October 2007

October 2007

The Honorable Jon S. Corzine Governor State of New Jersey State House Trenton, NJ

Dear Governor Corzine,

We are pleased to provide you with the Campus Security Task Force Report. As you are aware, the Campus Security Task Force was created in response to the horrific events that occurred on the campus of Virginia Tech University in April 2007. The Campus Security Task Force consisted of representatives of New Jersey college and university campus police, public safety and emergency management offices along with subject matter experts in higher education administration, law enforcement and mental health. We would like to thank the members of the Campus Security Task Force who dedicated their time and efforts to this important public service.

The Campus Security Task Force was charged with making recommendations to improve the safety and security of campus community members at New Jersey's 59 colleges and universities. The Campus Security Task Force recommendations, outlined in this report, focus on enhancing campus emergency management plans, providing mental health awareness training to campus community members, enhancing procedures to properly notify campus community members of an emergency and establishing formalized relationships with state and local law enforcement, emergency management agencies, mental health providers and other appropriate partners.

We look forward to discussing the Campus Security Task Force recommendations with you as we continue our efforts to ensure that New Jersey's places of higher learning remain safe and secure environments, environments that are conducive to the exchange and incubation of ideas that can benefit the state and its residents for years to come.

Sincerely,

Richard L. Cañas

CAMPUS SECURITY TASK FORCE REPORT

OCTOBER 2007

OVERVIEW

Following the horrific events that took place on the campus of Virginia Tech University, the Campus Security Task Force was created to ensure New Jersey colleges and universities had procedures in place to prevent and respond to and recover from campus emergencies. It included representatives of campus police, public safety, and emergency management along with subject matter experts in higher education administration, law enforcement, and mental health and was co-chaired by Richard L. Cañas, Director of the New Jersey Office of Homeland Security and Preparedness and Jane Oates, Executive Director of the New Jersey Commission on Higher Education. A complete listing of Campus Security Task Force members is attached as Appendix A.

New Jersey's 59 colleges and universities were required to submit their existing campus emergency management plans to the Campus Security Task Force for review. The recommendations outlined in the report, in part, result from the review of existing campus emergency management plans. The Campus Security Task Force recommendations are designed to provide colleges and universities with the resources, support, and expertise they need to protect students, faculty, and staff. The recommendations focus on:

- Enhancing campus emergency management plans
- Providing mental health awareness training to campus community members
- Developing policies and procedures to properly and promptly deliver emergency notifications to campus community members
- Establishing formalized relationships with state and local law enforcement, emergency management agencies, mental health providers, and other appropriate partners.

The Campus Security Task Force chose to concentrate on what can be done collaboratively and effectively to enhance the safety of our college and university campuses within the framework of existing laws rather than recommend "one size fits all" mandates or legislative changes to state laws concerning mental health and gun control, the latter are considered to be some of the strictest laws in the nation.

BACKGROUND

The Campus Security Task Force commends the work done by campus police and public safety departments in their efforts to guarantee the safety and security of their respective campus communities. Fourteen of the state's colleges and universities have campus police departments with full-time sworn officers who possess full law enforcement authority to prevent and respond to criminal activity and other acts of emergency. The remaining colleges and universities employ the services of non-sworn public safety departments with contracted or college-employed security personnel responsible for the safety and security of their respective campuses. The non-sworn public safety departments use the law enforcement services of either the municipal or county agencies in their respective jurisdictions when those services are required. The Campus Security Task Force reported that there have been five campus shootings over the last 15 years in New Jersey, none of which involved a student targeting fellow students. While New Jersey has been fortunate not to experience an event similar to the Virginia Tech shootings, state government leaders formed the Campus Security Task Force to assess the status of campus security and, more importantly, to attempt to prevent a horrific incident from occurring on a New Jersey college or university campus.

I. Emergency Management Plans & Best Security Practices

Amend Emergency Management Plans to include Critical Elements and Protocols for High-Probability Incidents

The Campus Security Task Force is committed to ensuring colleges and universities maintain a certain degree of flexibility when developing and amending emergency management plans to suit their specific needs. Colleges and universities in this state are diverse and their approach to campus security should be consistent with their unique needs and individual missions. While the Campus Security Task Force recognizes it would not be practical to require a prescribed format, or "one-size fits all" template, it has determined emergency management plans should include certain critical elements along with protocols to address incidents that are highly probable to occur on campus.

Specifically, the Campus Security Task Force recommends emergency management plans include the following critical elements:

- Threat & Vulnerability Assessments
- Campus Community Training
- Incident Command Structure
- Public Information
- Continuity of Operations
- After Action Reports

Additionally, the Campus Security Task Force recommends emergency management plans utilize threat and vulnerability assessments to develop annexes to address high probability and/or high impact situations for the campus, including, but not limited to the following types of incidents, as applicable and where appropriate:

- Active shooter on campus
- Acts of terrorism
- Bomb threat on/to the campus
- Civil disturbances and demonstrations
- Criminal or violent behavior
- Escaped animals
- Floods
- Fire Safety
- Hazardous materials releases, including, chemical, biological and radiological substances
- Hazardous weather emergencies
- Hostage threats on/around campus
- Hurricane preparedness
- Natural disasters
- Pandemics
- Pathogenic microorganisms
- Radioactivity releases
- Utility failure
- Other high probability incidents likely to occur based on threat and vulnerability assessments.

The Campus Security Task Force recommends colleges and universities file by October 31, 2007, existing emergency management plans with the county office of emergency management and the municipal police department and the municipal office of emergency management in which the college or university is located. Amended emergency management plans, incorporating the critical elements identified above are to be filed by January 15, 2008. The Campus Security Task Force recommends colleges and universities share emergency management plans with relevant partners, including but not limited to, county prosecutor's office, county sheriff's office, and the county health department. The Campus Security Task Force notes that the International Association of Campus Law Enforcement Administrators (IACLEA), working with the United States Department of Homeland Security, has developed a threat and vulnerability self-assessment tool as well as model campus emergency management plans, which are available for review. The Campus Security Task Force encourages colleges and universities to consider using the IACLEA model campus emergency management plan as a guide when amending their respective plans.

Exercise Emergency Management Plans Annually

The Campus Security Task Force recommends annual exercises of emergency management plans. Annual exercising offers colleges and universities the opportunity to test the effectiveness of emergency management plans and identify weaknesses and areas in need of improvement. Colleges and universities are encouraged to work with the Office of Homeland Security and Preparedness, the Presidents' Council Homeland Security Planning Committee, the International Association of Campus Law Enforcement Administrators (IACLEA), the New Jersey College and University Public Safety Association (NJCUPSA), the International Association of Emergency Managers (IAEM), and the Universities and Colleges Committee (UCC) when conducting annual exercising.

NJCUPSA has agreed to provide training for campus security personnel and assist colleges and universities with amending their emergency management plans. The IAEM UCC, the professional association for campus-based emergency management practitioners, is another resource New Jersey's colleges and universities can utilize when developing, updating, and exercising emergency management plans.

Update Higher Education Sector Best Security Practices

The Campus Security Task Force recommends the Commission on Higher Education update the Higher Education Best Security Practices and submit to the New Jersey Domestic Security Preparedness Task Force for review and endorsement by January 15, 2008. The Campus Security Task Force recommends the Commission on Higher Education work with the Presidents' Council Homeland Security Planning Committee, the Critical Infrastructure Protection unit within the Office of Homeland Security and Preparedness, the International Association of Campus Law Enforcement Administrators (IACLEA), the New Jersey College and University Public Safety Association (NJCUPSA), the International Association of Emergency Managers (IAEM), and the New Jersey College Health and Environmental Safety Society (NJCHESS) when updating the higher education sector best security practices.

II. Providing Mental Health Services to Campus Community

Current Laws and Procedures

Mental health is an important issue with serious societal implications that require deliberative and responsible public policies. Given the circumstances concerning the reported flaws in the delivery of essential mental healthcare services at Virginia Tech, the Campus Security Task Force chose to review the policies and procedures in place in New Jersey concerning the provision of mental health services to campus community members in need of these services, rather than contemplate changes to existing state laws. Unlike Virginia, New Jersey law does not allow for involuntary outpatient treatment for individuals in need of mental health care. N.J.S.A. 30: 4-27.1, et. seq. calls for an individual to be involuntarily committed if he/she is unwilling to be admitted voluntarily and is determined to be found, by reason of mental illness, dangerous to self, others, or property, and needs care at a psychiatric facility because other services are not appropriate or available to meet their mental health needs. Further, New Jersey law allows a state or local law enforcement officer to take custody of an individual and bring him/her to a screening center if the officer has reasonable cause to believe he/she is in need of involuntary commitment. The law requires the individual to be involuntarily committed and admitted to a mental health facility as soon as possible and authorizes the screening service to transport the individual or arrange for transportation of the individual to the appropriate facility. The law calls for an individual to have a hearing with respect to the issue of continuing need for involuntary commitment within 20 days from the initial involuntary commitment.

Mental Health Subcommittee

Recognizing the challenges colleges and universities face when deciding to exclude and/or remove a student from the campus community, the Campus Security Task Force gave thoughtful consideration to the issue of balancing collective security against individual liberties. The Campus Security Task Force was well served by the addition of a mental health expert on the panel, who convened a subcommittee to assist with the development of a mental health awareness training program. The subcommittee provided the Campus Security Task Force with an inventory of mental health services and agencies available to colleges and universities located throughout the state, which is attached as Appendix B. A listing of the Mental Health Subcommittee members is attached as Appendix C.

Mental Health Awareness Training Program

The Campus Security Task Force recommends colleges and universities provide mental health awareness training to campus community members annually. Specifically, the Campus Security Task Force recommends the Office of Homeland Security and Preparedness fund the mental health awareness-training program developed by the Mental Health Subcommittee be provided to students and key campus personnel at all colleges and universities by July 31, 2008. The Office of Homeland Security and Preparedness has agreed to fund this training.

The training program is designed to:

- Increase awareness of mental health issues facing individuals on and around college and university campuses.
- Remind colleges and universities of the importance of information sharing.
- Review the provision of mental health services to individuals in need of these services.
- Address information sharing and "duty to protect" responsibilities.

The training program will include, "kick-off" events to coincide with the start of the new semester, live training sessions for every college and university, train-the-trainer sessions using subject matter experts as well as the provision of training materials, which include Web-based resources. The Campus Security Task Force recommends the Commission on Higher Education work with the New Jersey Presidents' Council to develop a geographically based training schedule to ensure efficient delivery of training to all colleges and universities and develop a plan to institutionalize this type of training so that it may be provided on an annual basis.

Mental Health Subcommittee Recommendations

Additionally, the Campus Security Task Force adopts the following Mental Health Subcommittee recommendations:

Ensure Campus Counseling Centers are Adequately Staffed and Sufficiently Funded

The Sub-Committee determined that an adequately staffed and sufficiently funded counseling center involved in the campus community is critical to the well being of students. Counseling staff must be actively involved in crisis intervention planning and response efforts. This may include outreach efforts, developing crisis protocols, professional development for staff, and maintaining an appropriate student-to-staff ratio. The staffing standard recommended by the International Association of Counseling Services (IACS) for mental health professionals in a campus setting is at least one counselor or full-time equivalent per 1,500 students. A comprehensive campus counseling center Website that contains links to wellness and mental health information, as well as on-line screenings, should be prominently displayed on a college/university homepage. Colleges and universities are encouraged to provide ongoing professional development opportunities for mental health counseling staff on the latest practices used to respond to mental health crises.

The Campus Security Task Force recommends colleges and universities report to the Commission on Higher Education the staffing and funding status of campus counseling centers by January 15, 2008.

Establish a Policy and Procedures Manual

The Subcommittee recommended campus counseling centers establish a Policy and Procedures Manual with guidelines to assess and treat a variety of situations which should include detailed crisis protocols for responding to the death of a student, rape and/or sexual assault, suicidal gestures or attempts, serious self-mutilation, psychosis, aggressive behavior, severe eating disorders, and other traumatic events. The Policy and Procedures Manual should include detailed procedures for inpatient hospitalization as well as a formalized medical leave policy and procedures for reentering the campus community.

Conduct Outreach Activities to Campus Community Members

The Subcommittee recommended all colleges and universities incorporate outreach activities that are designed to decrease the mental health stigma on campus and allow for interaction with students who may not otherwise seek formal counseling services. Outreach on campus may include the following:

- Providing mental health awareness sessions for students and parents as part of freshman orientation
- Training to recognize signs of depression
- Conducting psycho-educational workshops on alcohol/drug education, stress reduction, and test anxiety
- Requiring participation in orientation events designed to inform students about mental health services on and off campus
- Visiting classrooms to inform students about available services
- Distributing wallet-sized resource cards with emergency contact information, campus security, counseling services and suicide hotlines
- Publishing promotional materials that provide social normative information
- Using the Internet to include comprehensive information about counseling services as well as links to wellness and mental health information and self-help screenings.

The Campus Security Task Force recommends colleges and universities report to the Commission on Higher Education on the outreach efforts conducted to increase awareness on the mental health services available to campus community members on an annual basis by July 31, 2008, and no later than July 31 of each year thereafter.

Establish Campus Crisis Intervention Teams

The Subcommittee recommended greater information sharing occur on campus among various campus personnel when a student is considered to be at risk. By bringing together representatives from different segments of the campus, such as counseling services, health services, residential life, campus security, disability services, athletics, academic affairs, and legal affairs, there is a greater possibility of identifying a student who may be displaying patterns of behavior that cause concern. The Subcommittee concluded that a multidisciplinary team would be able to develop appropriate intervention strategies as well as coordinated and timely responses when required.

The Subcommittee reported that the requirements of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) and other privacy laws and regulations cause uncertainty among campus education and healthcare officials and inhibit the flow of essential information.

The Campus Security Task Force recommends college and university officials work with their legal counsel to develop information sharing practices and seek clarification on the laws and regulations concerning permitted disclosure of certain healthcare information to necessary parties, which may include law enforcement and, if appropriate, parents of students who are considered to be a danger to themselves or others, and/or are considered to be in danger of becoming a risk to themselves or others. The Campus Security Task Force recommends colleges and universities report to the Commission on Higher Education the status of campus crisis intervention teams, detailing their composition and activities to date by January 15, 2008.

Establish Agreements with Mental Health Agencies

The Subcommittee determined greater communication should exist between college counseling centers and local mental health providers and hospitals. In formalizing a working relationship with outside mental health agencies and hospitals, campus counseling centers can be privy to information regarding student assessment, discharge, and treatment recommendations, placing campus counseling centers in a better position to follow-up with students upon their return to campus. Because of a campus counseling center's limited staffing, the support of local mental health agencies and providers enhances a center's efforts to adequately respond to students in need. The Subcommittee reported that the Division of Mental Health Services in the New Jersey Department of Human Services has an important role in coordinating mental health activities, which include, coordination of local response, recovery, credentialing, and recommends their inclusion in the development of mutual aid agreements with neighboring emergency response agencies and with counseling centers at surrounding colleges and universities to provide the necessary professional assistance during an emergency event when resources may be overwhelmed. The Campus Security Task Force recommends colleges and universities report to the Commission on Higher Education and the Office of Homeland Security and Preparedness the status of formal agreements with local mental health providers and/or other college counseling centers by July 31, 2008.

III. Emergency Notification Plan & Clery Act Compliance

Establish Campus Emergency Notification Plan

The issue of emergency notification to the campus community was widely examined and heavily debated in the aftermath of the Virginia Tech shootings. After a review of existing campus emergency management plans, the Campus Security Task Force recommends colleges and universities establish an Emergency Notification Plan by January 15, 2008. The Campus Security Task Force recommends colleges and universities consider the use of available technology when developing notification plans; but does not endorse a specific communication system. The Campus Security Task Force recommends emergency notification plans contain redundant notification delivery methods, ranging from basic person-to-person notification to more sophisticated use of electronic devices, incorporating the latest advances in technology. While the Campus Security Task Force recognizes cell phones, text messaging, emails, and other electronic means as effective tools to notify the campus community of an emergency, it cautions colleges and universities to avoid reliance on any one form of notification, particularly any system in which the delivery of an emergency notification could be limited or thwarted because of technological glitches or system failures common with certain forms of electronic communication.

The Campus Security Task Force also recommends annual testing of emergency notification plans to identify weaknesses and areas in need of improvement.

Maintain Full Compliance with the Clery Act

Colleges and universities participating in any federal student aid program are required to comply with the federal Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Crime Statistics Act, (20 USC § 1092(f)), "the Clery Act." The law is intended to provide students and their families with accurate, complete, and timely information about campus safety. The Clery Act requires colleges and universities adhere to three basic tenets, Policy Disclosure, Records Collection and Retention, and Information Dissemination. An overview of the Clery Act key components is attached as Appendix D. In short, the Clery Act requires colleges and universities to provide a "timely" warning of any crime that might represent an ongoing threat to the safety of the campus community, enabling campus community members to take actions to protect themselves. The Campus Security Task Force reports that while most New Jersey colleges and universities meet the requirements of the Clery Act, it recommends all colleges and universities seek training for staff to ensure full compliance with the Clery Act requirements, in particular full compliance with the requirement concerning the reporting of all crimes and statistics.

IV. Information Sharing & Communication Practices

Formalize Information Sharing with State and Local Partners

The Campus Security Task Force recommends enhanced communication between colleges and universities and local first-responders, mirroring the intent of Model School Security Policy outlined in Attorney General Directive No. 2007-1, which directs education officials to share information and interact regularly with local law enforcement. Specifically, Attorney General Directive No. 2007-1 requires college and university campus security law enforcement agencies to provide policies for bomb threats, active shooter, school lockdowns, school evacuation, and public information to the Director of the Division of Criminal Justice within the New Jersey Department of Law and Public Safety and the County Prosecutor in which the college/university is located.

The Campus Security Task Force recommends colleges and universities with non-sworn public safety departments, who are not subject to the requirements of Attorney General Directive No. 2007-1, execute memorandums of agreement with local law enforcement and first-responder agencies, including but not limited to, county prosecutor, county sheriff, county office of emergency management, county department of health, municipal police department, municipal fire department, municipal office of emergency management, municipal emergency medical services agency, and the municipal public health department.

The Campus Security Task Force recommends all colleges and universities establish an articulated communication plan with the municipal law enforcement agency and municipal office of emergency management in which the college or university is located. The Campus Security Task Force recommends colleges and universities enter into formal agreements with relevant state departments and agencies, which may include but are not limited to, the New Jersey State Police, State Office of Emergency Management, Office of Homeland Security and Preparedness, the Department of Health and Senior Services, the Division of Mental Health Services within the Department of Human Services, the Division of Fire Safety within the Department of Community Affairs, and other agencies and divisions as appropriate. The Campus Security Task Force also encourages colleges and universities to enter into formal agreements with nearby colleges and universities in an effort to improve upon the communications practices currently in place.

Mental Health Services and Agencies

Listed by county are screening /crisis centers, short-term care facilities, county and state psychiatric institutions and outpatient programs. Organizations that have indicated a current affiliation or a desire to explore an affiliation with a New Jersey college or university are indicated with an asterisk. A brief description of available services is listed below.

Screening Center

A public or private ambulatory care service designated by the Commissioner of the Department of Human Services, that provides mental health services, including assessment, emergency and referral services to mentally ill persons in a specified geographical area. Screening is the process by which it is ascertained that the individual being considered for commitment meets the standards for both mental illness and dangerousness as defined in P.L. 1987, c. 116 (N.J.S.A. 30.4-27.1 et. seq.) and that all stabilization options have been explored or exhausted. A primary screening center is designated for each county.

Emergency Services

Emergency Service is the provision of service to people in crisis. It includes mental health and social service provision or procurement and advocacy. Emergency services offer immediate crisis intervention services and service procurement to relieve the client's distress and to help maintain or recover his or her level of functioning. Emphasis is on stabilization, so the client can actively participate in needs assessment and service planning. It is affiliated with a Designated Screening Center.

Short Term Care Facilities (STCF's)

Acute care adult psychiatric units in a general hospital for the short-term admission of individuals who meet the legal standards for commitment and require intensive treatment. All admissions to STCF's must be referred through an emergency or designated screening center. STCF's are designated by the state Division of Mental Health Services to serve a specific geographic area, usually a county.

State and County Psychiatric Hospitals

The psychiatric residential mental health facilities operated by the state and counties are authorized to accept persons in need of involuntary commitment under N.J.S.A. 30:4-27.2 et. seq. Admissions are only accepted from emergency screening centers and short term care facilities.

Outpatient

Services provided to clients who possess a psychiatric diagnosis, including clients who are seriously and persistently mentally ill but excluding substance abuse and developmental disability unless accompanied by treatable symptoms of mental illness. Periodic therapy, counseling and supportive services are generally provided at the provider agency for relatively brief sessions (between 30 minutes and 2 hours). Organizations that provide both adult and children's outpatient services are denoted (A/C).

Appendix D

Key Components of the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Crime Statistics Act

Policy Disclosure requires colleges and universities to provide the campus community and the public with accurate statements of its current policies and practices regarding procedures for students and others to report criminal actions or other emergencies occurring on campus; security of and access to campus facilities; and campus law enforcement.

Records Collection and Retention requires colleges and universities to maintain records of crimes reported to campus security authorities, maintain a daily crime log that must be open for public inspection and make a reasonable good-faith effort to obtain certain crime statistics from appropriate law enforcement agencies to include in an annual security report submitted to the U.S. Department of Education.

Information Dissemination requires colleges and universities to provide campus community members with information necessary to make informed decisions about their safety. Specifically, colleges and universities must:

- Publish an annual security report and distribute it to all current students and employees and inform prospective students and employees about the content and availability of the report;
- Inform the campus community where to obtain information about registered sex offenders;
- Provide a "timely warning" of any crime that might represent an ongoing threat to the safety of the students or employees.
