

NJ Victims of Crime Compensation Office

FY 2018 Report

New Jersey Office of the Attorney General

Victims of Crime Compensation Office

Forward

INTRODUCTION

The mission of the Victims of Crime Compensation Office (VCCO) is to provide financial reimbursement to crime victims for out of pocket expenses resulting from their victimization. In carrying out its mission, VCCO is mindful of the special needs of crime victims and their right to fairness, compassion, dignity and respect when seeking VCCO benefits. In Fiscal Year 2018, VCCO's staff consisted of 31 dedicated full-time employees available to serve all New Jersey crime victims.

A victim seeking VCCO benefits may receive a maximum award of up to $25,000. If a victim's injury is catastrophic, meaning the victim has lost permanent use of a bodily function, the maximum award increases up to an additional $35,000.

Under VCCO's federal and State mandates, VCCO is the "payer of last resort" — meaning a claimant must exhaust all other reimbursement options available to them (i.e., insurance benefits, workers' compensation benefits, charity care benefits, etc.) prior to making a claim (N.J.S.A. 52:4B-12 and 19; N.J.A.C. 13:75-9.1). However, VCCO has the authority to make emergency awards if it determines that the claimant is likely eligible for compensation, has no other means to receive emergency funds, and will suffer undue hardship if such funds are not available. (N.J.S.A. 52:4B-10.1). Generally, funeral and relocation expenses are the most frequently requested VCCO emergency benefits sought by claimants.

FISCAL YEAR 2018

In Fiscal Year 2018, VCCO employees continued to serve New Jersey crime victims with fairness, compassion, dignity and respect. In keeping with its mission to reimburse and assist crime victims and their families, VCCO provided over $8.9 million in compensation benefits to New Jersey residents. This represents an increase of approximately $600,000 from FY 2017.

In recognizing the growing financial needs of crime victims, VCCO adopted regulatory amendments that increased the monetary caps for the most requested VCCO benefits. The amendments, adopted in February 2018, increased the mental health counseling benefit from $12,500 to $20,000, the funeral expense benefit from $5,000 to $7,500, the relocation benefit from $2,500 to $3,000 and the attorney fee benefit from $1,000 to $3,000. In FY 2018, VCCO provided its highest benefit awards to New Jersey residents in Newark ($1.8 million in total awards), Elizabeth ($457,500 in total awards), Jersey City ($382,150 in total awards), Trenton ($297,700 in total awards) and Camden ($269,600 in total awards).

In addition to increasing the benefit awards payable to crime victims, VCCO made community outreach and training a top priority for FY 2018. VCCO increased public awareness of its benefits and services by: conducting 19 VCCO trainings throughout the State; attending 14 community and victims' rights events; setting up 27 VCCO table displays at various community events; and providing VCCO staff as speakers at five victims' rights events. As a result, VCCO increased its community outreach efforts by over 60% from FY 2017.

Additionally, in an effort to provide information about VCCO services to those who first encounter crime victims, VCCO completed three large mailing campaigns designed to inform hospitals, law enforcement agencies and senior citizen organizations about VCCO services. In FY 2018, VCCO emailed educational literature to: 575 New Jersey law enforcement agencies; 112 New Jersey Hospitals and Medical Centers; and various Senior Centers and affiliated organizations in each of New Jersey's 21 counties.

Looking ahead to FY 2019, VCCO secured a federal grant to update its case tracking system. The new system allows claimants to upload required documents, check the status of their application in real time, and provides a phone application where claimants can access their VCCO files via smartphone. VCCO anticipates that these improvements will help expedite claim processing and make it easier for claimants to file VCCO applications.

VCCO is committed to serving crime victims and their families. VCCO staff is ready, willing and able to assist those affected emotionally, financially and/or physically by a crime. If you or someone you know has been the victim of a crime, please contact VCCO, we are here to help.

About vcco

VCCO's Mission

VCCO's mission is to provide compensation to innocent victims of violent crime for some expenses they suffer as a result of the crime. In carrying out its mission, VCCO is mindful of the special needs of those victimized by crime and their right to be treated with fairness, compassion and respect.

Funding/Revenue Resources

VCCO is funded by penalties assessed in both Municipal and Superior Courts. Additional funding comes from the Federal Victims of Crime Act (VOCA) compensation grant, a State appropriation, and the Commissary Surcharge on all items purchased in Department of Corrections (DOC) facilities.

Historical Snap Shot

- ♦ 1971: The Violent Crime Compensation Board (VCCB) was established by the Criminal Injury Compensation Act to help victims recover from the effects of violent crimes by providing financial assistance to victims and their families — including payments to victim service providers — to help alleviate the economic and emotional burdens of victimization. VCCB was organized as a quasi-judicial three-commissioner board.
- ♦ 1981: The number of Commissioners was increased to five, with three of the five required to be attorneys licensed to practice in New Jersey.
- ♦ 1995: The name was changed to Victims of Crime Compensation Board, regarded as a criminal justice agency with the goals of obtaining criminal history records and penalties.
- ♦ 2007: The name changed again to Victims of Crime Compensation Agency (VCCA); the Commissioners were eliminated, and the agency was placed in the Department of Treasury.
- ♦ 2008: Through Governor Corzine's Reorganization Plan No. 001-2008, the VCCA was relocated to the Office of the Attorney General and renamed the Victims of Crime Compensation Office (VCCO), as it remains today.
- ♦ 2013: The VCCO implemented electronic filing, an innovation which allowed victims to file applications from their homes and upload necessary documents. Government and nonprofit agencies representing victims can also utilize this convenient process.
- ♦ 2014: The office deployed online tracking for providers, which reduces the volume of telephone calls to staff and allows more time spent processing open claims.
- ♦ 2015: Due to technological enhancements including online filing, online tracking and electronic signatures, the agency's turn-around-time for processing claims was reduced from an average of 4.5 months to an average of 2.5 months.
- ♦ 2016: The office implemented a major outreach initiative, increasing the number events over 70%. Events included reaching out to domestic violence victim advocacy programs and to the Latino community.
- ♦ 2017: The office continued enhancing the VCCO online case-processing system. With the latest improvement, claimants who did not file a claim online now have the capability to access the system to obtain claim status and prior correspondence.
- ♦ 2018: The office created a bilingual investigative unit where Spanish-speaking claimants are assigned to a bilingual investigator to better serve victims by preventing a language barrier. Regulatory CAPs were also increased for various benefits, including counseling, relocation, funeral expenses, transportation costs, and attorney fees.

Claims Processing

Intake Phase

Upon VCCO's receipt of an application, the claim is opened and given a claim number. An acknowledgment of receipt is sent to the applicant; if needed, additional information is requested. Requests for emergency assistance are reviewed promptly. All applications are screened for denial on a procedural basis, including expiration of time for filing, non-compensable crimes or outstanding warrants issued for a claimant. It is important to note that victims cannot receive assistance simply for being a victim of a crime. In order to have a claim reviewed, there must be an actual expense, such as a medical bill or moving costs.

Bill Review

Bills are screened for proper name and address, federal tax ID number, Current Procedural Terminology (CPT) codes and date of service. In cases where information is missing, those bills (and collection notices) are returned to the provider together with a letter stating the need for an itemized bill. Once all of the required information is received, bills are entered into the VCCO's Claims Processing System.

Eligibility Phase

Upon VCCO's receipt of the police report, bills and supporting records, the claim is assigned to an investigator for eligibility determination. The assigned investigator will review all the circumstances surrounding the incident. In reviewing the case circumstances, the case investigator will communicate with police and prosecutorial personnel and secure related information from the Courts. The investigator will then make a recommendation either that the claim is eligible or ineligible for compensation pursuant to statutory and/or regulatory requirements. His/her superior will review the recommendation and either approve it, reject it or ask for additional information.

Compensation Phase

Once a claim is deemed eligible for compensation, the investigator will verify losses by: 1) communicating directly with providers of medical services, securing insurance benefit statements and 2) gathering loss of earnings and disability payment information to determine compensation.

Payment Processing:

After the Order of Payment is written and approved, the case is transferred to the Accounting Unit. The voucher is reconciled to the order and then mailed to the provider. Upon receipt of a signed voucher, the Accounting Unit processes the payment and submits it to the Office of the Attorney General (OAG) administrative staff for approval in the New Jersey Comprehensive Financial System (a Treasury System).

If a claimant is eligible to receive a direct payment, that payment is mailed out to the claimant on the next business day after the Order of Payment is signed.

Appeals Process

- If a claim is denied or determined eligible with no compensation or limited pay, the claimant has the right to an appeal before the Victims of Crime Compensation Review Board.
- An appeal request may be made by the claimant or his/her attorney upon receipt of the VCCO's written determination. In some cases the claimant may provide new information enabling the VCCO to reverse the denial without the need of an appeal.
- Hearings are throughout the year and hearing dates are listed on the VCCO's website.
- An appeal is scheduled and notification of the appeal date is made at least 15 days prior to the appeal.
- A hearing is held before the Victims of Crime Compensation Review Board. Then the claimant and the Office present their respective positions.
- The Review Board is made up of five members appointed by the Governor's Office; all are Special State Officers who serve without compensation.
- The Review Board considers all of the relevant evidence along with any applicable statutes or regulations and may affirm the denial, overturns the denial, or return the matter to VCCO to obtain additional information necessary to render a decision.
- The Review Board issues a Final Order and Decision on the appeal within three months of the hearing date.
- If the VCCO's decision is overturned by the Review Board, the Office processes the claim accordingly.
- An appeal of the Review Board's Final Order and Decision must be made to the Appellate Division of the New Jersey Superior Court within 45 days of receiving the Review Board's Final Order and Decision.

In 2018, VCCO continued to make community outreach and training a top priority. During the 2018 calendar year, VCCO continued to serve victims and raise awareness of the Office and its services. As a member of the 9/11 memorial committee, VCCO arranged for the transportation of surviving family members to New York City's 2018 – 9/11 memorial service. Additionally, VCCO's Deputy Director was the keynote speaker at five victims' rights events.

Further, in order to increase public awareness of VCCO's compensation benefits, the Office led and participated in a variety of community events. These events included, but were not limited to, the following: 19 training courses lead by VCCO staff, 14 community and victims' rights events, 27 VCCO table displays, and three large mailing campaigns designed to inform hospitals, law enforcement agencies, and senior citizens about VCCO's services. In total, VCCO emailed literature to: senior centers and affiliated organizations in each of New Jersey's 21 counties, 575 New Jersey law enforcement agencies, and 112 New Jersey Hospitals and Medical Centers.

Crime Victims' Rights Week

2018 Ceremony

In April 2018, The Division of Criminal Justice's State Office of Victim Witness Advocacy and the Victims of Crime Compensation Office sponsored an event promoting victims' rights in honor of National Crime Victims' Rights Week (April 8 - 14). The event brought together crime victims, advocates, members from the law enforcement community and supporters to pay tribute to the outstanding achievements of individuals and organizations dedicated to rebuilding the lives of crime victims and their families.

AAG Veronica Allende, Counsel to the Director of Criminal Justice, presided over the event, which included remarks from Attorney General Gurbir S. Grewal that highlighted the importance of the Victims of Crime Compensation Act of 1984 and acknowledged the hard work of victim service providers and law enforcement in assisting victims.

Acting Essex County Prosecutor Robert B. Laurino was the keynote speaker for this year's event. His message focused on the progress of victims' justice in the criminal system since the 1970's by providing details of how the system has changed through the years.

The theme for the 2018 event: "Expand the Circle, Reach All Victims," featured a panel discussion detailing the importance of inclusion in victim services and the need to employ strategies to ensure greater access to services for harder-to-reach victims. Patricia Teffenhart, Executive Director of the New Jersey Coalition Against Sexual Assault (NJ CASA), moderated the panel discussion which was comprised of six panelist:

1. Navneet Bhalla, Interim Executive Director, Manavi, Inc.;
2. Nate Burkhardt, Community Engagement Specialist, Newark Community Street Team;
3. Steven Fishbein, Deputy Assistant Director, Office of Treatment and Recovery Support, Division of Mental Health and Addiction Services;
4. Dr. Alice Foulkes-Garcia, Supervisor, Office of Rehabilitative and Treatment Services, Juvenile Justice Commission;
5. Steven Lewis, Coordinator, Financial Abuse and Advocacy Specialist Team, Office of the Public Guardian for Elderly Adults; and
6. Robin Parker, Executive Director, Beyond Diversity Resource Center.

The panel engaged in an illuminating discussion that emphasized the challenges victim advocates face in reaching victims across cultural and economic groups, while providing recommendations to make victim services accessible to all victims.

Trenton Central High School's band ensemble, as well as, the Visual & Performance Arts Drama Club provided entertainment for the event. The band ensemble played various selections, including "Wakeup Everybody," by Harold Melvin and the Blue Notes, while the drama club performed various skits highlighting issues surrounding teen dating and domestic violence.

During the event, the Office of the Attorney General present "Excellence Awards" to four individuals from across the state for their firm commitment to ensuring crime victims receive respect and justice from the criminal system. The deserving award winners are highly esteemed in their fields for their dedication in helping victims, survivors and families navigate the criminal justice system.

Dr. Juanita Johnson-Brooks, Clinical Director, PEI Kids, received the Crime Victims' Rights Award. The Crime Victims' Rights Award reflects the 2018 National Crime Victims' Rights Week theme: "Expand the Circle: Reach All Victims." Dr. Johnson-Brooks received this award for the innovative and inclusive services her organization provides to victims.

Amy Congdon, Victim-Witness Coordinator, Burlington County Prosecutor's Office received the Endurance Award. This award honors a Victim Witness Coordinator and/or staff member who consistently set the standard for excellence by going above and beyond to assist victims and prosecuting teams.

DAG Joseph Remy, Financial & Computer Crimes Bureau, NJ Division of Criminal Justice received the Gladiator Award. This award recognizes an Assistant Prosecutor or Detective who has demonstrated extraordinary commitment and zeal to ensure that the criminal justice system treat victims with compassion and dignity during the prosecution process.

Melissa Verardi, VCCO-Intake Supervisor, Victims of Crime Compensation Office received the Ronald W. Reagan Award. This award honors President Ronald Reagan for his compassion, vision and commitment to crime victims' rights. This Award honors an individual or agency that has: 1) shown a consistent commitment to victims' rights and services; 2) employed extraordinary efforts in the delivery of services; and 3) advocated for victims via policies, protocols, legislation and other measures.

The 2018 Crime Victims' Rights Week event also provided an array of resource materials to help inform victim service providers of the various organizations committed to serving victims. In short, the event embodied the State's commitment to serve crime victims with compassion, dignity and respect.

Savings Achieved

through Third-Party Review of Medical Bills

Continuing through Fiscal Year 2018, the Victims of Crime Compensation Office contracted with a bill review service to ensure that submitted bills are deemed “reasonable and customary” for the services provided. As a result, nearly $1 million was saved in Fiscal Year 2018.
