Program Summary

This seminar will cover the history of and current issues in the law of Identification Procedures. Topics covered will include understanding the Attorney General Guidelines, practical points to consider when conducting a Wade hearing, jury instructions to be used and the future of ID evidence in our courts. The course will also provide an overview of the way in which our State Supreme Court has historically analyzed identification evidence and will flag possible issues for future exploration.

Who Should Attend?

This program is intended for government attorneys handling criminal prosecutions.

Who Is the Faculty?

DAG Deborah Bartolomey is Senior Counsel in the Division's Appellate Bureau, where she has worked since 1990. She specializes in identification and Miranda law, and represents the State in all New Jersey federal and state courts.

DAG Hillary Horton is a Deputy Attorney General with the Division of Criminal Justice's, Criminal Appeals section. DAG Horton graduated from Rutgers Camden School of Law in 1999, and clerked for the Honorable Thomas A. Brown, Jr., J.S.C. in the criminal division in Camden County. She joined the Division of Criminal Justice, Appeals section in 2000 and has been there ever since.

AP Victoria Shilton graduated from Temple Law School in 1993. She began her career with the Camden County Prosecutor's Office in March 1994. During her tenure as an assistant prosecutor, she has held various assignments within her office, and has tried over one hundred felony jury trials. She was one of two Camden County Assistant Prosecutors selected to supervise investigations conducted by the Governor's Anti-Crime Partnership Task Force in the City of Camden from 2007 to 2009. Currently, she is the Deputy Chief of the Major Crimes Unit, consisting of two prosecutors and nine investigators. In addition, Ms. Shilton is one of two primary legal advisors for the police departments in Camden County's thirty-seven municipalities. AP Shilton regularly lectures at the Camden County Police Academy and has been a guest lecturer for the Attorney General's Advocacy Institute's program for new prosecutors. Additionally, she has been an invited faculty member for several week long Introductory Trial Advocacy courses at the joint Federal and State National Advocacy Center at the National College of District of Attorneys in Columbia, South Carolina. In January 2011, she was honored to present a guest lecture on the Art of Direct Examination to the Honorable Anne E. Thompson, American Inn of Court. In 2009, Ms. Shilton was awarded a Prosecutor's Service Award for her work supervising a five month long wire tap investigation that culminated in the arrest of twenty-three individuals, seizure of over one-hundred thousand dollars in cash and effectively dismantled one of the major large scale narcotics trafficking organizations in Camden City. In October of 2010, the Camden County Fire Marshall honored her with the "Edward Garrity" award for services in the investigation and prosecution of arson cases in Camden County.
