i do not believe the zoning change for affordable housing is at all recommended. first of all with the huge massive loss of population that nj is happening currently with massive numbers of people leaving this state and those also planning to move out of the state, it is clear that no one is moving into this state because of the poor planning of lockdowns and mish mosh state planning which allows 1 block to be devastated for so called "affordable housing. there is plenty of land in newark nj and paterson nj and such cities for affordable housing. there is no need for it in this area which is being picked on. this is socialist agency which has been changed by the federal govt so that it is no longer required at all. that is a policy change. people are moving from this area. it shows no need for increased housing in any such area. this entire fake developers profiteering is what is really going on. you are in the capture of profiteering developers coming in to kill suburbia. that movement needs to be ended. this comment is for the public record. this state and its planning shows a complete lack of concern for the people living here right now and what they expect. they do not expect this state to come in and change all their living habits. we are being told what to do 24/7 and it is overwhelmingly bad for all of america to have such minute by minute state administration of people. 1984? jean public jean public1@gmail.com
