

PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENT

The Advocacy Institute Is Pleased to Present

Cyberbullying and Related Crimes

July 18, 2022
1:00 p.m. – 3:00 p.m.

WEBINAR

Program Summary

This presentation will focus on cyberbullying and related conduct, as well as on applicable criminal charges. Often conduct that begins as consensual can be used to bully, stalk, harass, or extort a victim. The presenters will discuss risky online behaviors and the legal tools available to address them.

Eligibility

This program is open to attorneys in the Department of Law and Public Safety and county prosecutors' offices. Registrants will receive the course materials prior to the program date.

Faculty

DAG Jamie Picard is a member of the Cyber Crimes Bureau of the New Jersey Division of Criminal Justice, where she investigates and prosecutes a variety of child exploitation offenses, network intrusions, theft offenses including cryptocurrency theft, and cyber extortion. DAG Picard previously worked in DCJ's Gangs and Organized Crime Bureau, where she investigated and prosecuted drug and weapons trafficking organizations and oversaw electronic surveillance and wiretap investigations. Prior to joining DCJ, she clerked for the Honorable Robert A. Kirsch, J.S.C., in Union County, New Jersey. DAG Picard is a graduate of Cornell University and New York University School of Law.

Detective Katie Feehan is a member of New Jersey State Police, assigned to the Internet Crimes Against Children Unit (ICACU). She conducts ICAC investigations and serves as the NJSP's Internet Safety Coordinator, instructing students, parents, community groups and law enforcement officials on the potential dangers of improper internet use. Detective Feehan holds both Bachelors and Master's Degrees in Criminal Justice from New Jersey City University (NJCU). She serves as an adjunct professor in the NJCU Criminal Justice Department and is a member of the NJCU Athletics Hall of Fame. In 2022, Detective Feehan received a community impact award from the New Jersey Women in Law Enforcement Organization (NJWLE).
