

NEW JERSEY STATE POLICE

The New Jersey State Police Polygraph Unit cordially invites you to attend our first New Jersey State Police Advanced Interviewing and Interrogation Seminar to be held on the historic campus of Princeton University.

The seminar is designed to meet the needs of police investigators whose assignments include conducting interviews and interrogation during the course of a criminal investigation. Topics of discussion include techniques utilized by polygraph examiners to determine truthfulness and elicit confessions, statement analysis, cognitive interviewing, developing interrogation themes, case studies, and legal issues concerning custodial interrogations.

History

In 1952, the New Jersey State Police formed the Polygraph Unit, the first of its kind on the Eastern seaboard. Since that time, the Polygraph Unit has been conducting examinations for any law enforcement agency in the State who requests assistance.

Due to overwhelming requests for training in the areas of interviewing and interrogation, the Unit developed an Interview and Interrogation Course in 1989. The course was so well received it quickly became the most sought after training offered by the New Jersey State Police.

In an effort to expand this training and bring the best speakers in the field of interviewing and interrogation to New Jersey, the Polygraph Unit has organized the First NJSP Advanced Interviewing and Interrogation Seminar.

Seminar Information

Date: June 12 - 16, 2006

Registration will be from 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m. at the Frist Center on Monday, June 12th, 2006. Seminar will begin each day from 9:00 a.m. and end by 5:00 p.m.
