Program Summary

New Jersey has been described as a prime location for Human Trafficking, which is modern day slavery, human rights abuse, and a multi-billion dollar criminal enterprise. Although New Jersey had a human trafficking statute for over a decade, the 2013 enactment of the Human Trafficking Prevention, Protection and Treatment Act (HTPPTA) clearly reflected the State's resolve to address outstanding gaps in the previous law. Among its successes, the HTPPTA created new rights for victims, empowered law enforcement, and emphasized training as a valuable tool for the detection and prevention of human trafficking. This presentation will provide an overview of the HTPPTA; an update on the State's compliance with the Act; and a summary of New Jersey's efforts at combatting human trafficking.

Who Should Attend?

This presentation is open to all government attorneys, space allowing.

Who Is the Faculty?

AAG Annmarie Taggart is Counsel to the Director of the Division of Criminal Justice, where she serves as the Chairperson of the Attorney General's Human Trafficking Taskforce. The Taskforce raises awareness of human trafficking, trains and assists law enforcement in best practices to disrupt human trafficking, coordinates statewide efforts to identify and provide services to human trafficking victims, and increases the successful interdiction and prosecution of individuals engaging in human trafficking. Prior to serving in this position, AAG Taggart was a Supervising Deputy Attorney General and Deputy Bureau Chief in the Gangs & Organized Crime Bureau in DCJ, where she prosecuted and supervised the prosecution of traditional and non-traditional organized criminal groups engaged in a variety of inter-related criminal activities, including human trafficking, racketeering, narcotics trafficking and weapons offenses. She is a graduate of Utica College of Syracuse University and holds a J.D from Albany Law School.
