The costs and damages the Plaintiffs seek include the damages they have incurred, and will incur, for any natural resource of this State that has been, or may be, injured as a result of the discharge of hazardous substances at the Waterford Township sites, and to compel the Defendants to perform, under plaintiff DEP's oversight, or to fund plaintiff DEP's performance of, any further assessment and restoration of any natural resource that has been, or may be, injured as a result of the discharge of hazardous substances at the Waterford Township sites.

17. Not only does ground water serve as a source of potable water, it also serves as an integral part of the State's ecosystem.

18. Ground water provides base flow to streams, and influences surface water quality and wetland ecology and the health of the aquatic ecosystem.

19. Ground water also provides cycling and nutrient movement, prevents salt water intrusion, provides ground stabilization, prevents sinkholes, and provides maintenance of critical water levels in freshwater wetlands.

20. Ground water and the other natural resources of the State are unique resources that support the State's tourism industry, which helps sustain the State's economy.

21. There are more than 6,000 contaminated sites in New Jersey that have confirmed groundwater contamination with hazardous substances.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

22. The Custom Craft Cleaners site consists of approximately 3.06 acres of real property located at 296 White Horse Pike, Waterford Township, Camden County, New Jersey, this property being also known and designated as Block 301.02, Lot 1.02, on the Tax Map of Waterford Township ("the Custom Craft Cleaners Property"), and all other areas where any hazardous substance discharged there has become located (collectively, "the Custom Craft Cleaners Site"), which plaintiff DEP has designated as Site Remediation Program Interest No. G000009644.

23. From September 19, 1986 through September 13, 1993, defendants Isadore Brown and Jane Brown owned the Custom Craft Cleaners Property.

24. During the time defendants Isadore Brown and Jane Brown owned the Custom Craft Cleaners Property, "hazardous substances," as defined in N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., were "discharged" there within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., which substances included tetrachloroethane ("PCE") and trichloroethene ("TCE").

25. In September 1993, defendant The Brown Family Trust acquired the Custom Craft Cleaners Property, which it continued to own until July 1995, when it sold the Custom Craft Cleaners Property to defendant Vision Properties, the current owner of record.

26. From in or about July 1986 through January 1989, defendant Lawrence D. Mills operated a dry cleaning business known as Custom Craft Cleaners at the Custom Craft Cleaners Property, the operation of which involved the storing and handling of "hazardous substances," as defined in N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., certain of which were "discharged" there within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., which substances included PCE and TCE.

27. From 1989 through in or about February 1991, defendant Ronald Virgilio operated a dry cleaning business known as Elite Cleaners at the Custom Craft Cleaners Property, the operation of which involved the storage and handling of "hazardous substances," as defined in N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., certain of which were "discharged" there within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., which substances included PCE and TCE.

28. In August and September 2000, DEP sampled the soils and ground water at the Custom Craft Cleaners Site, the results of which revealed the presence of various hazardous substances in the soils and ground water at concentrations exceeding plaintiff DEP's cleanup criteria, including PCE and TCE in the soils and ground water.

29. On January 10, 2002, plaintiff DEP issued a Spill Act directive to defendants Isadore and Jane Brown, The Brown Family Trust, Vision Properties, LLC, Lawrence D. Mills and Ronald Virgilio pursuant to N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11f.a., directing the defendants to fund the remediation of the Custom Craft Cleaners Site, and the restoration of any natural resource that has been, or may be, injured as a result of the discharge of hazardous substances at the Custom Craft Cleaners Property.

30. Defendants Isadore and Jane Brown, The Brown Family Trust, Vision Properties, LLC, Lawrence D. Mills and Ronald Virgilio have failed to comply with the January 10, 2002 directive.

31. The William Juliano & Sons Fuel Service site consists of approximately .7 acres of real property located at 276 White Horse Pike, Waterford Township, Camden County, New Jersey, this property being also known and designated as Block 301.02, Lot 2, on the Tax Map of Waterford Township ("the Juliano & Sons Property"), and all other areas where any hazardous substance discharged there has become located (collectively, "the Juliano & Sons Site"), which plaintiff DEP has designated as Site Remediation Program Interest No. G000009644.

32. In or about July 1968, defendants William and Patricia Juliano, husband and wife, purchased the Juliano & Sons Property from defendant William Juliano's parents, William Juliano Sr. and Jean Juliano, and are the current owners of record.

33. During the time defendants William and Patricia Juliano owned the Juliano & Sons Property, "hazardous substances," as defined in N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., were "discharged" there within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., which substances included benzene.

34. From approximately 1968 through 1978, defendants William Juliano and Jean Juliano operated a garage, and later a fuel distribution center at the Juliano & Sons Property, the operation of which involved the storage, handling and dispensing of "hazardous substances," as defined in N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., certain of which were "discharged" there within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., which substances included benzene.

35. During the period of time that the defendants William Juliano and Patricia Juliano operated a garage, and later a fuel distribution center at the Juliano & Sons Property, defendant ABC corporation supplied, handled and dispensed "hazardous substances," as defined in N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., certain of which were "discharged" there within the meaning of N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11b., which substances included benzene.

36. From approximately 1979, through early 2000, defendant Patricia Juliano operated a gift shop at the Julian & Sons Property, which premises were vacant as of the filing of this Complaint.

37. During July 1998, plaintiff DEP sampled the soils and ground water at the Juliano & Sons Site, the results of which revealed the presence of various hazardous substances in the soils and ground water at concentrations exceeding plaintiff DEP's cleanup criteria, including petroleum products in the soils, and benzene in the ground water.

38. On March 22, 1999, plaintiff DEP issued a Spill Act directive to defendants William and Patricia Juliano, pursuant to N.J.S.A. 58:10-23.11f.a., directing defendants William and Patricia Juliano to fund the remediation of the Juliano and Sons Site, and the restoration of any natural resource that has been, or may be, injured as a result of the discharge of hazardous substances at the Juliano & Sons Property.

39. Defendants William and Patricia Juliano have failed to comply with the March 22, 1999 directive.

40. The Atco Avenue Groundwater Contamination area consists of various properties located in three mixed use residential and commercial areas within the Atco section of Waterford Township, Camden County ("Atco Avenue Area"), which plaintiff DEP has designated as Site Remediation Program Interest No. G000009644.

41. In December 1990, the Camden County Health Department sampled a potable well at a commercial property located in Waterford Township, the results of which revealed the presence of various hazardous substances, including benzene at concentrations exceeding plaintiff DEP's cleanup criteria in the ground water from the well.

42. On various occasions from December 1990 through June 1991, the Camden County Health Department sampled approximately 63 residential potable wells within the Atco Avenue Area, the results of which revealed the presence of various hazardous substances, including TCE, PCE, benzene, 1,2-DCE, Mercury and 1,2-DCA, at concentrations exceeding plaintiff DEP's cleanup criteria in the water from 20 wells.

43. As a result, the Camden County Health Department, Waterford Township Municipal Utilities Authority and plaintiff DEP, conducted a groundwater investigation that resulted in the collection of samples from 324 private potable wells, the results of which revealed the presence of various hazardous substances, including benzene, PCE and TCE, at concentrations exceeding plaintiff DEP's cleanup criteria in water from 58 wells.

44. In February 1992, plaintiff DEP began installing point-of-entry treatment systems on 67 affected potable wells in the Atco Avenue Area, the purpose of which was to remove the contaminants from the water.

45. In 1996, plaintiff DEP completed a study of the groundwater contamination in the Atco Avenue Area, the results of which led plaintiff DEP to conclude that the appropriate long-term remedy was the continued use of point-of-entry treatment systems for the affected residences.

46. Notwithstanding the results of plaintiff DEP's 1996 study, between 1997 and 1999, Waterford Township extended the public water supply system to approximately 185 residences in the Atco Avenue Area, which activities plaintiff DEP partially funded.

47. In 2001, plaintiff DEP initiated an investigation to determine the source of the potable well contamination in the Atco Avenue Area, during which plaintiff DEP identified the Custom Craft Cleaners Property as the PCE and TCE source, the Juliano & Sons Property as the benzene source, but was unable to identify the source of mercury, a hazardous substance, detected in certain of the potable wells in the Atco Avenue Area.

48. Although plaintiff DEP, and others have initiated the remediation of groundwater contamination in the Atco Avenue Area, the groundwater contamination continues
