CONSIDER THE MATTER OF ERNEST ADAM V. NEW JERSEY RACING COMMISSION, OAL DKT. NO. 6166-08 AND STEPHEN SLENDER V. NEW JERSEY RACING COMMISSION, OAL DKT. NO. RAC 6167-08

Executive Director Zanzuccki provided a summary of the matters which involved out-of-competition testing conducted by the Commission in April 2008 on the horses in the care and custody of standardbred trainer Ernest Adam which were stabled at Winner's International Farm. The initial and confirmatory laboratory testing revealed the presence of Darb-EPO, a synthetic form of Erogen of six horses trained by Adam and owned by Stephen Slender, a licensed veterinarian in California. It was noted by the Executive Director that while at the off-track farm conducting the testing, investigators discovered two locked tack rooms which were later found to contain veterinary prescription drugs, hypodermic needles and syringes as well as a shockwave therapy device. Following a Board of Judges' hearing, Adam and Slender were found in violation of various Racing Commission rules and regulations, including the practice of veterinary medicine by an unlicensed individual, possession of hypodermic needles and syringes, and failure to safeguard and protect horses under the care, custody and control of a trainer and veterinarian. The Executive Director continued that Adam and Slender appealed the Judges' decision and the matter was transmitted to the OAL for a hearing. On February 9, 2012, ALJ Stein issued an Initial Decision which affirmed the decision of the Commission's Board of Judges and ordered that Ernest Adam and Stephen Slender each be suspended for 13 years, each fined $56,000 and their licenses be revoked. The ALJ also ordered that Ernest Adam was ordered to pay an additional $12,000 for the cost of confirmatory testing of the six horses that were under his care. The Executive Director indicated that the matter is now before the Commission to reject, accept or modify.

Commissioner Aponte motioned to accept the Initial Decision of ALJ Stein. Commissioner Abbatiello seconded the motion and all Commissioners voted yes.
