Important information about Family Leave Insurance

READ before completing the application for benefits

Family Leave Insurance benefits helps people who need to

• care for a seriously ill family member or • bond with a newborn or recently adopted child.

If you need to care for a family member, a health care provider must certify that your family member needs your help. (If you are the person with a temporary disability, use form DS-1.)

Family member means:

- child under 19 years old (biological, adopted, foster, stepchild, legal ward, or child of a civil union or domestic partner)
- child over 19 and incapable of self care
- spouse, domestic partner, or civil union partner
- parent

Family leave allows up to 42 days (6 weeks) of paid benefits during the 12 months immediately following your first day of leave. When caring for an ill family member, you may take all 42 days at once, or take days or weeks intermittently.

You may use family leave to bond with a newborn or adopted child during the first 12 months after the child's birth or adoption. Bonding leave must be for a single continuous period of time unless the employer allows you to take leave in non-consecutive periods (intermittent leave). In this case, each leave period must be at least 7 days.

Taking Intermittent Leave

- ▷ If your claim is for intermittent leave, you must complete Part E: Intermittent Family Leave Schedule.
- ▷ The schedule must show the dates that you were absent from work to care for a family member or bond with a newborn or newly adopted child.
- ▷ Include your name and Social Security number on the schedule.
- ▷ No benefits can be authorized beyond the date of your employer's signature.
- ▷ Family Leave benefits may be claimed only for whole days of leave. Benefits will not be paid for partial days of leave.

Your Rights and Responsibilities as a Claimant

To file a claim for family leave benefits

It is your responsibility to file this claim promptly after you stop working and begin your family leave. We cannot process claims submitted for a period of leave in the future. Claims for future leave periods are discarded.

By law, you must file a claim within 30 days after starting your family leave. If you file later, benefits may be denied or reduced. If you file more than 30 days after your family leave started, give the reason why on the bottom of part A1.

If you are receiving New Jersey temporary disability benefits for a pregnancy-related disability, 35 days after your baby is born (you must tell us the delivery date) we will mail you instructions (form FL-2) for claiming family leave benefits while bonding with your newborn child. Do not complete this form if you intend to bond with your baby immediately after you stop collecting temporary disability benefits. Wait for the FL-2 instructions.

Other income

You must tell us about any other income you are receiving. This includes paid time off, pension, workers compensation or unemployment benefits, Social Security Disability benefits, or disability benefits from your employer or union.

If you are eligible for FLI benefits but do not initially claim the full 42 days, we will send you a request for continued claim certification (form FL-3). Use this form if you need to claim benefits for additional periods of leave. Complete and return the form promptly to ensure uninterrupted benefits.

Return to work

If you return to work during the period for which you claimed family leave benefits, report this date immediately to the Division of Temporary Disability Insurance to avoid overpayment.

Income tax withholding

Family leave benefits are subject to federal income tax. When you file for benefits you may choose to have 10% of your benefits withheld to avoid having to pay later.

How to complete the Claim for Family Leave Benefits (form FL-1)

- ▷ You (the claimant) must complete the first 2 pages of the application (parts A1, A2 & A3).

- ▷ Part C should be completed by the care recipient (or authorized representative) and their doctor only if you will be caring for an ill family member. Do not complete part C if you are bonding with a child.
- ▷ You are responsible for having the care recipient's doctor complete the medical certificate, and for having your employer complete parts D & E.
- ▷ If you worked for more than one employer during the past year, you may copy part D for your other employer(s) to complete. This will help us process your claim more quickly.
