New Jersey Department of Military and Veterans Affairs

On May 30, 1986, Governor Thomas H. Kean dedicated New Jersey's first state-operated veterans' cemetery as "a lasting memorial to those men and women who put their lives on the line to defend our country's honor and freedom." On Jan. 3, 1989, the cemetery was renamed the Brigadier General William C. Doyle Veterans Memorial Cemetery. The cemetery, which is managed by the New Jersey Department of Military and Veterans Affairs, covers 225 acres and was designed to accommodate 171,000 veterans and their family members. It is open to eligible Veterans; members of the Armed Forces or reserve units on active duty at the time of death; certain dependents and certain merchant marines and civilians who have been awarded veteran's status.
