Help That Can Save Your Life

Opioid Overdose Recovery Program (OORP)

The OORP responds to individuals who have been reversed from an opioid overdose. The program uses recovery specialists and patient navigators to provide assistance, support, and referral information. The recovery specialists and patient navigators will maintain follow up for up to 8 weeks after initial contact. Additionally, recovery coaches and patient navigators will deliver or link you to appropriate services and provide support and resources throughout the process.

Support Team for Addiction Recovery (STAR)

The STAR program provides case management and recovery support services for individuals with opioid use disorders. Case managers will work with you to assist with issues that often come with an opioid abuse disorder, such as homelessness, incarceration, legal issues, employment, education, transportation, need for social services, health care, child welfare involvement, child care, health insurance and documentation. The program's recovery specialists will provide assistance and recovery support services. The goal is to help you remain in the recovery zone for as long as possible, help to reduce the risk of recurring episodes of opioid-related problems and prevent future overdose.

Family Support Center (FSC)

The FSC will provide support to parents and family members of adults struggling with their loved one's opioid use disorder. The Center will offer parents and family members support, education, resources and advocacy in an environment that is safe and non-discriminatory. The goal is to provide compassionate support to empower parents and families to have a better quality of life, improve their psychological health, reduce levels of stress, feel less isolated and gain skills needed to cope with their loved one's opioid use disorder. Through the Center, families are taught self-protection along with non-confrontational skills to help empower their loved one to seek recovery.
