

New Jersey Domestic Workers' Bill of Rights Model Contract

Written Contract Requirements

The Domestic Workers' Bill of Rights, N.J.S.A. 34:11-69 et seq., requires a written contract that governs the employment between a hiring entity and a domestic worker, except for "casual work" or work of less than five hours per month. (N.J.S.A. 34:11-71). The law applies to covered domestic workers, regardless of immigration status.

Find more information on the NJ Domestic Workers' Bill of Rights at nj.gov/labor/domesticworkers.

The contract must be in English and the domestic worker's preferred language. (N.J.S.A. 34:11-71c). The employing hiring entity(ies) and domestic worker must have enough time to review the contract. They must sign and date the contract. (N.J.S.A. 34:11-71a).

A referral or employment agency must provide domestic workers and an employing hiring entity(ies) with information concerning contract requirements of the Domestic Workers' Bill of Rights when an employing hiring entity(ies) is connected with a domestic worker. The referral or employment agency must make this model contract available to the employing hiring entity(ies). (N.J.S.A. 34:11-71e).

The contract between the employing hiring entity(ies) and the covered domestic worker must include (N.J.S.A. 34:11-71a):

- A specific list of job duties
- Hourly wage and overtime wage
- Weekly schedule including number of hours per week
- Payment method and frequency
- Breaks for rest and meals
- Paid or unpaid leave including sick time
- Paid holidays
- Any other benefits provided
- Modes of transportation required and whether provided
- Monetary value of housing if provided
- Sleeping period and personal time for live-in workers
- The term/duration of the contract
- Any additional terms and conditions of employment

The written contract between the domestic worker and the employing hiring entity(ies) shall not contain either:

- (1) A mandatory pre-dispute arbitration agreement for claims made by a covered domestic worker against a hiring entity regarding the local rights of the worker, or
- (2) A non-disclosure agreement, or non-competition or non-disparagement agreement, limiting the ability of the covered domestic worker to seek compensation for performing domestic services after the worker ceases to receive compensation from the hiring entity for the performance of domestic services. (N.J.S.A. 34:11-71b).

Employers must keep record of this contract in order to demonstrate compliance

This model written contract is to be agreed upon and signed by the employer and the employee. Because a domestic worker may be jointly employed by more than one hiring entity, this model written contract allows for the parties to include multiple joint employer hiring entities. Where there is only a single employer, the users of this model written contract may disregard references to joint employers and joint employment.

Where an employer has an overlapping employment relationship with another hiring entity relative to the employment of a domestic worker, the entities that have an overlapping employment relationship with the domestic worker are by law jointly and severally liable for any violations of the Domestic Workers' Bill of Rights. (N.J.S.A. 34:11-79a).

Prevailing language clause: The English language version of a contract shall be controlling in all respects and shall prevail in case of any inconsistencies with translated versions, if any.

Contract Enforcement

Under the Domestic Workers' Bill of Rights, a material breach by the employing hiring entity(ies) of a contract with a domestic worker will constitute a violation of the law, regardless of whether the breach is of a contract provision that is required by the Domestic Workers' Bill of Rights. (N.J.S.A. 34:11-77c). In this case the employing hiring entity(ies) could face enforcement action by the NJ Department of Labor and Workforce Development.

Written Contract Definitions Under N.J.S.A. 34:11-70

Casual work: work that is (1) irregular, uncertain, or incidental in nature and duration, and (2) different in nature from the type of work in which the worker is customarily engaged.

Domestic worker: any worker who:

- (1) works for one or more employers, and
- (2) is an individual who works in residence for the purposes of providing any of the following services:
 - (a) caring for a child,
 - (b) serving as a companion or caretaker for a sick, convalescing, or elderly person or a person with a disability,
 - (c) housekeeping or house cleaning,
 - (d) cooking,
 - (e) providing food or butler service,
 - (f) parking cars,
 - (g) cleaning laundry,
 - (h) gardening,
 - (i) personal organizing, or
 - (j) for any other domestic service purpose.

The following are expressly excluded from the definition of "domestic worker:"

- (1) a family member; specifically, "a spouse, child, parent, sibling, aunt, uncle, niece, nephew, first cousin, grandparent, grandchild, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, stepparent, stepchild, stepbrother, stepsister, half-brother, or half-sister, whether the individual is related by blood, marriage, or adoption,"

- (2) an individual primarily engaged in house sitting, pet sitting or dog walking,
- (3) an individual working at a business operated primarily out of the residence, such as a home day-care business,
- (4) an individual whose primary work involves household repair or maintenance, such as a roofer, plumber, mason, painter, or other similar contractor,
- (5) an employee of the State or the United States, or
- (6) an individual established as a kinship legal guardian, as defined by N.J.S.A. 3B:12A-2, of a child who lives in the residence or an individual who participates in the Kinship Navigator Program, as authorized by the Department of Children and Families, as a caregiver of a child who lives in the residence and receives services provided by a kinship navigator service provider.

Employment agency: any person or entity that procures, or attempts to procure, any workers for referral to a third party.

Hiring entity: any employer, as defined in N.J.S.A. 34:11-4.1, who employs a domestic worker and also means any person, firm, business, partnership, association, corporation limited liability company, or other entity, including referral, employment, and internet based or on-demand platforms, that provide compensation directly or indirectly to a domestic worker for the performance of domestic services and any person or persons acting directly or indirectly in the interest of the employer in relation to the domestic worker.

Referral agency: any person or entity that procures, or attempts to procure, directly or indirectly through placement in a physical or virtual labor pool:

- (1) employees; and
- (2) after the procurement does not continue involvement in the terms of exchange of domestic services with the employees in any way, with the exception of the following:
 - (a) continuing to display, host, or advertise, either through physical means or virtual means, the workers’ contact information, job qualifications, resume, image, or digital profile which employers or clients can use to independently contact employees about employment; or
 - (b) removing, either through physical means or virtual means, the workers’ contact information, job qualifications, resume, image, or digital profile, which employers or clients can use to independently contact employees, upon the mandate of any federal, State, or local laws.

Notification of Termination

Domestic Workers' Bill of Rights (N.J.S.A. 34:11-74)

An employer of a domestic worker must notify the domestic worker of the termination of employment at least two weeks prior to the date of termination, and for a live-in domestic worker, the employer must notify the domestic worker of the termination of employment at least four weeks prior to the date of termination.

The employer is not required to provide the domestic worker with prior notification of termination of employment under the following circumstances:

If the employer has a good-faith belief and without reckless disregard or willful ignorance of the truth that the domestic worker has engaged in "significant misconduct;" defined in the law to mean, "that the domestic worker abused, neglected, or caused any other harmful conduct against the employer, members of the employer's family, or individuals residing in the employer's household," or

If the employer is a temporary help service firm, employment agency, or other staffing or placement agency, health care service firm, home health agency, or hospice provider, the domestic worker completes placement in a particular position and is not immediately placed or scheduled for another position by an employer if the employer, but the domestic worker remains on the employer's payroll for future placement opportunities, or

If the domestic worker is employed by an employer that is an individual (and not a temporary help service firm, employment agency, or other staffing or placement agency, health care service firm, home health agency, or hospice provider), regardless of whether the employer is the person receiving care from the domestic worker, and the domestic worker completes or fulfills all duties of the position, and there is no longer a practicable need for the position, including, but not limited to, if the domestic worker's employer is an individual who has employed the domestic worker to care for a person who is terminally ill and the terminally ill person passes away.

Failure to provide the two-week or four-week notification as required, will entitle the domestic worker to severance pay in the amount of the domestic worker's regular hourly rate multiplied by the regular number of hours worked over the period of time during which the required notification was not provided.

Meal and Rest Breaks

Domestic Workers' Bill of Rights (N.J.S.A. 34:11-72)

An employer of a domestic worker must comply with the following:

- a. An employer of a domestic worker shall allow the domestic worker an uninterrupted paid rest-period of not less than ten minutes for each four consecutive hours worked, unless the nature of the work prevents the domestic worker from being relieved of all duties for such period of time, such as some types of child care and caretaker work for a sick, elderly or disabled person. In those types of work where the domestic worker is not relieved of all work duties, an "on-duty" rest period shall be provided. The employer shall pay the domestic worker for the time spent on a rest break at the domestic worker's regular rate of pay.
- b. The employer shall allow an uninterrupted 30-minute meal break after more than five consecutive hours worked. Unless the domestic worker is relieved of all work duties during such 30-minute period and is permitted to leave the work site during that break, the meal period shall be considered an "on-duty" meal period and shall be paid at the domestic worker's regular rate of pay.
- c. An "on-duty" meal or rest period shall be permitted only when the nature of the work prevents a domestic worker from being relieved of all duties and when, by written agreement between the parties, an "on-duty" meal or rest period is agreed to. The agreement may be revoked by the domestic worker, in writing, at any time. The domestic worker may, to the extent possible given the domestic worker's duties for the employer, engage in personal activities, such as resting, eating a meal, drinking a beverage, making a personal telephone call, or making other personal choices during "on-duty" meal or rest periods.
- d. The employer shall not impede or discourage a domestic worker from taking any meal or rest breaks.

Parental leave for birth or adoption of a child (specify duration, notice requirements, whether it is paid or unpaid) _____

Family Leave and Family Leave Insurance

Under N.J.S.A. 34:11B-1, et seq., the New Jersey Family Leave Act, each employer with 30 or more employees must in any 24-month period provide each covered employee with 12 weeks of paid or unpaid, job-protected leave from employment so that the employee may provide care made necessary by reason of the birth of a child of the employee, including a child born pursuant to a valid written agreement between the employee and a gestational carrier; the placement of a child into foster care with the employee or in connection with adoption of such child by the employee; the serious health condition of a family member of the employee; or, certain circumstances related to known or suspected exposure to a communicable disease, or efforts to prevent spread of communicable disease during a state of emergency declared by the Governor or when indicated to be needed by the Commissioner of Health or other public health authority.

For purposes of the New Jersey Family Leave Act, an employee is covered if the employee has been employed by that employer (the one from which the employee is seeking leave) for at least 12 months and for not less than 1,000 hours during the immediately preceding 12-month period.

Under N.J.S.A. 43:21-39.1 et al., the New Jersey family leave insurance law, a covered employee who is on leave without pay from employment to care for a family member suffering from a serious health condition; to be with a child during the first 12 months after the child's birth, if the individual, or domestic partner or civil union partner of the individual is a biological parent of the child, or is a parent of the child pursuant to a valid gestational carrier agreement, or the first 12 months after the placement of the child for adoption or as a foster child with the individual; to engage in activities for which unpaid leave may be taken pursuant to the NJ SAFE Act, N.J.S.A. 34:11C-3, if the individual is a victim of an incident of domestic violence, a sexually violent offense, or to assist a family member of the individual who has been a victim of an incident of domestic violence or a sexually violent offense; or due to certain circumstances related to known or suspected exposure to a communicable disease, or efforts to prevent spread of a communicable disease during a state of emergency declared by the Governor or when indicated to be needed by the Commissioner of Health or other public health authority, may be eligible for up to 12 weeks of family leave insurance benefits; that is, a monetary benefit that would act as partial wage replacement during the period of leave. In order to obtain those benefits, the employee would be required to apply to the New Jersey Department of Labor and Workforce Development.

Other leave (specify quantity, accrual method, notice requirements, carryover, timing, whether it is paid or unpaid, and any other conditions) _____

Medical Leave and Temporary Disability Insurance

The Federal Family and Medical Leave Act entitles an eligible employee to 12 weeks of paid or unpaid, job-protected leave in a 12-month period for the birth of a child and to care for the newborn child within one year of birth; the placement with the employee of a child for adoption or foster care and to care for the newly placed child within one year of placement; to care for the employee's spouse, child or parent who has a serious health condition; a serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the essential functions of the employee's job; or any qualifying exigency arising out of the fact that the employee's spouse, son, daughter, or parent is a covered military member on covered active duty.

Under the FMLA, an eligible employee is one who works for a covered employer, has worked for the employer for a total of 12 months, has worked 1,250 hours during the 12 months prior to the start of the leave, and works at a location where the employer has 50 or more employees within 75 miles.

Under the FMLA, a covered employer is one with 50 or more employees for at least 20 workweeks in the current or preceding calendar year.

Under N.J.S.A. 43:21-25 et seq., the New Jersey Temporary Disability Benefits Law, a covered employee who is on leave without pay from employment due to the employee's own disability may be eligible for up to 26 weeks of temporary disability insurance benefits; that is, a monetary benefit that would act as partial wage replacement during the period of leave. In order to obtain those benefits, the employee would be required to apply to the New Jersey Department of Labor and Workforce Development.
