

Join the New Jersey Attorney General's Honors Program

Apply for the newest class of the New Jersey Attorney General's Honors Program! The two-year program offers recent law school graduates and newly admitted lawyers the opportunity to start their legal careers in public service.

Honors Program attorneys will have opportunities to help formulate policy and legal strategy, investigate cases, draft legal pleadings, negotiate with opposing counsel, and argue in court. In addition, the Honors Program class will attend workshops and trainings that will help develop their legal skills and introduce them to the full range of work performed by a state attorney general's office.

Solicitor General Fellows will be able to deliver oral argument, and have opportunities to be involved with multiple appeals in a dynamic and fast-paced environment. Fellows in the past have worked on merits briefs before SCOTUS, cutting edge Second Amendment cases in the Third Circuit, civil rights matters in the New Jersey Supreme Court, and a wide range of appeals in federal and state court.

The program is open to all third-year law students, students in the final year of other graduate law programs (e.g., LLM programs), judicial clerks who will complete their clerkships by September 2024, and individuals completing post-graduation fellowships by September 2024.

Positions are available in Newark and Trenton. The program allows participants to rotate through one or more of 14 subject matter areas:

- Civil Rights
