

RevolutionNJ

ENGAGE THE PAST. SHAPE THE FUTURE.

“A Bundle of Silences: Reimagining Interpretive Approaches to the Past”
Image Credits

---

Interpretive Theme: New Jersey as a “Battleground”

Webinar Title: Political Participation and the Battlegrounds of the American Revolution

Scholar: Dr. James Gigantino, University of Arkansas, Department of History

Image Credits:

Image of Bernard Bailyn: https://www.historians.org/publications-and-directories/perspectives-on-history/november-2020/bernard-bailyn-\(1922%E2%80%932020\))

Image of Ideological Origins of the American Revolution:
<https://www.hup.harvard.edu/catalog.php?isbn=9780674975651>

All other images courtesy of the Library of Congress, Division of Prints and Photos

Image of “The “minute-men” of the revolution”: <https://www.loc.gov/item/2002710565/>

Image of ““Raising the liberty pole,” 1776 / painted by F.A. Chapman ; engraved by John C. McRae, N.Y.”:
<https://www.loc.gov/item/2004679199/>

Image of “The Stamp Act denounced”: <https://www.loc.gov/item/2006679820/>

Image of “[A Tory and a patriot wrestle for a pine tree banner while an Native watches] / Patas sculp.”:
<https://www.loc.gov/item/2004673328/>

Image of First Rhode Island Regiment “Soldiers in Uniform.”: <https://www.loc.gov/item/2021669876/>