The Honorable Philip D. Murphy
Governor, State of New Jersey
New Jersey State House
125 W. State St., Trenton, NJ 08608

Dear Governor Murphy:

I am pleased to submit to you the New Jersey State Parole Board 2019 Annual Report.

Since our last report was submitted to you, the State Parole Board has continued to accomplish a great deal within the area of criminal justice. As the agency works to meet its multiple missions—successfully promoting public safety, supervising offenders reentering society, reducing the state’s recidivism rate, and in addressing the needs of crime victims, we continue to create even greater opportunities out of challenges.

Through the utilization of evidence-based practices, approaches, and competent leadership, we continue to improve the lives of not only offenders, but their families, and their communities. These accomplishments would not be possible without the dedication and hard work of the more than 600 State Parole Board employees who perform their duties and responsibilities efficiently, effectively, and successfully.

We remain proud of our low recidivism rate. While the current national recidivism rate averages 67.8%, New Jersey’s number continues to decline, and currently stands as one of the nation’s lowest at 31%. As less individuals are incarcerated our caseload increases and we are embracing that challenge with great success. Our efforts, which include more residential and community-based programs, are resulting in safer communities and productive, law-abiding and tax-paying ex-offenders who contribute to the municipalities which they have returned to.

The State Parole Board provided technical assistance to the New Jersey State Library, an affiliate of Thomas Edison State University. We helped plan and submit a grant proposal, culminating in the library receiving a National Leadership Grant for $628,774 from the Institute of Museum and Library Services to support reentry services in six libraries across the state.

The State Parole Board will continue to collaborate with federal, state, and local law enforcement as well as other relevant agencies, and also work diligently to maximize the use of technology in its implementation of nationally recognized best practices in the field of community supervision. These innovative efforts further promote public safety and seek to improve the quality of community-based programs to provide every available opportunity for successful and sustainable offender reintegration.

Respectfully submitted,

Samuel J. Plumeri, Jr.

MISSION

The New Jersey State Parole Board is committed to promoting public safety and fostering the rehabilitation of offenders by implementing policies that result in effective parole case management.

VISION

To improve the safety of the public and the quality of life in New Jersey by administering an innovative parole system that addresses the needs of the community, victims, and offenders through a responsible decision-making process that provides every available opportunity for successful offender reintegration.

DIVISION OF RELEASE

The New Jersey Parole Act of 1979 (N.J.S.A. 30:4-123.45, et seq.) places with the State Parole Board the authority and responsibility of deciding which state and county inmates shall be granted release on parole and the special conditions of parole that will be imposed.

The Division of Release has offices in each state correctional facility and serves to evaluate and assess incarcerated adult offenders and determine their eligibility and appropriateness for parole release. The Division prepares each case for consideration for the members of the Board by securing professional reports concerning an inmate's criminal history, including his/her current offense; their social, physical, educational, psychological progress to date; and their objective social and psychological risk and needs assessment.

State Parole Board Chairman Samuel J. Plumeri, Jr.

An assigned hearing officer conducts the initial parole consideration hearing and a Board Panel renders the final decision.

Juvenile Unit

The Juvenile Unit operates within the Division of Release. This unit is assigned a two - member panel which functions as the board's Juvenile Panel. The Juvenile Panel performs quarterly reviews for juveniles incarcerated in secure and residential facilities managed by the New Jersey Juvenile Justice Commission.

For each juvenile entering a secure or residential facility, the Juvenile Panel conducts an initial review, establishes time goals, monitors and assesses the juvenile's overall progress, and community suitability during routine follow-up review sessions. Based on these reviews, the Juvenile Panel may render one of the following decisions:

1. Continue confinement
2. Defer release for review at a future date
3. Refer the juvenile to the Adult Panel
4. Juvenile to serve maximum sentence
5. Juvenile release to parole supervision
6. Grant Post Incarceration supervision

The Juvenile Unit is also responsible for processing all revocation and rescission hearings for juvenile offenders.

Victim Input Unit

The Victim Input Unit is committed to the privacy, safety and well-being of all crime victims and encourages their participation in the parole release process.

Effective July 11, 1984, when an adult is convicted of a first or second degree crime, the county prosecutor must notify the victim of that crime - or the nearest relative of a murder victim - of their right to provide information to the New Jersey State Parole Board before the offender's parole consideration. This written notification includes the completion of a form, which the victim can use to register their interest to the New Jersey State Parole Board. Regardless of the degree of the crime, all victims have the right to participate in the parole process through Victim Input.

When a victim registers with the New Jersey State Parole Board's Victim Input Unit, parole board staff will confirm the registration and monitor the offender's parole eligibility. Prior to the time of eligibility, the victim will be contacted and invited to either submit a written statement, videotaped statement, or appear in person to provide a statement to the two-member Board Panel.

Most victim input hearings take place at the State Parole Board's Central Office located in Trenton, but in special situations - such as if the victim is physically disabled - the hearing may be conducted elsewhere, or via video teleconference.

LEGAL SUPPORT UNIT

The Legal Support Unit ensures that all New Jersey State Parole Board actions are in compliance with the law and that board members and agency staff function in accordance with statutory provisions and administrative regulations.

The Legal Support Unit also assists the New Jersey State Parole Board in the establishment and implementation of policies; the development and promulgation of amendments to the agency's administrative code; pursuing of clarification of sentencing matters that have an impact on the parole board's functions; the review and processing of complex cases; the review of the imposition of special conditions in the cases of certain offenders, and the presentation of said cases to board members for review; and providing assistance to counsel assigned by the Division of Law to represent the New Jersey State Parole Board in any legal matter involving the agency.

An offender may be eligible to obtain a Certificate of Good Conduct and/or a Certificate Suspending Certain Employment, Occupational Disabilities or Forfeitures to assist in obtaining public employment or employment involving licensure. The Legal Support Unit processes such applications for presentation and consideration by the full parole board. In addition, this unit investigates and processes applications for medical parole for consideration by a New Jersey State Parole Board Adult Panel.

Revocation

The Revocation Unit is responsible for conducting probable cause and final parole revocation hearings to determine if an offender has violated the terms and conditions of his or her parole.

The Revocation Unit hearing officers make formal recommendations to members of the Parole Board concerning violations. These recommendations include whether or not an offender should have their parole status revoked and be returned to prison, or if the terms and conditions of their parole should be modified in some fashion.

Associate Parole Board Member Charlie Jones reviews an inmate's file presented for appeal.

Appeals

An inmate or offender may appeal any action of a New Jersey State Parole board member, hearing officer, or division of the agency. The Appeals Unit processes administrative appeals and ensures that the appeal submitted by an inmate or offender is presented to and reviewed by a New Jersey State Parole Board panel or the board itself.

DIVISION OF PAROLE

The Division of Parole is one of the largest law enforcement agencies in the State of New Jersey. The community supervision of offenders is the responsibility of approximately 400 sworn officers and commanders. These highly trained professionals not only monitor the whereabouts of offenders and hold them accountable; they work closely with family members, employers, and treatment providers in order to encourage long-term positive behavioral change, and help ensure public safety while helping reduce recidivism rates.

Parole officers are visible within the community and collaborate with a multitude of law enforcement agencies and participate in a variety of partnerships throughout the state. A number of parole officers serve as members of the FBI Joint Terrorism Task Force and/or the U.S. Marshals Service New York/New Jersey Regional Fugitive Task Force. All parole officers also partner with state and local police agencies as needed.

At the end of FY 2019, there were 15,535 offenders supervised by the Division of Parole.

The offenders supervised included:

- * Offenders released at the discretion of New Jersey State Parole Board Panel;
- * Offenders released to serve a period of mandatory supervision under the No Early Release Act;
- * Sex offenders sentenced to community lifetime supervision under Megan's Law;
- * Court ordered conditional discharge cases released from the Special Treatment Unit; and
- * Tier III sex offenders subject to mandatory Global Positioning System (GPS) monitoring.

The New Jersey State Parole Board utilizes evidence-based supervision strategies in an effort to meet the diverse needs of parolees. After the offender completes the appropriate risk/needs assessments, the parole officer develops a Case Plan Agreement (CPA) with each offender to set short and long-term goals, which are divided into manageable tasks.

Parole officers talk with a parolee in Trenton.

Areas identified in the CPA address education, employment, substance abuse problems, mental health, housing/social assistance, and social adjustment. High-risk offenders receive increased intensive supervision and additional services.

The Division of Parole is managed by a command staff consisting of a director, captains, lieutenants, and sergeants. Newly appointed supervisors participate in training programs designed to enhance their leadership competencies, provide them with the skills necessary to be effective managers, and lead a diverse workforce. These supervisors ensure that the mission of the agency is executed with a high degree of professionalism.

The Division of Parole has sixteen operational units statewide, 10 of which are District Parole Offices (DPO). The remaining operational units include: the Community Programs Supervision Unit (CPSU), the Electronic Monitoring Unit (EMU), the Office of Interstate Services (OIS), the Special Operations Group (SOG), the Sex Offender Management Units (SOMU), and the Administration/Training Unit. The Administrative/Training Unit oversees a formal and coordinated law enforcement training program to maintain skills in all areas of required expertise.

During FY 2019, all parole officers were certified in the New Jersey Attorney General Continuing Education Institute's class on Law Enforcement Response: Sexual Assault Investigations.

The Investigation Management Office (IMO), under the direction of the Administrative/Training Unit, is responsible for processing all new criminal charges filed by the New Jersey State Parole Board's law enforcement staff. The processing includes maintaining and forwarding as discovery the official investigation reports.

In addition to processing all new charges, IMO handles all evidence control functions for any and all criminal related evidence. This includes, but is not limited to, the transporting of evidence to the New Jersey State Police laboratory and conducting forensic searches of computers and other electronic data storage/transmittal devices. Lastly, IMO staff act as the coordinators of all fingerprint livescan machines.

The New Jersey State Parole Board is also an accredited police agency through the New Jersey State Association of Chiefs of Police (NJSACOP) Law Enforcement Accreditation Program (LEAP).

According to the NJSACOP: Accreditation is a progress and time-proven method of assisting law enforcement agencies to calculate and improve their overall performance. Accredited status represents a significant professional achievement. Accreditation acknowledges the implementation of policies and procedures that are conceptually sound and operationally effective.

Parole Officer Recruit Training

At the end of 2011, the New Jersey State Parole Board Executive Staff made the decision to initiate a new comprehensive hiring process for all new parole officer recruits. A major factor in this new process was to have all future recruit classes attend the New Jersey Division of Criminal Justice (DCJ) Training Parole Officer Recruits from Academy Class 19-1 at their graduation ceremony with Chairman Samuel Plumeri, Jr. (center).

Academy's Basic Course for Investigators in Sea Girt. The DCJ Academy is a Police Training Commission certified academy that conducts a wide-range of in-service and pre-service training programs for the state's law enforcement and criminal justice communities, including state and county investigators, deputy attorney generals, assistant prosecutors, municipal and county police, police executives, arson investigators, parole, and corrections personnel.

The six-month basic course for investigators covers general topics such as investigative procedures, apprehension, and the prosecution of criminals. Basic firearms training and physical conditioning training are also conducted during this rigorous training academy course.

During FY 2019, 22 parole recruits graduated from academy classes, and three former police officers were also hired by the agency.

COMMUNITY PROGRAMS DIVISION

The Community Programs Division provides oversight to New Jersey State Parole Board's contracted community partners who, under existing agreements, provide residential and non-residential transitional rehabilitative programs to offenders under supervision.

These programs include:

- * Stages to Enhance Parolee Success (STEPS),
- * Reentry Substance Abuse Program (RESAP),
- * Community Resource Center (CRC),
- * Mutual Agreement Program (MAP)
- * Program for Returning Offenders with Mental Illness Safely and Effectively (PROMISE)
- * Parole Aftercare and Transitional Housing (PATH).

All of these programs are designed to promote public safety, reduce recidivism, and support the sustainable reintegration of parolees into society.

Parolee Volunteer Initiative

Regardless of current economic conditions, seeking reentry into the employment marketplace can be a daunting task for individuals with a criminal background. Recognizing these realities, in 2011, the New Jersey State Parole Board established the Parolee Volunteer Initiative. The initiative is a program where offenders under New Jersey State Parole Board supervision volunteer their time working in a variety of socially constructive jobs within their communities. Upon verification of the successful completion of volunteer activities, a certificate is provided to each offender.

According to many offenders who have completed this program successfully, prospective employers take their volunteer work into account as evidence of pro-social engagement, which has led them to securing gainful employment. Since 2011, approximately 1,025 offenders have successfully volunteered their time.

Fresh Start Library Initiative

of Thomas Edison State University, during the planning and submission of a grant proposal. The proposal culminated into the New Jersey State Library receiving a National Leadership Grant for $628,774 from the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) to support reentry services in six libraries across the state. Fresh Start @ Your Library, the statewide library reentry program, will provide assistance for citizens returning to their local communities upon completion of their prison terms. The two-year program, offered in partnership with the State Parole Board and the New Jersey Department of Labor & Workforce Development (DOL), will launch in early 2020.

The State Library's IMLS proposal, "Reconnecting Returning Citizens with their Communities at Public Libraries," included the original library responsible for the initial reentry program, the Long Branch Free Public Library, as well as the Free Library of Philadelphia, who will join the initiative during year two of the grant. Additional participating libraries include the Paterson Public Library, Newark Public Library, Trenton Public Library, Atlantic City Public Library, and Cumberland County Library.

In partnership with the State Parole Board and DOL, who will continuously collaborate and provide technical support, participating libraries will serve as Reconnection Centers. Onsite social workers will be available in each location to conduct individualized assessments and provide referrals for employment opportunities, library resources and classes, and occupational skills training. Throughout the duration of the program, participating libraries will host community resource fairs featuring social service organizations, nonprofits, government agencies and businesses interested in hiring returning citizens.

Reentry Simulation Program

The New Jersey State Parole Board hosted a reentry simulation event which provided approximately 75 criminal justice professionals and students with the opportunity to virtually walk in the shoes of an offender recently released from incarceration.

The purpose of this exercise was to give local legislators, criminal justice professionals, parole and correctional administrators, county service providers, probation, county and local police officers, and students a more comprehensive understanding of the challenges, difficulties, and pitfalls offenders face as they work to reenter society.

During the simulation, participants assumed the identity of an offender reentering society. They had one hour to experience various scenarios that involved goals and tasks that they needed to achieve, such as obtain a driver's license, visit social services, find housing, and visit their parole officer. At the end of one hour, the participants' performance was evaluated to see if they had met enough goals to successfully complete their supervision requirements.

POLICY and PLANNING UNIT

The Policy and Planning Unit provides research on best practices in parole supervision, recidivism analyses, and manages federal grant initiatives. Additionally, the Policy and Planning Unit provides assistance with the coordination of the agency's robust internship program.

Internship Program

The New Jersey State Parole Board Internship Program (IP) seeks to provide meaningful work-learning experiences to qualified individuals currently attending area colleges and universities as well as graduates entering the job market that will benefit both the individuals and the agency.

The IP provides approved interns with the opportunity to put theory into practice while gaining a comprehensive understanding of the State Parole Board and exploring potential career options.

The IP benefits the agency by providing talented, enthusiastic individuals who bring new knowledge and skills to the agency. The IP committee oversees both the application and placement processes, as well as, attendance at career and internship fairs at the state's colleges and universities.

New Jersey State Parole Board Associate Member and Internship Committee Chairman Julio Marengo welcomes a new class of State Parole Board Interns

At the end of each semester students who complete the IP are recognized at the State Parole Board's monthly meeting.

LOOKING FORWARD

As criminal justice reform evolves in the State of New Jersey, the State Parole Board continues to follow the activity at the Statehouse related to new and upcoming legislation. Governor Murphy, along with members of the legislature, have made criminal justice reform a key objective in 2020. Several bills, some of which have been years in the making, are anticipated to become law and will make a significant impact in the area of social justice.

With the Earn Your Way Out Act legislation, the Department of Corrections (DOC) would develop re-entry plans for offenders that would assist in their transition out of prison. We will continue to work closely with the DOC in creating these plans as we have already been doing so for many years.

Additionally, the legislature is poised to enact a bill into law in 2020 concerning juvenile incarceration and parole. Positive legislation that would allow eligible incarcerated juveniles with a chance to assimilate back into society through an equitable framework could provide young people with an opportunity to create long-lasting, positive changes to their lives.

Both of these areas of criminal justice reform have been widely recognized as profound, positive and important—as evidenced by the dedicated members of the State Legislature and stewardship of Governor Phil Murphy. The State Parole Board welcomes fair and meaningful support that assists the agency in meeting its missions of ensuring public safety, working to help formerly incarcerated individuals, and helping reduce recidivism within the State of New Jersey.
