6. Please share brief information on the state's overarching goals and priorities to provide context for this program year's spending decisions.

The State of New Jersey has reached agreements on several national lawsuits against companies for their roles in the opioid crisis. These lawsuits hold prescription opioid manufacturers, distributors, and retailers accountable for their role in creating and fueling the opioid epidemic.

New Jersey and its subdivisions will receive more than one billion dollars over the next two decades (beginning in 2022) from national opioid settlements. The state will receive approximately half of these monies, and the remainder will be provided directly to participating local and municipal government agencies after payment of litigation expenses.

The funding will serve goals such as treating opioid use disorder, addressing the needs of justice-involved individuals, offering harm reduction services, preventing overdose deaths, supporting relevant research and training, and other similar ways of combating the opioid epidemic. The funds will be divided between state and local municipalities, and will supplement existing spending or create new programs that focus on treatment, prevention, and other strategies to combat the opioid epidemic. They will also be spent on strategies to reduce the opioid epidemic's ongoing harms to residents and communities.

These steps are a part of the Administration's ongoing efforts to combat the opioid crisis. Under Governor Murphy's leadership, New Jersey has allocated hundreds of millions of dollars toward addressing the opioid crisis, including creating over 30 evidence-based programs across eight departments, in addition to other initiatives.

Example efforts include:

- Signing harm reduction and syringe decriminalization legislation into law, which has allowed agencies to expand harm reduction services throughout the state.
- Expanding the Medication-Assisted Treatment Initiative (MATI) across the state's Harm Reduction Centers.
- Launching a Naloxone Distribution Program to make this overdose antidote more widely available to first responders and community organizations.
- Awarding contracts and grants to help opioid treatment providers expand access to mobile treatment programs and gain cultural competency training, help community organizations create recovery centers for people with substance use disorders, and help mental health providers treat individuals with co-occurring substance use disorders.
- Launching a pilot program to assist children and families affected by addiction.
- Expanding access to substance use disorder/opioid addiction treatment resources by making them available online and in multiple languages including in American Sign Language.

7. Have you established an Advisory Committee to inform allocation of funds?

On Overdose Awareness Day on August 31, 2022, Governor Murphy issued Executive Order No. 305 to establish an Opioid Recovery and Remediation Advisory Council chaired by Commissioner of the Department of Human Services Sarah Adelman and comprising the Attorney General and the Commissioners of the Departments of Health and Children and Families, along with relevant stakeholders to make recommendations for the Administration's consideration regarding the prioritization and effective use of these funds. In December 2022, Governor Murphy announced the appointment of its ten public members who would provide insight and expert recommendations on how New Jersey should appropriate these abatement funds over the life of the settlement years. In March 2023, Governor Murphy enacted P.L.2023, c.25 to codify the Opioid Recovery and Remediation Advisory Council into state law and establish an Opioid Recovery and Remediation Fund. This non-lapsing fund within the Department of Treasury is where the State's share of settlement funds will be deposited and eventually distributed as determined by the State, with recommendations from the Opioid Recovery and Remediation Advisory Council. The statute names the NJ Department of Human Services as the lead agency for allocation and disbursement of the funding. To learn more about the Advisory Council, please visit www.nj.gov/opioidfunds.

8. Did the State engage the public (e.g., town hall meeting, online survey, convened stakeholders) prior to deciding how to use the opioid abatement funds you received? Yes

9. Please describe your public engagement/input efforts?

The State's Opioid Recovery and Remediation Advisory Council membership reflects New Jersey's diversity and includes people who have lived experience with the opioid epidemic, including those who have experienced a substance use disorder and their families, as well as public health and policy experts.

The State solicited and has accepted public input over the 12 months in a variety of forums. From August 31 through October 31, 2022, the public was solicited to submit feedback, testimonials, and recommendations on spending through an online public portal. Over those two months, the portal received more than 500 submissions.

The Opioid Recovery and Remediation Advisory Council hosted a series of public listening sessions in the Spring and Summer of 2023. The Council held two virtual sessions and three in-person sessions—one the North region, one in the Central region, and one in the Southern region of the state. To view or listen to recordings of the two virtual sessions, please visit www.nj.gov/opioidfunds.

10. Does the State have a strategic plan? Yes – the State is currently in the procurement process for the development of a strategic plan to inform the use of the state share of opioid settlement funds in New Jersey.

11. Can we post the strategic plan online? Once completed, the Strategic Plan will be posted online at www.nj.gov/opioidfunds. Anticipated completion is Spring 2024.
