Program Summary

There are many written and unwritten rules of baseball. Some of them hold great lessons for life, and some hold great lessons for lawyers. This presentation will explore some of those rules, their intersection with the Rules of Professional Conduct and how they can be applied to foster a better, more collegial and hopefully more ethical way to practice law.

Who Should Attend?

This presentation is open to all government attorneys, space allowing.

Who Is the Faculty?

Stefanie A. Brand is the Director for the Division of Rate Counsel, a position she has held since October 1, 2007. The Division of Rate Counsel represents the interests of consumers of regulated electric, natural gas, water/sewer, telecommunications, cable TV service, and insurance (residential, small business, commercial and industrial customers). Prior to joining the Division of Rate Counsel, Stefanie was the Assistant Attorney General in Charge of Litigation for the Division of Law in the Department of Law and Public Safety. In that position she oversaw all civil litigation for the State. Her tenure with the Division of Law as an assistant and deputy attorney general included work in the areas of federal litigation, child welfare, environmental regulation, human services, employment and tort law. Stefanie was in private practice before joining the Division of Law. Stefanie graduated from Columbia University School of Law and clerked for Associate Justice Gary Stein of the New Jersey Supreme Court.
