TRENTON, N.J. (March 4, 2015) – Governor Chris Christie has issued a Proclamation declaring March 2015 Problem Gambling Awareness Month in New Jersey. Throughout the month, the New Jersey Lottery (NJL) will be working with the Council on Compulsive Gambling of New Jersey, Inc. (CCGNJ) in an effort to educate the general public and health care professionals about the warning signs of problem gambling and to raise awareness of the help that is available both locally and nationally. “Have the Conversation” is the focus of the joint themed programming.

Today, Carole Hedinger, NJL’s Executive Director, met with Donald Weinbaum, Executive Director CCGNJ and Jeff Beck, Chairman of National Problem Gambling Awareness Month, to discuss joint efforts to promote public awareness about the dangers of problem gambling.

“We want everyone to enjoy playing the lottery as entertainment and remind our players to play responsibly,” Hedinger said. “The Lottery joins with the Council today because we recognize that it’s important to “Have the Conversation” about responsible play and raise awareness about how to recognize the warning signs of problem gambling.”

Since June 1999, the Lottery has participated on the Council of Compulsive Gambling’s Board of Directors. The Council’s 1-800-GAMBLER helpline number is printed on every Lottery ticket, and on all brochures and signage, and it also appears as a tag line on all of the Lottery’s radio and television advertisements. The Lottery’s website directs visitors to the Council’s site, where members of the public can get free information and help.

The New Jersey Lottery has the distinct designation of being awarded a Level III Certification by the World Lottery Association, one of the world’s most respected industry authorities on responsible gaming practices. This award recognizes the Lottery’s planning, development and implementation of responsible gambling programs and initiatives.

“The Council on Compulsive Gambling of NJ offers a broad array of educational, outreach, and support services for those affected by problem gambling and also for community members,” said Weinbaum. “There are more ways than ever to get help, and March is a great time to start the conversation. We’re very pleased to be partnering with the Lottery to get that message out to an even broader audience.”

"Our campaign this year is titled 'Have the Conversation.' We know that many suffer in silence because they do not understand gambling addiction or know where to get help. Discussing the "invisible addiction" can lead to hope, help and change," Beck added.

CCGNJ operates a 24-hour confidential helpline, 1-800-GAMBLER, that takes over 15,000 calls a year. Any individual with a gambling problem or a family member needing assistance can call for help and referral.
