Doty, professor of English in the School of Arts and Sciences, was one of eight recipients of the Arts and Letters Award in Literature. A renowned poet, he also was elected a chancellor of the Academy of American Poets.

FULBRIGHT COMMISSION

Ethel Brooks, associate professor of women's and gender studies in the School of Arts and Sciences, received the Fulbright-University of the Arts London Distinguished Chair Award. While in London, she will carry out research on Romani gypsies and deliver a lecture series in conjunction with the Tate Gallery.

GRETE LUNDBECK EUROPEAN BRAIN RESEARCH FOUNDATION

Gyorgy Buzsaki, a professor at Rutgers' Center for Molecular and Behavioral Neuroscience in Newark, will share the foundation's €1 million "Brain Prize" with two other neuroscientists for research that is illuminating the causes of such diseases as epilepsy, Parkinson's disease, and dementia.

AMERICAN PHYSICAL SOCIETY

Noemie Koller, emerita professor of physics, is the winner of the society's 2010 Nicholson Medal for Human Outreach, in recognition of her efforts on behalf of human rights and her leadership in creating equal opportunities for women.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE

N.J. Professor of the Year

Rutgers professor Scott Glenn, who led a team of faculty, students, and staff in a successful effort to send the first submersible robot glider across an ocean, has been named the 2010 New Jersey Professor of the Year. The award from the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching and the Council for Advancement and Support of Education recognizes outstanding educators for their work with undergraduate students. Learn more.

High-Performing Physicists

Ten assistant professors in Rutgers' Department of Physics

Six Rutgers professors achieved the rank of fellow in 2011, joining 43 previous Rutgers AAAS fellows. The new fellows are: Eva Y. Andrei (pictured) and Karin M. Rabe, professors of physics; Karl F. Nordstrom, professor of marine and coastal sciences; Barbara J. Turpin, professor of environmental sciences; Eileen White, professor of molecular biology and biochemistry; and Chung S. Yang, professor of chemical biology.

PRESIDENTIAL EARLY CAREER AWARD FOR SCIENTISTS AND ENGINEERS

This highly prestigious award went to Mauricio Delgado, assistant professor of psychology on Rutgers' Newark Campus, in recognition of his exceptional potential for leadership in research and demonstrated commitment to community service.

WOODROW WILSON INTERNATIONAL CENTER FOR SCHOLARS

Two Rutgers professors were named Woodrow Wilson Fellows for 2010–2011. David Greenberg, associate professor of history and journalism and media studies, and Susan Carruthers, professor of history in Newark, are spending the academic year conducting independent research in Washington, D.C.

and Astronomy at the School of Arts and Sciences have won coveted Faculty Early Career Development Program awards since 2005—a number on par with physics powerhouses Cornell and Princeton universities. These high-performing, young professors have brought $15 million in research grants to the department, allowing Rutgers to establish promising research programs across several areas. RESEARCH HIGHLIGHTS

The Creation of Knowledge. Creating knowledge and transmitting it to present and future generations is the very essence of a research university. Rutgers students, both undergraduate and graduate, are exploring the human experience and the natural universe, and opening doors to new discoveries. They are following paths that prepare them to become tomorrow's innovators and leaders.

Research in the News...

Some Crustaceans Can Survive Better in Polluted Waters than Their Finfish Predators

Rutgers research furthers the understanding of how pollution affects marine life.

The Energy Debate: Coal vs. Nuclear

Rutgers researcher finds factors other than global warming and potential for plant accidents figure into Americans' preferences

Rutgers Professor Michael Greenberg examines Americans' risk beliefs and preferences for coal and nuclear energy and finds factors other than global warming and the potential for nuclear power plant accidents figure into their choices.

Exploding Stars and Stripes

Pattern of X-ray 'stripes' in supernova remnant could explain how cosmic rays are produced

The discovery of a pattern of X-ray "stripes" in the remains of an exploded star may provide the first direct evidence that a cosmic event can accelerate particles to energies a hundred times higher than achieved by the most powerful particle accelerator on Earth.

Learning from Volcanic Eruptions 200 Million Years Ago

Scientists took samples in New Jersey for latest research

Pour enough magma out through Earth's crust, and you can change the atmosphere radically.

Where in the World Is Rutgers

Rutgers' campuses are located in the great state of New Jersey, one of America's 13 original colonies. Packed with history, firsts—and people—it is where Washington crossed the Delaware, Edison invented the electric light, and the boardwalk and baseball were born. It is home to 8.7 million residents—the small but powerful sweet spot between New York and Pennsylvania. With its tremendous density and diversity—of terrain, communities, arts and culture, transportation, and businesses—New Jersey is now and future America in microcosm, the ideal proving ground for new ideas. And Rutgers has always been its trusted partner in moving forward.

Off-Campus Locations

Rutgers is The State University of New Jersey, which means we are busy and active throughout the state. Not only do we offer degree programs and courses at satellite campuses and other locations, but we also maintain business centers that nurture commerce and field stations that monitor our forests, meadowlands, and seas. Wherever you go in New Jersey, chances are Rutgers thinkers are at work nearby.

LEARNING ACROSS NEW JERSEY

Continuous education courses help individuals grow personally and professionally. Research field stations draw scientists and visitors from around the world. Business incubators and the New Jersey Small Business Development Centers network (with offices serving all 21 counties in the state) nurture new enterprise. Parks and nature trails are available for recreation and exploration. And Rutgers Cooperative Extension—also present in all 21 New Jersey counties—brings Rutgers' knowledge to the homes, schools, farms, gardens, and offices of our state.

Attractions & Destinations

Rutgers has a wealth of enlightening and engaging attractions and destinations for visitors of all ages. Whether it's stargazing or deep-sea exploration, jazz or chamber music, visual arts or gardening, the State University of New Jersey is involved and likely breaking new ground. It's a place to delve into history as well as catch a glimpse of the future, and the things to see and do here are as diverse as our student body and the vibrant cultural areas we call home. Convenient to New York City, Philadelphia, and the Jersey Shore, our campuses are probably right along your way.

Three Great Destinations

Only at Rutgers

For a singular experience in New Jersey, try any of these terrific Rutgers attractions. Whether it's an unusual collection of American hollies, a new exhibit featuring a century of American woodcuts, or Miles Davis's trumpet, you'll find something exciting and leave these destinations feeling enlightened and refreshed.

50 acres are yours to explore at the Rutgers Gardens, a world of flowering trees, shrubs, annuals, and perennials on the outskirts of the George H. Cook Campus in New Brunswick. The largest bamboo forest in New Jersey is just one of many gems to discover at the Rutgers Gardens.

17,000 works make up the foremost collection of dissident art from the former Soviet Union. The collection is the centerpiece of the Jane Voorhees Zimmerli Art Museum at Rutgers—New Brunswick, one of the finest university museums of art in the nation.

100,000 recorded works of jazz are housed at the world-renowned Institute of Jazz Studies at Rutgers—Newark. With its more than 100 distinct archival collections, the institute was called "one of world's treasures" by renowned documentary filmmaker Ken Burns who tapped its collections in making his PBS series, Jazz.

The Gateway

"An entrance should make a strong, incisive statement because it creates the first impression," artist Clyde Lynds says of the aptly named Gateway in Camden.

Located at Fourth and Cooper streets, the Gateway is two 10-foot high, glass panel walls that marks a transition from the city to the Camden Campus. At night, all 23 glass panels, etched with illustrations of prominent moments in civilization, are illuminated, highlighting an additional sculpture made of concrete, fiber optics, and glass that features a display of flickering light.

The $1 million project, installed in September 2007, helped transform an underutilized street into a pedestrian-only green space. Learn more.

Solar energy facility weather stations in Atlantic City, High Point, and other New Jersey communities are operated by the Office of the New Jersey State Climatologist at Rutgers, supplying real-time weather information to enhance the safety and security of state residents.
- Rutgers Agricultural Research and Extension Center
The Rutgers Agricultural Research and Extension Center helps New Jersey's farmers-and the state's environmental well-being-through research into the production of crops with maximum economic benefit and minimum environmental risk.
- Rutgers EcoComplex
The Rutgers EcoComplex, an environmental research and outreach center, serves as a resource hub for the state's environmental and renewable energy industries. The EcoComplex received the Governor's Environmental Excellence Award in the innovative technology category for 2008.
- Solar Energy Facility
The university has constructed one of the largest campus solar energy facilities in the nation. The 1.4 megawatt solar farm reduces the university's carbon dioxide emissions by more than 1,300 tons per year. A New Jersey Board of Public Utilities program helped fund the project.

Advancing Education for Professionals, Underserved Populations, and K-12 Students

- Project L/EARN
The program provides an intensive summer internship for undergraduates from groups that have been underrepresented in graduate schools and health research careers.
- Rutgers Division of Continuing Studies
Continuing and professional education courses are offered from Cape May to Vernon, as well as online (through eCollege at Rutgers University), helping the state's workforce stay current in fields as diverse as engineering and social work.
- Rutgers Future Scholars
Each year, 200 eighth-graders from Camden, Newark, New Brunswick, and Piscataway are selected for the program, which provides low-income, academically-talented students with support through high school. Those students who successfully complete the program will be admitted to Rutgers and attend the university tuition- and fee-free.
- Rutgers Science Explorer
The Rutgers Science Explorer, a 40-foot, state-of-the-art, custom-designed mobile laboratory, travels to schools around the state. Staffed by Rutgers scientists, the bus provides interactive science instruction and demonstrations for middle school and junior high students.

Assisting Industry and Training the State's Workforce

- Center for Urban Entrepreneurship and Economic Development
The center brings together city and state officials, businesses, community agencies, entrepreneurs, and academics to transform the landscape of the state's cities through job creation and entrepreneurship.
- Food Innovation Center
The center provides business and technology expertise to small and mid-sized food companies in New Jersey, offering expertise in areas such as business development, market research, product development, and workforce training.
- Haskin Shellfish Research Laboratory
A task force coordinated by Rutgers' Haskin Shellfish Research Laboratory is helping revive the Delaware Bay oyster fishery. Researchers estimate an economic return on investment of $40 for every $1 of tax money invested in the project.
- The Intersect Fund
Rutgers students are using a homegrown version of a Nobel Prize-winning microfinancing concept to provide business loans and training to low-income and other disadvantaged entrepreneurs.
- MBA Team Consulting Program
New Jersey businesses seek the expertise of Rutgers MBAs—even before they graduate. Through the MBA Team Consulting Program at Rutgers Business School–Newark and New Brunswick, MBA students provide consulting services to Fortune 500 companies, not-for-profits, state agencies, and entrepreneurs.
- New Jersey Small Business Development Centers
At Rutgers, branch offices of the New Jersey Small Business Development Centers help small businesses and entrepreneurs expand operations, manage growth, and launch new ventures.

Helping People and Communities

- Career Days
Rutgers' Office of Career Services annually sponsors more public job fairs than any other college or university in the country, bringing together hundreds of employers and thousands of job seekers each year.
- Rutgers Against Hunger
Rutgers Against Hunger is seeking to increase awareness of hunger, encourage activism to tackle hunger, stimulate research to assist those in need, and provide immediate relief through food drives and other events to raise money and collect food.
- Rutgers Cooperative Extension
With offices in all of New Jersey's 21 counties, Rutgers Cooperative Extension brings university research to New Jersey's communities through 4-H youth programs, master gardening, nutrition education, and other initiatives.
- Student Projects at the Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy
Through fieldwork and hands-on studio classes, students are helping New Jersey communities consider innovative ideas and options for neighborhood revitalization, community redevelopment, transit hubs, and parkland.
- Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program
Through the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program, hundreds of low-income New Jersey citizens receive help preparing their income tax returns from Rutgers School of Law-Camden students.

NEWARK

12 CENTRAL HEATING PLANT UPGRADE

- ◆ This project was required to meet new emissions standards set by the DEP to lower the NOx levels in the Central Heating Plant’s outlet exhaust stack. The project included modifications to the three high temperature hot water generators to accept new low NOx Burners, and to add hot gas recirculation for the exhaust air of each generator. Additionally new electrical switchgear and an emergency generator were added to carry the load of the plant and to add system reliability. (no map provided)
- ◆ The project is nearing completion. A final contractor punch list has been created and is being worked off. The required DEP emission testing was completed satisfactorily and submitted to the DEP in early May, 2011 for 5 of the 6 operating conditions. High vibration on #3 generator now requires the university to replace the exhaust stack damper for better air flow control.
