Experience History Firsthand
Welcome to the Delaware River Scenic Byway.

Visit the Duportail House Museum, at Lambertville, to learn about the history of early American homes and gardens. Follow the path to the historic Duportail House, where you can learn about the lives of early American settlers and their homes. Nearby, the John Holcombe House provides a glimpse into the lives of the early American farmers who once lived in this area.

Places to Visit
Washington Crossing State Park, Trenton
This park is located at the site of General Washington’s historic 1776 crossing of the Delaware River. The park features a visitor center, a nature center, a museum, and a nature center along with a museum and a nature center. Washington Crossing State Park is a popular destination for history enthusiasts and outdoor enthusiasts alike.

Delaware River Scenic Byway
To the Prallsville Mills, Stockton
To process grains, lumber and oils. Visit Bull’s Island Recreational Area open in the spring. Three miles north is the historic Prallsville Mills at Lambertville. Walk among Lambertville’s historic buildings of shops and galleries, antique stores, and local food, shopping, and entertainment.

Sights and Sounds
Take in Local Culture
Visit the Old Barracks Museum, Trenton, which chronicles the French and Indian War. Take in the Annual Shad Festival, held in May, which features local food, music, and entertainment. Attend the Trenton High School and Trenton High School football games, which are held at the school’s home field during the fall.

Enjoy Outdoor Recreation
Go tubing down the Delaware River Water Trail from Frenchtown and Wickecheoke Creek to South Riverwalk Park, Trenton. Canoe or kayak down the Delaware River, or sail on Lakehurst in the fall.

For more information:
www.delawareriverscenicbyway.org
www.byways.org

Acknowledgements
The Delaware River Scenic Byway was designated as a National Scenic Byway by the Federal Highway Administration on October 16, 2009. The Byway has been supported by the New Jersey Department of Transportation and the Federal Highway Administration, with funding for printing from the National Park Service Wild & Scenic Rivers Program.

The Johnson Ferry House, Trenton
The Byway featured the restored Duke Hotel and a carousal walking tour and horseback ride. The Byway features a scenic byway tour that includes a visit to the Duke Hotel, which is a restored Queen Anne-style house that served as a hotel during the 19th and 20th centuries. The Byway also features a scenic byway tour that includes a visit to the Duke Hotel, which is a restored Queen Anne-style house that served as a hotel during the 19th and 20th centuries.

Visit the Duke Hotel and enjoy a carriage ride through the scenic byway. The hotel features a restaurant and a gift shop, as well as a museum and a nature center. The hotel is a popular destination for history enthusiasts and outdoor enthusiasts alike.

Discover the historic Howell Living History Farm, which is a living history museum that features the daily life of the 19th century farm. Enjoy a carriage ride through the scenic byway and learn about the history of the farm. The Byway also features a scenic byway tour that includes a visit to the Duke Hotel, which is a restored Queen Anne-style house that served as a hotel during the 19th and 20th centuries.

The Delaware River Scenic Byway was designated as a National Scenic Byway by the Federal Highway Administration on October 16, 2009. The Byway has been supported by the New Jersey Department of Transportation and the Federal Highway Administration, with funding for printing from the National Park Service Wild & Scenic Rivers Program.

The Johnson Ferry House, Trenton
The Byway featured the restored Duke Hotel and a carousal walking tour and horseback ride. The Byway features a scenic byway tour that includes a visit to the Duke Hotel, which is a restored Queen Anne-style house that served as a hotel during the 19th and 20th centuries. The Byway also features a scenic byway tour that includes a visit to the Duke Hotel, which is a restored Queen Anne-style house that served as a hotel during the 19th and 20th centuries.

Visit the Duke Hotel and enjoy a carriage ride through the scenic byway. The hotel features a restaurant and a gift shop, as well as a museum and a nature center. The hotel is a popular destination for history enthusiasts and outdoor enthusiasts alike.

Discover the historic Howell Living History Farm, which is a living history museum that features the daily life of the 19th century farm. Enjoy a carriage ride through the scenic byway and learn about the history of the farm. The Byway also features a scenic byway tour that includes a visit to the Duke Hotel, which is a restored Queen Anne-style house that served as a hotel during the 19th and 20th centuries.