The Criminal Case Process

the sexual assault survivor protection act (SASPA)

The Sexual Assault Survivor Protection Act (SASPA) expands opportunities for survivors of sexual violence to apply for a protective order against their perpetrator, without reporting to law enforcement or filing criminal charges. SASPA was passed into law in November 2015 and was enacted in May 2016.

The vast majority of sexual violence survivors know their perpetrator. SASPA closed a legal loophole, where protective orders weren't available for survivors of sexual assault unless there was a charge or conviction.

WHAT IS A PROTECTIVE ORDER & WHAT DOES IT DO?

A protective order is a document issued by the court to help protect a survivor from a perpetrator and stop any further acts of violence or intimidating behaviors.

A protective order can shield survivors from:

- Further acts of violence
- Seeing a perpetrator (the person can be prevented from entering specific places that the survivor or their household members regularly frequent, such as work, home, or school)
- Future contact with their perpetrator (whether in-person, over the phone, or through another person)
- Stalking behaviors
- Harassment, including online harassment, of the survivor, their family members, or their employer/employees
- Any other relief the court deems appropriate

Data per the National Intimate Partner and Sexual Violence Survey, 2014. Results add up to over 100% to account for multiple perpetrators.

© New Jersey Coalition Against Sexual Assault 2017.

The New Jersey Coalition Against Sexual Assault (NJCSA) is the statewide organization representing 21 county-based rape crisis centers and Rutgers University's Office for Violence Prevention and Victim Assistance. NJCSA elevates the voices of survivors and service providers through advocacy, training, and support for efforts to create safer communities for all women, men and children.

WHAT IS A PROTECTIVE ORDER & WHAT DOES IT DO?

There are two types of protective orders: a temporary protective order (TPO) and a final protective order (FPO).

- A temporary protective order is the initial type of protective order survivors can receive. It protects against the same kind of harassing behaviors as a final protective order, but it only remains in place until the final protective order hearing.

- A final protective order outlines harassing behaviors that cannot continue. It is forwarded to the police department where the survivor lives, as well as where the perpetrator lives. FPOs never expire, and are valid anywhere in New Jersey.

WHO CAN APPLY FOR A PROTECTIVE ORDER UNDER SASPA?

Generally, survivors of sexual violence who are subjected to continued harassing behaviors from their abuser, who do not qualify for a domestic violence restraining order, can apply for a protective order under SASPA.

Survivors can apply for a protective order regardless of if the assault was reported to law enforcement.

If you feel you are in immediate danger, contact local law enforcement.

WHY MAY SOMEONE CHOOSE TO APPLY FOR A PROTECTIVE ORDER?

Everyone's situation is unique and requesting a protective order is a decision only the survivor can make. For some, a protective order will end harmful behaviors. Others may feel a protective order could cause a perpetrator to escalate.

Protective order hearings can be stressful – it may not be the right decision for you at this time, or ever. Every person has the right to practice self-care and make decisions that are best for their own wellbeing.

▶ be prepared:

While a protective order will discourage many perpetrators from continuing harassing behavior, it is often one piece of a comprehensive plan for safety and well-being. Working with an advocate may help a survivor feel empowered to access other support systems.

HOW DO SURVIVORS APPLY FOR A TEMPORARY PROTECTIVE ORDER?

A person who is seeking a protective order may file in person at the Superior Court in their county. A list of courthouses in New Jersey is available at:

<https://www.njcasa.org/find-a-courthouse/>

The process may take several hours. You will need to provide a specific and comprehensive written statement to a hearing officer. Everything included in this statement can be brought up in the protective order hearing(s); anything not included cannot be referenced in your testimony.

It's important that the statement comprehensively details abusive or harassing behaviors and is specific. Include actual language the perpetrator used.

📱 example:

Rather than saying, "He texted me a lot," include detail, such as: "He texted me six times in one hour, threatening to release pictures of me."

There are no court fees associated with receiving a TPO. While a lawyer is not necessary to seek a PO, it may be helpful to speak to one or to contact an advocate. Your county-based sexual violence service provider can provide trained advocates to provide additional information, link you with resources, and offer emotional support; find a program at:

Sexual Violence Is...

- Any sexual contact that is forced or without consent. It may take the form of being touched, forced to touch someone else, or to watch them touch themselves.
- Motivated by the perpetrator's need to overpower, control, degrade, and humiliate another.
- Solely caused by the perpetrator's decision to commit the offense.
- Never the victim's fault. It is not the result of what they wore or their behavior.
- Not about uncontrollable sexual urges or the desire for sexual gratification. The majority of sexual violence is planned.
- A method of expressing anger and aggression.
- Committed by strangers, as well as people we know and trust. In fact, over 80% of sexual violence is committed by acquaintances, dates, partners, spouses, and family members.
- A crime that can affect the whole family including the victim's spouse, partner, parents, other close relatives or friends.

Victims can be of any gender, age, race, ethnicity, socio-economic status, or sexual orientation.

If Sexual Violence happens to you...

- Find a safe place and consider notifying the police.
- Call 180's 24-hour Confidential Sexual Violence Hotline at 732-264-7273 or 1-888-264-7273 for support, information, and accompaniment through medical and police proceedings, and for our counseling services. 180's highly-trained, Confidential Sexual Violence Advocates are members of the Monmouth County Sexual Assault Response Team.
- A Confidential Sexual Violence Advocate can accompany you at the five area hospitals, and all police departments in Monmouth County, for support during the forensic exam, police formal statement, and at the time of Grand Jury, if needed.
- Do not shower, bathe, douche, eat, drink, smoke, urinate, or change clothing, if possible, to preserve evidence. If you have changed, place each piece of clothing in a separate bag. If you think you may have been drugged, try to collect a urine sample.
- Seek immediate medical attention for possible injuries, sexually transmitted infections, and pregnancy.

* The Monmouth County Sexual Assault Response Team includes:

- Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner: A nurse certified to collect forensic evidence that may be used in the prosecution of the crime, and provide medical care and treatment for sexually transmitted infections and early unwanted pregnancy. There is no fee for this service.
- Law Enforcement: A police officer who will obtain information regarding the assault and initiate the police investigation. A forensic exam and medical treatment can also be obtained without the involvement of law enforcement.

This coordinated, multi-disciplinary response to sexual violence ensures appropriate, timely, and compassionate care for victims and quality evidence collection, which may increase the potential for successful prosecution, if so desired.

If Sexual Violence happens to someone you know...

- Call our confidential hotline for support and information for yourself.
- Allow the survivor the opportunity to make their own decisions. Victims may experience feelings of vulnerability, and loss of control over their own body and very existence. You may help by offering information and options.
- Assure the survivor that you believe them. Remind them that the assault was not their fault. Do not blame, suggest blame, judge, or criticize. Avoid showing strong emotion of any kind.
- Be supportive. Recognize that the course of action the survivor used to get through the ordeal was effective.
- Allow the survivor space and time to talk, or not to talk. It is common for a survivor to choose to protect those to whom they are close by not sharing details.

Sexual Violence Protection Order

A protection order is a court order signed by a judge telling a defendant to have no further contact with the plaintiff (victim or parent/guardian) in-person, by phone, mail, e-mail, text, social media, or through electronic devices at home, school, work, or an area frequented by the plaintiff. A temporary order is issued ex parte (on the plaintiff's sworn testimony only) at State Superior Court. A final hearing will be held within ten days to give the accused the opportunity to defend themselves. The protection order is a civil document and may be applied for without filing criminal charges or regardless of the disposition of any charges, if filed. A violation of the protection order is a criminal offense.

180's Sexual Violence Court Advocate is available to support the victim or parent/guardian through the Sexual Violence Protection Order proceedings from initial filing through to the hearing for the final protection order.
