OUR IMPACT

Queens Community House delivers meals to homebound seniors.

They are very good at listening to your needs, what it is you want, and then crafting something with you.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Queens Community House, founded in 1975, is a multi-service settlement house serving the borough's diverse populations from 39 sites in 15 neighborhoods. We helped QCH assess community needs, review and plan operations, and develop the capacity of executive and program staff.

BEHAVIORAL HEALTH

Bridging Access to Care, founded in 1986, provides HIV/AIDS, mental health and substance abuse-related social services to underserved communities in Brooklyn. We worked closely with its executive director and board on strategy development and execution, including coaching and work plans.

STARTUP SUPPORT

Community Lifestyle, founded in 2016, helps NJ youth and teens gather in a place free from drugs and alcohol, with programs to build life, social and recreational skills. Through a Project Atlas grant funded by the NJ Office of Faith-Based Initiatives, we helped them develop their board, leadership and fundraising capacity.

They really touched me as a human being but they also are helping me learn how to grow an organization beyond myself.

Louis Quinones

Founder/CEO, Community Lifestyle
Support Center program alum & board member

ADVOCACY

Correctional Association of New York, founded in 1844, monitors prisons and reports findings to the New York State legislature and the public. When CANY's longtime head left, we placed an interim executive director to help stabilize finances, engage donors and relocate the office and helped the board find and onboard a new long-term leader.

ARTS EDUCATION

Marquis Studios, founded in 1979, provides arts education in more than 140 New York City public schools. When the founder passed away, we helped keep programs running while finding and placing an interim and then a new long-term executive director.
